SHIP HITS MINE AND SINKS OFF SPAIN; 21 LOST

Blast Ignites 3,000 Tons of Gasoline.

PORT VENDRES, France, March 4.—(AP)—Twenty-one members of the crew of the Greek tanker Loukia tonight were believed drowned or burned to death as their vessel struck a mine and sank off Capo de Creus, easternmost point of the Spanish mainland.

Spanish fishermen picked up three badly burned sailors, the only known survivors of the twenty-four man crew, who swam ashore and collapsed on the beach. The sailors said the vessel hit the mine when in an early morning gale and sank within a few minutes.

Captain Among Missing.

Two charred corpses later were washed ashore. The Loukia was carrying 3,000 tons of gasoline which was ignited when she hit the mine. The steamer, which was loaded at Constanza, Rumanian seaport on the Black sea, was en route to Barcelona.

Among those missing were the Loukia's captain who earlier had stopped off in Port Vendres solely to ask the French authorities for information on the positions of mines off the Catalan coast.

[The Loukia apparently hit the mine in the same district where a French steamer and a British liner ran into mines within the last week. The British Llandovery Castle was seriously damaged and the French Marie Therese le Borgne suffered damage to her hull.]

Duce Sends Franco Best Wishes.

ROME, March 4.—(AP)—Informed Fascists disclosed today that Premier Mussolini had sent Roberto Farinacci, former secretary of the Fascist party, to present to the Spanish insurgent leader, Gen. Francisco Franco, the Fascist grand council's "expression of solidarity with Nationalist [insurgent] Spain."

These sources, said Farinacci, was accompanied by an attaché of the foreign office and was also carrying to Franco the grand council's hopes for an insurgent victory to "end every bolshevist effort in western Europe."

Farinacci will act for a few days as political liaison man between Rome and Franco and then return to Italy.

Abandon Date to Start Patrol.

LONDON, March 4.—(AP)—The international neutrality committee today abandoned the Saturday midnight deadline for placing a cordon of ships and land observers about Spain.

The start of the scheme to enforce a ban on foreign arms and men was delayed because of the time required to recruit neutrality agents and work out other details. An attempt will be made to set the date for the patrol for March 20.

MADRID CITIZENS KILLED

MADRID, March 4.—(AP)—Fascist insurgent shells screamed into Madrid's residential districts tonight, causing casualties among civilians. Two big missils landed in a plaza six blocks from the American embassy building.

Fighting in El Pardo and university city [northwest Madrid] areas materially improved government positions, official reports declared. Insurgents suffered their severest blow in the university city suburb where one of their major redoubts—clinic hospital—was damaged by the explosion of a mine.

Dawn revealed an opening in the center portion of the building where the collapse took in part of the ground level and the basement in which the insurgents were fortified. The upper part of the structure long since was rendered untenable by government artillery fire, which left only the framework of the massive building.

DINNER OPENS PERSONAL DRIVE TO PACK BENCH

President Disclaims Third Term Aim.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Addressing the Democratic victory dinners throughout the country, President Roosevelt tonight made an impassioned plea to his divided party and to the country to support his proposal to pack the Supreme court with a majority that will uphold New Deal laws.

He assailed the decisions declaring unconstitutional the NRA, the AAA, the Guffey coal control, the railroad retirement act and the New York minimum wage law and federal court injunction against the TVA and the national labor relations act. He admonished farmers and working men to reflect that the federal government can not do for them what it has sought to do unless the obstacles the New Deal has encountered in the Supreme court be removed.

Saves Method for Later.

How he would remove them he did not say in this speech. He is saving that for his "fireside chat" with the radio audience next Tuesday night when he will unleash all his rhetorical artillery in defense of his project to add six new justices to the Supreme court if the six justices now over 70 years of age fail to retire.

What he did say tonight was that a crisis exists demanding immediate social and economic legislation to improve the lot of the common man and that there is no time to lose, lest a great calamity, such as a revolution or the advent of a dictatorship, be visited upon the country in the two or three years that might be necessary to remove the obstruction of the New Deal in the manner prescribed by existing law.

The inference was that resort to an amendment of the constitution to legalize the New Deal institutions invalidated by the Supreme court would take too long and that the quickest way is to change the rulings of the court by changing its majority.

Not Willing to Wait.

"As chief executive and as the head of the Democratic party," said Mr. Roosevelt, "I am unwilling to take those risks—to the country and to the party—of postponing one moment beyond absolute necessity the time when we can free from legal doubt those policies which offer a progressive solution of our problems.

"Floods and drouths and agricultural surpluses, strikes and industrial confusion and disorder cannot be handled forever on a catch-as-can basis."

Mr. Roosevelt's immediate audience was Victory dinner No. 1 at the Mayflower hotel. More than 1,300 Democratic officeholders paid $100 a plate for this dinner.

Wife Heads Second Dinner.

Victory dinner No. 2, with Mrs. Roosevelt as guest of honor, was given at the Willard hotel. There about 1,400 lesser jobholders paid $10 a plate. The proceeds of all the dinners throughout the country, after payment of expenses, will be devoted

MOTHERS-IN-LAW TO BE HONORED TODAY THROUGHOUT TEXAS

Amarillo, Tex., March 4.—(AP)—Tomorrow is "Mother-in-law" day in Texas, by proclamation of Gov. James V. Allred—and don't smile when you say it, stranger.

In the four years since Editor Gene Howe initiated the event here in penance for a flippant printed reference to his wife's mother as "the standing army," its observance has spread to state-wide proportions.

Gov. Allred, who set aside tomorrow for honoring "those unselfish, kindly, patriotic women," proposes that the movement be made nation-wide.

"Good" mothers-in-law—those who can produce notes from the mates of their sons and daughters saying they have been "good," will reap their reward here tomorrow. Theaters will admit them free. Stores will offer free merchandise. They will be guests at a luncheon.

WIN $200 IN SUIT BUT LOSE $50 FOR ANXIETY OVER IT

Thomas Gaffany, 1007 East Marquette road, and his wife, Florence, were fined $50 yesterday for contempt of court because of their overanxiety to learn the verdict of a jury deliberating their personal injury suit. The fine was imposed by Judge John H. Armstrong of Urbana, sitting in the Circuit court here.

The couple sought $10,000 damages from Mrs. Ellen Ruys, 6047 South California avenue, as the result of an automobile collision a year ago. The case was given to the jury late Wednesday. On their way home the Gaffanys stopped at the home of a juror to ask that he call them on his return home.

The juror, Joseph Thomas, 4201 Cottage Grove avenue, reported the incident to Judge Armstrong yesterday after a verdict awarding $200 to Gaffany and his wife had been reached.

Play Mickey Mouse March; Mickey's in French Horn

Ellinwood, Kas., March 4.—(AP)—The band was rehersing "The Mickey Mouse March." Eva Thomason, French horn player, got only a squeak out of the instrument.

"Hmm," said the director. "Let me try." Another squeak.

Desert Monks on Sit Strike in a Gateless Fort

CAIRO, Egypt, March 4.—(AP)—Egyptian authorities strove tonight for a peaceful settlement of a Coptic monks' sitdown strike despite an appeal from Patriarch Yoannes XIX. to dislodge them from within the massive walls of their desert monastery of Deir-el-Moharrak near Asyut. Curtailment of visiting privileges to nearby Bedouin and Moslem villages and demands for a new abbot inspired the strike by the monks, who have undertaken their own administration of their fortified and gateless monastery overlooking the Libyan desert.

Must Scale High Walls.

The patriarch, head of the Coptic church, appealed to the government to dislodge the rebellious group who defied his authority and retired within the stronghold.

If force is decided upon it would be the police of the province who would have to face the unpleasant task of trying to scale the 15 foot walls of the monastery while possibly dodging vats of boiling water.

The monastery in reality is a 1,400 year old fortress. The only entrance is by the roof, connected with the top of another building by a drawbridge. Inside are wells and cellars stocked with food. The walls are honeycombed with secret chambers, and the monks are armed. Nevertheless, the police were declared to be in readiness for action.

Pocket Money Increased.

The dispute resulting in the strike dates back three years. The monks' pocket money was increased from $1.50 a month to $7.50. They visited nearby villages. The villagers complained. The excursions were stopped and the Christian monks were forbidden to go to the villages. Thereupon the group revolted and closed the monastery to all visitors.

Attacker Hurls Pepper in Eyes of Dolly Sister

Mrs. Bernard W. Vinissky, the former Jennie Dolly of the famous Dolly sisters' dancing team, was the victim of a mysterious attack yesterday afternoon. An unidentified man threw a handful of pepper into her eyes as she opened the rear door of her third floor apartment at 1540 Lake Shore drive. She was temporarily blinded.

At home under the care of physicians, Mrs. Vinissky was described last night as nervously upset by the assault and suffering from eye inflammation. According to her husband, a lawyer with offices at 1 North La Salle street, she will not regain complete sight for ten days or two weeks.

Motive Puzzles Police.

The pepper attack apparently had been planned, but the motive for it puzzled the police and the Vinisskys. Lacking definite clews, Detectives Frank Schulze and Samuel Spinell of the Hudson avenue station worked on the theory that the pepper thrower was a crank, a robber, or a moron.

The man, about 35 years old, appeared at the rear door of the Vinissky apartment shortly before 3 o'clock. Mrs. Vinissky later described him as well dressed, with his hat pulled down, smooth shaven, of fair complexion, and with dark hair and eyes.

He sounded the door buzzer. Mrs. Vinissky had let the butler and the maid go for the day, and was dressing to take her adopted twin daughters, Klari and Manzi, 12 years old, downtown to dancing school. She answered the buzzer, opening the door a few inches.

Says He Has Package.

"Is this the Vinissky apartment?" the man asked. She said it was.

"I have a package for you," he went on. "Will you open the door?"

The stranger stooped over as if to pick up a package. Mrs. Vinissky, entirely unsuspicious, opened the door. As she did so the attacker straightened and with his right hand threw a handful of white pepper into her eyes. She staggered back, screaming in pain and terror. The pepper thrower fled. Mrs. Vinissky fell over a table in the kitchen. She was found on the floor by her daughters, who heard her screams.

Husband Hurries Home.

Mr. Vinissky was notified. He hurried home and called Dr. Nelson M. Percy, who gave Mrs. Vinissky first aid. Dr. Percy said that her sight would not be permanently impaired.

Mrs. Vinissky is a twin of the former Roszika Dolly, wife of Irving Netcher. The Netchers are now at Miami Beach, Fla. The sisters were a celebrated dancing team prior to their retirement ten years ago. Jennie, also known as Jenny and Yancsi, was married to Mr. Vinissky in Chicago in June, 1935. She is now 39 years old. She adopted Klari and Manzi in Budapest five years ago.

LASH NEW YORK MAYOR AS 'LOUT AND SCOUNDREL'

U. S. May Apologize to End Incident.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 4.—The German government, aroused by what it regards as an insult to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, today ordered its ambassador in Washington, Dr. Hans Luther, to protest to the American state department against a speech made last night by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City.

The mayor in the speech proposed that a "Hall of Horrors" be erected for the city's 1939 world fair which would include a figure of "that brown-shirted fanatic who is menacing the peace of the world." He made the speech to a Jewish women's group.

Nazi Press Flays Mayor.

Striking back with furious thrusts today, the German press branded La Guardia a "scoundrel super-Jew" and accused him of making "infamous insults against the Fuehrer, casting doubt on his love of peace."

The newspaper Der Angriff unleashed a denunciation of La Guardia, charging he governs 8,000,000 people in New York with "the terror of the revolvers and clubs of his gangster friends."

Der Angriff's entire front page was devoted to La Guardia, including a picture bearing the caption, "Scoundrel La Guardia," and calling him among other things a "lout" and an "impudent Jew."

[A secretary to the mayor said in New York yesterday that La Guardia is principally of Italian blood, but that his mother was "partly" Jewish].

Calls Speech "Orgy of Rage."

Referring to "the feeling of nausea which he arouses in our stomachs," the newspaper declares it does not intend to "follow him into the gutter, where he gets his expressions." It declared that La Guardia's activity as mayor has consisted largely of "patronizing Jewish boycott committees and attacking Germany," and called his speech "an orgy of rage before Jewish women which crowned all he has done to date."

"His thieves' lodging house intellect cannot grasp, of course, what it means to insult the leader of a nation," continued Der Angriff. It called the mayor "New York's gangster in chief," and a "Jewish ruffian," with a "filthy imagination."

Threaten to "Invade" U. S.

Declaring that "whoever shouts into the forest will hear an echo," Der Angriff added: "We could take an interest in American affairs that would not necessarily be pleasant. La Guardia in Italian means 'guard.' La Guardia's racial comrades had better be on the watch against us."

The Voelkischer Beobachter in an editorial charged that "underworld people like La Guardia do more harm than downright criminals. It is useless to try to enlighten La Guardia and his Moscow backers. We turn to the American people. In a government run according to modern principles La Guardia would not be at liberty—he would be either in an insane asylum or in jail."

Wants "Ears Boxed Morally."

Even the usually soft spoken Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, the Boersenzeitung, and the Tageblatt joined editorially in attack on the New York mayor.

They suggested La Guardia spoke as head of "unscrupulous elements" which are trying internationally to "poison the world atmosphere," that it is such "Jewish inflammatory speeches which are driving the world into a catastrophe," and that "the Jew La Guardia" must "at least have his ears boxed morally, inasmuch as it is impossible to do it physically."

The Berliner Nachtausgabe and other papers vented their wrath on the "lummox La Guardia who pretends to be of Italian ancestry, but is nothing but a Jew, who obeyed the orders of Jewish organizations and smuggled Jewish emigrants into the United States when he was an interpreter at Ellis Island."

Earlier Clashes Recalled.

This is not the first time La Guardia has irritated the Nazis. It was recalled today that last year, when the international conference of mayors met in Berlin, La Guardia, president of the United States division of the mayors' group, refused to attend because he opposed Nazi policies.

He attempted in vain to prevent the United States from sending athletes to the Olympics in Germany.

Hull Expresses Regrets.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Two hours after the German government lodged a protest with the state department against the slur cast at Hitler by Mayor La Guardia, Secretary of State Cordell Hull this afternoon informally expressed regret over the incident.

The secretary did not express his regrets to the German embassy but discussed with newspaper men the speech in which Mayor La Guardia proposed that Hitler be included in a "chamber of horrors."

Hull said he had had no opportunity to verify the facts in the case. He added, however, that when a citizen of the United States, regardless of his personal attitude toward the domestic policies of another country, engages in expressions and utterances reasonably calculated to be offensive to that government, the incident becomes a matter of regret to this country.

May Express Formal Regrets.

The secretary said he had no definite plans with regard to the German protest except to ascertain the facts in the case. It was indicated that if the facts are found to be as represented in the German protest the state department may express its formal regrets.

The protest was carried to the state department by Dr. Hans Thomsen, counselor of the German embassy. It was reported that he complained the remarks of Mayor La Guardia were unbecoming to an American official and particularly the head of a city which solicited Germany's participation in the proposed world's fair.

It was understood the state department sent a request to La Guardia for a copy of his speech. No action will be taken until the speech has been studied and La Guardia is given an opportunity to speak for himself.

Mayor Says Protest "Right."

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—Mayor La Guardia said today that the German government was "absolutely right" in making a formal protest at Washington against his suggestion that a figure of Hitler should be placed in a "chamber of horrors."

"They ought to protest," said the mayor. "I know of no artist or designer who can adequately build, paint, or carve anything that will adequately depict either the personalities of the Nazi government, Hitler himself, or the type of government he is giving."

The mayor also received a telegram of protest from the United German Societies of Greater New York, Inc.

"We believe it to be of no avail," said the telegram, "to enter into a discussion with you on the question as to who is menacing the peace of the world. It is this one of the many points on which we disagree with you.

"Beyond that it seems incredible—similar precedents notwithstanding—that the mayor of an American city, relying in the promotion of its municipal problems so much on the cooperation of the German element within its boundaries, should see fit to slur the chief magistrate of a friendly nation."

TWO HELD TO JURY AS BANDITS.

Raymond Kosteck, 20 years old, 1138 West 68th street, and Albert Wiley, 23, of 6209 South Hermitage avenue, were held to the grand jury in bonds exceeding $100,000 by Judge Harold P. O'Connell yesterday on charges of robbing filling stations.

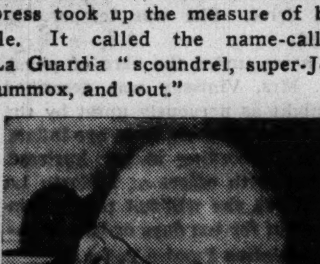
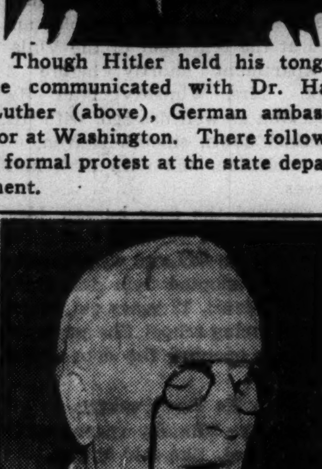
Roared New York's Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, speaking before women of the American Jewish congress on Nazis and Der Fuehrer Hitler: "I'd have a chamber of horrors and . . in it a figure of that brown shirted fanatic who is menacing the peace of the world."

Roaring is right down Hitler's political alley, as demonstrated here, but yesterday his silence was a more eloquent reply. The German press took up the measure of battle. It called the name-calling La Guardia "scoundrel, super-Jew, lummox, and lout."



Though Hitler held his tongue, he communicated with Dr. Hans Luther (above), German ambassador at Washington. There followed a formal protest at the state department.



Secretary of State Cordell Hull informally expressed regret over the incident and hinted that a formal "beg your pardon" may be made later.

LAKE SHORE DRIVE TRACK REMOVAL IS AGREED UPON

13 Year Fight Ends; Work Starts in Two Weeks.

The thirteen year controversy between the Chicago Surface Lines and park commissioners over the removal of street car tracks in Lake Shore drive between Chicago avenue and Ohio street was definitly ended yesterday. Guy A. Richardson, president of the lines, announced that removal of the tracks would be started in two weeks.

After a conference with Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, Mr. Richardson said the surface lines would not appeal a recent order of the Illinois commerce commission requiring removal of the tracks.

Service to Be Curtailed.

Service on the Chicago avenue street car line east of Lake Shore drive to the Navy pier, the present terminal of the line, will be discontinued on March 15 and the tracks will be taken up as rapidly as possible, Mr. Richardson said. The Chicago avenue line will then end just west of Lake Shore drive with cars switching back in the street.

Mr. Dunham said that construction of the new drive approaching the outer link bridge will be started immediately after the removal of the tracks. In its petition to the commerce commission asking ouster of the tracks, the park district contended that if the tracks were allowed to remain, a bottleneck would result which would retard trafic over the new bridge.

Decide Against Appeal.

Mr. Richardson said the surface lines decided not to appeal the commission order because the park board contended that unless the tracks are removed at once the work of completing the outer drive will be delayed.

The extension of the Chicago avenue line along the lake shore to the pier was built in 1921 for a Pageant of Progress. Commissioners of the old Lincoln park board first petitioned the commerce commission to order the tracks out in 1924.

PRESS FREEDOM MADE ISSUE IN OIL TRUST SUIT

Ruling Is Withheld on Defense Pleas.

Madison, Wis., March 4.—[Special.]—Freedom of the press became a major issue in federal court here today as Judge Patrick T. Stone continued to hear defense arguments on motions to dismiss two government indictments charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act in an alleged conspiracy to fix and maintain artificial gasoline prices in the oil industry.

Appearing in behalf of two of the defendant trade journals, Platt's Oilgram and the Petroleum News, and their publisher, Walter C. Platt of Cleveland, Attorney Harry F. Payer declared today that in the "47 years since the Sherman anti-trust act was passed there has not been a single indictment of free journalism."

Assails Indictment.

Payer assailed the indictments as an "effort to condemn normal journalism" as he pounded away at what he called an "eloquent omission of facts" in the allegations. Under the government's theory, he maintained, any newspaper or trade journal that publishes market quotations would become liable if somebody had "rigged" the market.

"The indictment merely alleges that the prices were fixed too high and that the defendant journals should not have published them," Payer continued. "There is no allegation that the published quotations were not veracious."

Court Withholds Ruling.

Defense demurrers to the government indictments were taken under advisement by Judge Stone. Arguments on two defense motions, one for a bill of particulars and the other for a court order releasing witnesses who appeared before the federal grand jury here last year, from their oath of secrecy, were postponed to early in April. Judge Stone said he probably will rule on the demurrers within the next two weeks.

All except ten of the 67 individual defendants listed in the indictments yesterday entered pleas of not guilty subject to Judge Stone's rulings on pending demurrers and motions. The ten absentees had arranged to appear at a later date for arraignment.

BORROWS FROM JUDGE; FORGETS; SHERIF IS NEXT

Milwaukee, Wis., March 4.—[Special.]—Herbert Meyers, 18 years old, when he was arrested in Wisconsin Rapids last August for reckless driving, got away with six months probation, then borrowed $3.25 from the judge. Today he was held by Edward Mitten, sherif of Milwaukee county, for Henry Becker, sherif at Wisconsin Rapids.

Becker, with a capias from Justice George C. Jacobson, arrived at the jail simultaneously with I. B. Padway, counsel for Meyers. It cited the arrest last August and said the case had not been disposed of.

"Not at all," said Padway. "Meyers was put on probation. Jacobson just issued the capias to collect his $3.25."

"We won't pay," said Padway. "This is a civil matter."

"You can't settle for $3.25 now," said Sherif Becker, after doing some figuring. "Travel expenses, myself and deputy, 10 cents a mile, figures $47 more by this time."

Meyers was freed on a habeas corpus writ and the sherif and deputy went home to Wisconsin Rapids.

Church Bingo Party Cards Violate the Postal Law

Milwaukee, Wis., March 4.—[Special.]—The postoffice today held up circulars mailed by three Milwaukee church organizations advertising bingo parties and notified the senders that the material violated the antilottery laws. Postmaster John A. Flessner said persons mailing advertisment of lotteries were subject to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years.

CHICAGO HAILS ITS PAST; LOOKS TO THE FUTURE

Mayor Sounds Keynote of Centennial.

In a program of sights and sounds, dedicated to the past and to the I Will spirit of the present and future, Chicago yesterday began the celebration of its hundredth birthday as a city. This first day of the charter jubilee—commemorating the centennial of the granting of the city's charter by the state legislature on March 4, 1837—sounded the keynote of a seven months' observance which will continue to Oct. 9.

Speakers of the day praised the city's first century with its history of achievement. They foretold, too, the future Chicago and the progress that will come in the second hundred years.

"We look forward to the next century," Mayor Kelly said, "and this generation has the opportunity through its works to make Chicago the greatest city in the world."

Consular Corps in Parade.

The program began in the morning when foreign consuls in Chicago and their attachés, preceded by the Black Horse troop, paraded from the Drake hotel down Michigan avenue and then through the loop to the city hall. There Mayor Kelly received the foreign representatives and the congratulations of their governments.

Shortly before noon Mayor Kelly and his party of city officials went to the Chicago Historical Society building in Lincoln park. There the mayor was greeted by Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission.

At noon, in the auditorium of the society building, the mayor pounded the gavel which Chicago's first mayor, William B. Ogden, had used 100 years ago. That was the signal for the official opening of the jubilee.

Old Cannon Roars Tribute.

A tribute of sound swept through the city. The old brass cannon in the Fort Dearborn replica on the lake front in Burnham park fired a salute. This was echoed 98 times by a battery of the 122d field artillery, Illinois National Guard. The old cannon fired the hundredth and concluding shot.

Boat and automobile horns and sirens sounded, railroad and factory whistles blew, and church bells pealed. Mayor Kelly stepped to a microphone and W-G-N carried his message.

"We live in the wonder city of the age," he said. "Our people come forward at the slightest call to carry our city ahead on the highway of progress. That is the I Will spirit, that intangible something which is largely responsible for our greatness of today."

The mayor greeted Mrs. Frederick West, a niece of Mr. Ogden, the first mayor, and her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Tyler. He placed a wreath on the Golden Book of Cook county, in which are commemorated the county's war dead.

Englewood Progress Cited.

At 2 p. m. the mayor and his party appeared at 63d and Halsted streets where a bronze plaque commemorating the Englewood district's part in the city's progress was installed in the sidewalk at the northeast corner.

An hour later, at State and Madison streets, the mayor put into place the first of 16,862 street signs designed to make Chicago's 1,363 thoroughfares the best marked in the world.

From all parts of the world during the day came messages of congratulation to Mayor Kelly on the city's centennial. Among the senders were President Roosevelt, the lord mayor of London, the mayors of distant Tokio and Shanghai, the Oberbuergemeister of Berlin, and Cardinal Mundelein from Florida.

Last night more than 10,000 persons witnessed a pageant in the Chicago Stadium depicting the city's rise from a trading post to a metropolis. In the first scene Mayor Ogden and Daniel Webster were shown discussing the city and prophesying its greatness. Following was a melting pot scene, during which Miss Lorraine Ingalls, chosen the city's I Will girl, told the story of the peoples who have immigrated here.

Speakers were Mayor Kelly, John McKinlay, chairman of the jubilee committee; Barnet Hodes, city corporation counsel, and Senator J. Hamilton Lewis. The University of Illinois band and Chicago high school bands played and a capella choirs sang. The program concluded with songs by Betty Jaynes, 16 year old opera singer, and entertainment by night club artists.

EMBATTLED WOMAN MAYOR QUITS; MATE TAKES OLD JOB BACK

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Mayor Irene E. Armstrong, the housewife executive who defied the governor of Florida when he attempted to oust her, resigned unexpectedly today and her husband took over the post he formerly held.

Mayor Armstrong.

Armstrong resigned Dec. 10, saying he feared he would be suspended by Dave Sholtz, then governor. The commission named Mrs. Armstrong to succeed him.

On Jan. 1 Scholtz issued an order removing Mrs. Armstrong and other city officials. He cited as his authority a law permitting the governor to remove Daytona Beach officers when expenditures exceeded the budget, Fred P. Cone, who became governor Jan. 5, revoked the ouster.

MYSTERY BLAZE WRECKS CHURCH; $100,000 LOSS

30 Companies Fight Fire on Far South Side.

Fire which started mysteriously and spread rapidly destroyed the interior of Holy Rosary church, 13000 South Park avenue, yesterday afternoon, with a loss estimated at $100,000.

Thirty fire companies, including 22 engines, fought the blaze for nearly two hours, but were able to save little more than the tower and walls of the structure. The building, erected in 1893, was valued at $200,000, according to the pastor, the Rev. Edward Keough.

Firemen erected towers to pour water on the roof of the church, which is about 75 feet high. Many valuable stained glass windows had to be smashed to get water into the interior.

Source of Fire a Mystery.

Fire Commissioner Michael Corrigan said the fire apparently started in the organ loft in the front of the church. John Ziegler, janitor of the building, who first noticed the flames, said they appeared to have started in the boys' sacristy in the rear.

These circumstances, and a report that an anti-communist meeting was held in the church on Wednesday night, caused Commissioner Corrigan to order an investigation on the theory the fire might have been set.

Mass was held in the church at 8 a. m., and thereafter no one entered the building except Ziegler, the janitor, a reliable employé, the pastor said. At 2:30 p. m. Ziegler returned from lunch, saw the flames and smoke. and ran to the rectory to give the alarm.

Sacred Vessels Saved.

Father Keough and his assistants, the Rev. William Shortall and the Rev. Leo De Witt, entered the building and carried out all the sacred vessels and vestments before the smoke and heat became unendurable.

The church grounds occupy the entire block from 113th to 114th street, and at 114th street stands the Holy Rosary school. Attending classes there were 460 boys and girls. The school building was not endangered and the children were not dismissed.

NAZI POLICE NAB 300 MINERS FOR BUYING FRANCS

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

METZ, France, March 4.—More than 300 miners from the Saar who work just over the border in France were arrested in the frontier towns of Lauterbach, Gross-Rosseln, Wadgassen, and Gleislautern today in connection with a new currency decree of the German finance ministry.

The decree stipulates that miners who are paid in francs may change only a third of their pay into marks before crossing the frontier back into Germany. This regulation caused great indignation among the miners, as in France only five francs [23¼ cents] are paid for a mark, which costs 8.70 francs [40½ cents] in the Saar.

Last Saturday the miners openly defied the new decree, marching past the frontier posts in column of fours with their week's pay all in marks bought in France.

Question Parentage

Mrs. Helen Peters and twin sons, Donald and Roland, age 6, in court yesterday when Louis Peters denied he is the father of the boys. The couple have been divorced since 1934.

Louis Peters, former cafe owner, who has been supporting the boys since the divorce decree, which set forth that Peters was the father of the twins. They were born to Mrs. Peters during a previous marriage.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Twin boys, 6 years old, were in the Circuit court yesterday when the man they have known as their father tried — unsuccessfully — to disavow them. He is Louis Peters, 37 years old, 6262 Archer avenue, Argo, a former café owner, who has supported the boys, Donald and Ronald, for four years. They were brought to court by their mother, Mrs. Helen Peters, 24 years old, 3256 Jackson boulevard, who divorced Peters, her second husband, in 1934.

The twins were born while Mrs. Peters was married to her first husband, whom she divorced on Dec. 24, 1931. She married Peters on Jan. 14, 1933. When she divorced him the decree listed him as father of the twins, on his admission that he and Mrs. Peters were sweethearts during her first marriage. Peters was ordered to pay $6 a week for support of the boys, whose custody was awarded the mother.

Yesterday, at a hearing before Judge Philip J. Finnegan on Peters' petition for a review of the divorce and dissolution of the support order, Peters charged that his former wife's first husband was the father. Mrs. Peters denied it. Judge Finnegan refused a request for a blood test and held the Peters divorce decree had settled the matter. Thereupon Peters paid up $36 he owed for support.

SEIZED FOR TAVERN FIGHT QUIZ. Edward Hull, 28 years old, 6459 Eggleston avenue, was seized by the police yesterday for questioning about a tavern fight on Feb. 21 in which Alex Hanson, 30, of 6313 Justine street, was fatally injured.

RAILROAD ASKED TO TELL STAND ON AIRPORT TRACKS

Meet Today on Rejection of Removal Plan.

Officials of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad have been asked to explain their rejection of the city's terms for removing tracks from the Chicago airport before a public meeting to the city council's aviation subcommittee today.

The city has a 640 acre tract available for air purposes between 55th and 63d streets, and Cicero and Central avenues. Tracks of the C. & W. I., lying in the line of 59th street on a six foot embankment, exactly bisect the area, leaving only half a square mile south of the tracks usable by the present Chicago airport.

Three Years of Effort.

For three years the city has negotiated for removal of these tracks, offering to give the railroad an alternative right of way and to pay for transferring the tracks to it. A joint committee, which included F. E. Morrow, vice president and chief engineer of the railroad, recently completed a complex agreement which seemed to meet the approval of all concerned.

On Wednesday the city council received a letter from the C. & W. I. spurning this agreement and insisting that the railroad have six months to consider any further proposals of the city. In consequence, the air subcommittee chairman, Ald. Roger Kiley [37th], called today's meeting, at which Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport association, is to represent the air line operators.

Foresee Big Ships in 1939.

These operators are eager to have the Chicago airport expanded so that it may accommodate the forty passenger, four engine ships which they say will be in general use in 1939.

"It appears," said one member of Kiley's subcommittee, "that the railroad is trying deliberately to wreck the expansion project. There's something very peculiar about the railroad's actions."

The requested six months' delay, officials said, would hold up allotment by the federal Public Works administration of $2,500,000 for improvement of the field.

BEA GOTTLIEB CALM IF RAPED, SAYS WITNESS

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—If blonde Bea Gottlieb, professional golfer, was raped in the women's room of a Rockaway Beach hotel last Sept. 8, according to a fellow guest's testimony in Queens County court today, she took it calmly at the time.

Harold Keays, Manhattan broker, on the witness stand today told a quite different story from that given yesterday by Miss Gottlieb.

Keays testified that he engaged the two room suite in which he, Miss Gottlieb, and two other young women were guests, but that he saw nothing improper between Phelan and Miss Gottlieb.

On the night the alleged rape took place he said Miss Gottlieb and Phelan left a table where they had been sitting with Keays and another woman.

On their return, he declared, "there was nothing unusual" about the appearance of either.

Under cross-examination, Keays said that several days later Phelan told him he had been warned "unless he paid $50,000 he would be arrested."

TOO ILL FOR TRIP, O'BRIEN'S "BRIDE" STAYS IN CLINTON

Two Chicago policewomen went to Clinton, Ia., yesterday to bring back Mrs. Quin O'Brien [as Miss Marguerite Eustice prefers to be known]. They departed in the morning. They were due back at night. But they didn't arrive.

Miss Eustice, it turned out, decided she was too ill to travel. Her presence in Chicago has been desired by the police since Feb. 24, when O'Brien, an assistant city corporation counsel, got a series of warants charging kidnaping. On that day police found that Miss Eustice and her mother, Mrs. Blanche Eustice, had left their Chicago apartment.

G. M. JOINS STEEL IN REBUKES TO LEWIS' AMBITION

Aids' Counting of Premature Chicks Discouraged.

Detroit, Mich., March 4.—[Special.]—The formation of battle lines for a possible showdown with John L. Lewis' marching unionization forces stood out tonight as a serious threat to the "breathing spell" from strife which organized labor had believed recent activities presaged.

Two developments along the nation's growing strike front indicated today the approach of an intensified contest between the Committee for Industrial Organization and other employé representative agencies.

"Big steel" was joined by "big autos" in emphasizing the limitations of the C. I. O.'s recent bargaining agreements, while the employé defense committee of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest producer, conferred with the management on the advisability of forming an independent union to combat the Lewis group.

Sloan Stresses Stand.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors, notified all employés that the corporation had agreed to deal with the United Automobile Workers' union, wheelhorse of the C. I. O., only so far as its own members were concerned.

"General Motors has not recognized and will not recognize any union speaking for all its workers in any plant," Sloan declared. "It will continue to negotiate with any group or with any individual employé desiring to negotiate individually in any or all of its plants."

President Banjamin F. Fairless of Carnegie-Illinois conferred with the concern's Pittsburgh employé defense committee on its plans to oppose extension of the Lewis drive in the steel industry. They considered forming an independent union to oppose the C. I. O. steel union.

A member of the committee said Fairless assured them it was his intention to continue negotiations with employé representatives on collective bargaining. He previously had emphasized that the corporation's recently entered agreement with the C. I. O. referred only to that union's members and that he would continue to deal with other employé representatives.

Chicago Men Map Action.

Delegates of the independent labor organizations newly formed by employés in the Chicago plants of Carnegie-Illinois prepared to follow the Pittsburgh committee in conference with President Fairless next week.

Such activities contradicted the confident prediction of Philip Murray, chairman of the C. I. O. steel worker's organizing committee, that "big steel's" recognition of the Lewis forces meant the end of "company unions."

Meanwhile, there were strikes, across the country from one coast to the other. Thousands more men were thrown out of work during the day by fresh disputes while other controversies were settled, for the time being at least, and men returned to jobs again.

Hope for Final Peace Soon.

General Motors officials said it was possible that final settlement of the corporation's issues with the U. A. W. A. would be effected Monday. Union and company representatives have been in conference for thirteen days, the sessions adjourning until Monday to permit them to care for other affairs.

It was announced that William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors, and Homer Martin, president of the auto union, would return Monday to the conferences which they left soon after discussions started Feb. 16.

All union demands left unsettled by the recent huge auto strike have been agreed upon except that of a national minimum hourly wage. Union men said General Motors today offered a $5 daily wage for men and $4 for women, but a corporation spokesman said these figures were used only as illustrations.

Bethlehem Plant Closes.

The Bethlehem Steel company's plant at Lebanon, Pa., employing 2,500 men, was closed down today because of a misunderstanding over the company's recent wage increase. It will remain idle until the matter is settled.

C. I. O. representatives claimed employés in the mechanical department went on strike. The management denied it. Production men demanded the same increase of 10 per cent recently given laborers.

Eight thousand rubber workers were thrown out of their jobs by closing of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company's No. 1 plant at Akron, O. The company's Akron No. 2 plant was closed yesterday because the management said "some employés tried to force other employés to join their organization."

Shoe Company to Quit.

The intention of liquidating the Phyllis Shoe company at Lowell, Mass., was announced by the management today after 165 employés rejected a compromise offer of a 10 per cent wage increase. Officials said they preferred liquidation to "all the hazards a strike involves."

Demanding that a 10 per cent wage increase granted yesterday be increased to 25 per cent, 200 employés of the Sprague Specialties company at North Adams, Mass., went on a sitdown strike. The electrical equipment making firm employed 1,000 workers.

A blockade of striking Rhode Island truck drivers was broken up by police today at the Massachusetts line in Pawtucket, R. I. The governor threatened to send state police to the scene. The strike was settled late tonight.

Nonstrikers Get Police Aid.

Seventy-five nonstriking employés of the Pennsylvania Sugar company refinery at Philadelphia were escorted by police through a crowd of pickets after they had been greeted by a shower of bricks and stones.

All but two of Seattle's major sawmills were closed by a strike of more than 1,200 lumber workers which followed failure of negotiations over new contracts and wage increase demands.

Among men returning to work as the result of agreements were 15,000 auto body workers in two Detroit plants, 1,200 rubber workers at La Crosse, Wis., 700 power employés in Minneapolis, and foundry men in Sarnia, Ont.

EMPLOYES IN STEEL AND WIRE COMPANY PLANTS SPURN OFFER

T. C. Anderson, chairman of the employé representation plan of the American Steel and Wire company, subsidiary of the United States Steel company, announced yesterday at Waukegan that employés of the Waukegan, Joliet, De Kalb, and Anderson, Ind., plants have rejected a new working agreement.

The proposal of the company, effective March 16, called for a 10 cent an hour wage increase and a 40 hour week instead of 48 hours. Anderson declared the agreement would amount to a 7 per cent decrease in the weekly pay envelope. He said a meeting with the company management will be arranged next week at Cleveland.

C. I. O.'S FANSTEEL CHIEF GIVES UP ON 2 CHARGES

Meyer Adelman, north shore district organizer for the Committee for Industrial Organization, surrendered at the Lake county jail in Waukegan yesterday on a warant charging conspiracy to block a court evacuation order in the recent sitdown strike at the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation in North Chicago. He was freed in $3,000 bail by Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt. Later, in the Circuit court of Judge Ralph J. Dady, Adelman provided another $3,000 bond on a contempt of court charge.

Leo Krzycki, another organizer, vice president of the National Clothing Workers union, also was freed in $3,000 bond. Forty-six sitdowners appeared before Judge Dady on the contempt writ and were released on their own recognizance. This completed the surrender of the 80 sitters.

GREEN DECLARES WAR ON LEWIS C. I. O. UNIONS

Warns Federation Won't Tolerate Rivals.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—The rift between the American Federation of labor and the Committee on Industrial Organization, headed by John L. Lewis, widened measurably today when it was revealed that warnings had been sent to its affiliates throughout the country by the federation that it would not "tolerate" the extension of support to any rival organization.

While William Green, president of the A. F. of L., stated that the letter merely sought the preservation of the "status quo" in the labor movement, he also revealed through publication a letter he had written to Robert J. Watt, secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, stating he was carrying the fight into specific industries. The letter to Mr. Watt had to do with union organization in the boot and shoe industry, where the C. I. O. already is making progress.

Back Boot and Shoe Union.

"I am officially calling on you," the letter said, "and all representatives of the American Federation of Labor to fight against and to resist any attempt on the part of any organization to encroach upon the jurisdiction of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union. American Federation of Labor organizers will be assigned to lead in the fight to preserve the integrity and jurisdiction of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union.

"I personally and officially urge all members of the American Federation of Labor to extend a full measure of coöperation and assistance in this fight, which I am asking you to make in order to protect and preserve the jurisdictional rights accorded an international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor."

Predict Battle on C. I. O.

It was further disclosed that state federation executives had taken Mr. Green's instructions to mean that the federation would make aggressive warfare against the C. I. O. rather than that he merely sought the preservation of the "status quo" in the labor union field through the sending out from local offices to all union officials in Maryland and the District of Columbia instructions stating that ten unions named in the orders were not eligible in the American Federation of Labor.

Then followed the names of the ten unions which were suspended at the Tampa convention last November.

Mr. Lewis, who returned to Washington today, had no comment to make on Mr. Green's statements and activities.

"I think I can definitly state," said Mr. Green, "that the 40 hour week which just has been granted is directly traceable to the enactment of the Walsh-Healey act. The steel companies were in a difficult position because they could not meet the requirements under the 48 hour week."

Mr. Green then stated that the steel companies had feared that charges of collusion would be brought against them and that public opinion was being aroused because of the nasty situation.

TELEGRAPH BOY STRIKE ENDS, AT LEAST FOR NOW

Everybody Hollers; None Wants to Talk.

Although slightly puzzled as to how to go about it, Chicago's telegraph messenger boys decided to have a sitdown strike yesterday. The chief difficulty seemed to be there wasn't a place to sit.

"Let's call it a run around strike," proposed one. "We'll run around and get the other guys to join us."

They ran so fast and far that by late afternoon 250 of Western Union's 700 boys, and 150 of the 510 in Postal's ranks signed up. Last night the strike was called off to let company officials consider the messengers' demands. But while willing to go back to work, at least temporarily, the boys indicated they had had so much fun they wouldn't mind trying another strike sometime.

Cheered at Board of Trade.

Yesterday's strike began on the floor of the Board of Trade when about two dozen Western Union and Postal Telegraph employés marched off in a group. Since trading was light, brokers cheered the strikers and had their own employés carry messages between the pits and telegraph offices.

Shanghaiing boys in loop offices was the next move.

"What do we want?" the strikers asked themselves. "How about 40 cents an hour?" suggested one. Fine! They pinned signs bearing the legend 40c to their caps. The movement spread to branches on the north and south sides, where clerks and even managers were forced to deliver telegrams.

To find out what it was all about, Manager J. N. Armstrong of the Western Union rounded up a goodly number of his strikers in Morse auditorium at company headquarters, 427 South La Salle street.

"You fellows appoint a committee of ten," said Armstrong, "and we'll talk it over tomorrow."

The Postal messengers finally gathered at headquarters at 166 West Van Buren street and presented demands for a 44 hour week at a flat $12.50 a week to Superintendent John Nearing, a former messenger boy. They are now averaging $5-$7 a week. Charley Uribarri and Joe Spoletto, spokesmen, said: "Unless there's a favorable answer on the bulletin board at 10 a. m. Monday we'll go out again."

The Western Union boys' desires are understood to parallel those of the Postal messengers, with one important addition. The W. U. messengers at the Board of Trade want to wear real long pants instead of puttees!

ELGIN STRIKERS TO MEET PLANT OFFICIALS TODAY

Negotiations for settlement of the strike of 700 employés which has kept the Illinois Watch Case company plant in Elgin closed for nine days will begin in the Elgin city hall this afternoon under the direction of L. W. Beman, regional director of the national labor relations board.

A committee of four officials representing the company, headed by Louis A. Eppenstein, agreed last night to meet with a committee of four strikers led by Frank D. Annis, president of local 85 of the International Jewelry Workers' union. The strikers demand higher minimum wages, a 40 hour week, and union recognition.

The conference was arranged by Mayor Myron Lehman, head of an Elgin citizens' committee.

DENTIST PLEADS FOR QUICK TRIAL AS GIRL'S SLAYER

Insists She Died Before He Could Operate.

Richmond, Va., March 4.—[Special.]—Insisting he had only been trying to help "a young girl in trouble," Dr. R. G. Miller, middle aged dentist of Charlottesville, asked tonight for a quick trial of the charge that he murdered Cleo Sprouse, pretty 18 year old high school girl.

The dentist, whose wife is a church choir singer, insisted that he never had been intimate with the girl and that she died from chloroform administered by him as he prepared to attempt an abortion.

Sherif J. Mason Smith said the dentist signed a full confession of the girl's death. He made a verbal confession while en route to Richmond from Charlottesville late last night and today wrote a statement.

At Her Request, He Says.

Dr. Miller declared the operation was agreed upon at the girl's request. He said she would have become a mother in about five months.

The dentist said he took the student in his car to a side road six miles from Charlottesville where he prepared to perform the abortion in the automobile. The girl died under the anaesthetic, he said, before the operation. He left the body near the University of Virginia cemetery.

It was found there the next morning — Tuesday — by two university engineers.

Dr. Miller, who is the father of a son and daughter, was taken into custody late yesterday while a patient waited in his dental chair. He had been traced through the chloroform can.

Calm at Confession.

He appeared calm upon his arrival here and puffed placidly on a cigar as he wrote his confession in a private room surrounded by police officers. He was held incommunicado in the Henrico jail here today at the request of Albemarle county authorities.

Commonwealth's Attorney John Fife said he would ask Judge Lemuel Smith at Charlottesville to call a special session of the grand jury to consider the case so it could be brought to trial as quickly as possible.

NIGHT SHIFT TOILS AS USUAL WHILE 65 STRIKERS SIT

Sixty-five employés of the Educator Biscuit company and the Burry Biscuit corporation at 6555 West 65th street sat in a strike last night while the night crew of twenty worked unimpeded. The day shift, half women, struck at 8 a. m., demanding an increase in the 45 cents an hour wage scale and a 40 instead of a 44 hour week. Gus A. Frazier, plant manager, who was at the home office in Trenton, N. J., returned by plane.

While police squads waited outside to eject them if necessary 125 employés of the Acme Federal Products corporation, 1845 West 74th street, ended last evening a six and one-half hour sitdown strike. They accepted an offer of negotiation made by company officials. The concern manufactures kitchen cabinets.

Twenty-five policemen under Supervising Captain James L. Maloney were summoned when the strikers stopped work, demanding a wage increase of 10 cents an hour.

WIDOW TO FACE MAN SHE SAYS KNOWS SLAYER

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Victoria Redwood and the man she says told her he knew who ordered her husband, Norman Redwood, murdered will meet each other face to face this week for a showdown on discrepancies in their stories. Redwood was shot and killed nearly two weeks ago in the driveway of his home at Teaneck, N. J.

The caller, now identified as a minor labor leader, denied that he had told Mrs. Redwood who had decreed the assassination. Labor troubles are believed to have been the motive.

It was learned today that Prosecutor John J. Breslin of Bergen county, N. J., expected to examine bank records to check on a statement made by Thomas Gill, executive board member of local 45 of the International Union of Hod Carriers, that Redwood paid $40,000 of union funds for a charter for local 102 of the Hod Carriers, Builders, and Laborers, of which he [Redwood] was business manager.

The so-called mystery woman in the case who was expected to throw light on the last hours of the slain labor leader, was identified as Evelyn Larsen, operator of a beauty shop in Union City, N. J., who says she saw Redwood in that city the day he was slain.

San Pedro, Cal., March 4.—[Special.]—The heavy cruiser Indianapolis today was heading toward United States navy repair yards in the Puget sound area. Claims Husband Acts Like Kaiser; He Pledges Reform

Mrs. Julia Trits, 41 years old, 5348 South Washtenaw avenue, a school janitress, testified yesterday in Superior court that her husband, Emil, acted like Kaiser Wilhelm, boasted he came from a better country, and often struck her. When Trits promised not to molest his wife, Judge John C. Lewe denied her request for an injunction, pending hearing of her suit for separate maintenance.

WOMAN CONGRESS OFFERS NOTABLE SESSION ON ARTS

Famed Speakers Coming for Forum Next Week.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

From the Atlantic coast and the Pacific speakers of world note will come to Chicago next week to address the arts session of the fourth annual Woman Congress under the sponsorship of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. This session is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Thursday, March 11, in the Palmer house.

May Robson, motion picture actress, is making a special trip from Hollywood to bring a message to the forum. And so is Ernest Westmore, the young Englishman who directs makeup for the Twentieth Century-Fox studios in Hollywood.

Carl Milles, famed Swedish sculptor; Theresa Helburn, executive director of New York's Theater Guild; Marcia Davenport, novelist and music commentator; Lilly Dache, famous American designer, and George Rector, epicure, will be other speakers at this session.

Other sessions of the forum scheduled to start at noon next Wednesday will consider the rôle of science in modern life, problems of social welfare and education, and national affairs. The congress will reach its climax next Thursday with a dinner. International affairs will be the theme.

Famed Actress on Program.

There is no more distinguished representative of Hollywood than "Muzzy May" Robson of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Her place in the theater and in the hearts of her friends was recently attested when most of Hollywood turned out to recognize her fifty years in theatricals.

Except for Perc, his twin brother, Ernest Westmore is the most experienced of Hollywood's dynasty of make-up men founded by the late George Westmore, his father. Ernest Westmore arranged the makeup for Sonja Henie in "One in a Million" and Jean Hersholt's old doctor characterization for "The Country Doctor."

Carl Milles is best known to Chicagoans for his "Fountain of Diana" in the Michigan Court building and his "Fountain of the Tritons" in McKinlock court at the Art institute.

As well as being a founder and executive director of the Theater Guild in New York, Theresa Helburn is director of the Bureau of New Plays, an organization backed by the seven major picture companies for assisting young players in and recently out of college.

Known for Music Talks.

Marcia Davenport of New York City is well known to her radio audience through her comments on the Metropolitan opera. Her novel "Of Lena Geyer" has been a best seller. She is the daughter of Alma Gluck, the singer, and the stepdaughter of Zimbalist, the violinist.

Mme. Dache, one of the most noted millinery designers, has just returned from Paris after looking over the French collections for Easter.

George Rector, whose father had his start as a restaurateur in Chicago, will discuss appreciation of food as an art.

Approximately 5,000 leading women from all parts of the country will hear these and other notable speakers. Among them are Senator Marconi, Ishbel Macdonald, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, "Dick" Merrill, Glenn Frank, and Mme. Olivia Rossetti Agresti of Rome.

Inquiries concerning the session tickets or the dinner tickets at $2 per plate will be answered in the headquarters, Room 305, Tribune Tower.

STUDEBAKER DARES YOU TO PRODUCE A SIX TO EQUAL IT

BIG 1937 DICTATOR

ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH

AND HOW STUDEBAKER'S LOW 1937 PRICES ARE SELLING IT!

WE know we're going to step on a lot of toes with this sensational challenge. But we feel it's our duty to the public to make it.

We guarantee to convince you conclusively that this big superbly styled 1937 Studebaker Dictator is a better car than any higher priced six.

And more than that—we'll match this Dictator, even on a low cost basis, with any lower priced car because the Dictator's sounder, longer-lived construction plus its sensational Fram oil cleaner and gas-saving automatic overdrive will even up any apparent price difference!

Moreover, the roomy, powerful Dictator is the world's first six with the triple safety of a steel-reinforced-by-steel body, automatic hill holder and feather-touch hydraulic brakes. It's the world's only six with non-slam doors that close lightly, tightly and silently on rattle-proof rotary latches. Its steering halves the effort of parking.

It's styled inside and outside by famous Helen Dryden—and its beautifully air-curved lines glisten in a paint finish twelve coats deep! See it and drive it and you'll understand why we say no six in America, regardless of price, can equal it.

VIEW ROOSEVELT REORGANIZATION PLAN AS DANGER

Fear Political Control of Independent Agencies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Wearying somewhat of the spectacular Supreme court controversy, thoughtful minds in congress have turned to consideration of another of President Roosevelt's proposals—that for a sweeping reorganization of the government—and alarm at some of the President's suggestions is growing apace among liberal and conservative congressmen alike.

In a detailed discussion on the floor of the house today of the President's reorganization committee's recommendations, Representative Carl E. Mapes [R., Mich.], ranking minority member of the interstate and foreign commerce committee, declared that adoption of the recommendations would place great and important establishments of the government, such as the interstate commerce commission, the federal trade commission, the federal communications commission, the securities and exchange commission, and the federal power commission, under political control and divorce them from the independent status which was given them by congress.

Status Regarded Important.

These commissions and the work they do affect the everyday life of almost every American citizen. Their responsibility to congress alone has hitherto been regarded as essential to the giving of rulings unaffected by politics.

Congressman Mapes expressed deep concern over the possibility of a political appointee being given jurisdiction over such duties of these commissions as the regulation of the railroads, regulation of interstate commerce, regulation of wire and radio communications, regulation and control of the stock exchanges, and regulation of water power projects.

Points to Possibilities.

The Brownlow committee report recommends that these commissions be deprived of their independent status and placed in some department of the government under the control of a cabinet member.

"Their work would thereby be subjected to political influence which might prove very powerful when an administration had some political policy or plan it desired to put across," Mapes commented. "Who would want to make a political campaign upon the issue of whether railroad rates should be lowered or raised?"

LAST ELECTION CAMPAIGN COST NEAR 23 MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—The election campaign ending last Nov. 3 cost the political parties and organizations taking part in it something like $23,000,000, the special committee investigating campaign expenditures reported to the senate today.

The report explained that the duplicating methods of bookkeeping employed by state and national committees, whereby the same receipts and disbursements sometimes would be listed more than once made it impossible to report the exact sum spent.

A summary showed for the Republican national committee receipts of $7,761,038.64 against expenditures of $8,892,971.53; for the Democratic national committee receipts of $5,205,868.28, against expenditures of $5,651,118.40 and for the Communist party receipts of $157,295.28 against expenditures of $162,040.45.

Marie Wilson.

Hollywood, Cal., March 4.—[Special.]—Marie Wilson, 18 years old, film comedienne who recently played in "Babes in Toyland," "Public Wedding," and "China Clipper," was today so badly injured she may die, in a triple auto collision. Her accident occurred during employment of an auto in a film scene. Miss Wilson was enroute from the studio when her car was sidewiped.

HE LOSES $2,100 IN SHAKEDOWN PLOT; 2 SEIZED

Three years of torment ended last night for August Jungman, 73 years old, owner of a rooming house at 430 East 48th street. Jungman, described by police as a reputable citizen, was the victim of an extortion plot. It cost him $2,100.

Back in 1934 two men grabbed Jungman while he was chatting with a boy. They accused him of trying to entice the youngster. When he denied it they said they were detectives and forced him to give them $1,000 as a "bond." Nine months later they got another $1,000 from him.

Last Monday two other men, who evidently had been told of Jungman by the first two, demanded $1,500 of him. Jungman gave them $100, told them to return later for the rest, and then notified police. Sergts. John Warren and Jerome Looney were in Jungman's home last night when James B. Ray, 41 years old, 3750 Broadway, and Richard L. Wheeler, 36 years old, of the Croydon hotel, appeared. Arrested, they denied getting the $100.

VINSON CHARGES NAVAL DELAY TO SECY. PERKINS

Chairman Assails Stand on Steel and Copper.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins was charged on the floor of the house today with obstructing the national defense program by her refusal to permit exemptions on copper and steel construction work for the navy under the Walsh-Healy act.

The author of the accusation was Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the committee on naval affairs.

Vinson declared that the Walsh-Healy act, which sets up working standards for manufacturers doing work for the government, specifically provides that the secretary of labor shall make exceptions to the act when it appears that government business is being impaired.

Refuses to Submit Bids.

Manufacturers refused to bid for naval construction work because they contended that the act virtually made profits impossible on such work, he pointed out. An impasse between the navy department and the manufacturers arose and Secretary of the Navy Swanson appealed to Secretary Perkins to declare exemptions on copper and steel so that shipbuilding operations to bring our navy up to treaty strength might be resumed.

"It is pertinent to ask whether the program of national defense for the navy is to be overridden by the administrative ruling of another department head," Vinson said. "Such could not have been the intent of congress.

"The failure of the secretary of labor to grant the statutory exemptions provided for places the responsibility for delaying the shipbuilding program on that office."

Last December, Vinson said, bids were opened for some 25,000,000 pounds of structural steel for submarines and destroyers, but the bids were conditioned on a contract free from the stipulations of the Walsh-Healy act. The problem was laid before Miss Perkins and exceptions in these contracts were requested.

Naval Protests Fail.

For two months, however, this impasse has not been overcome, Vinson declared, despite the protests of the navy department.

"Jeopardy to the national defense is but one of the grave consequences," Vinson asserted. "Reports from the various navy yards indicate that the failure to provide steel has brought or will bring these yards to a point where as many as 5,000 men must be discharged or furloughed."

"Sandy" of Bond's!

"I can't hold it any longer, me lads"

I'm fair bursting wi' a rare bit o' gossip! For two weeks, I've been snoopin' around the Bond factory, in Rochester—gettin' an eyeful o' the new things for Spring. And have my old optics bulged wi' amazement! You see, I'd been readin' in the papers that woolens were doin' some fancy high-flying. So in my canny way, I figured Bond prices would be upped, this Spring. But no such thing! In spite o' changing conditions, I can tell ye that there'll be no changes at Bond's. There'll be no increase in Bond prices. There'll be no decrease in Bond quality. There'll be no let-down in Bond service. And this, me lads, should be a bonnie bit o' news for all of ye! ★ Speakin' o' service—remember to 'charge it' the popular Bond way when ye buy your Spring clothes. Ye can pay a wee bit at a time—weekly or twice a month. And ye pay not a penny extra for this convenience. ★ I've always held that the Bond folks had a braw bit o' Scotch about them. 'Tis as plain as can be, once you've seen the grand Spring suits they're bringing ye, at these thrifty tariffs.

VICTORY DINNER SPEECH BY ROOSEVELT LASHES SUPREME COURT FOR REACTION

ASSUMPTION OF POWER TO VETO DRAWS HIS FIRE

All Progress Insecure, Is President's Claim.

"On this 4th of March, 1937, in millions of homes, the thoughts of American families are reverting to the March 4 of another year. That day in 1933 represented the death of one era and the birth of another.

"At that time we faced and met a grave national crisis. Now we face another crisis—of a different kind but fundamentally even more grave than that of four years ago.

"Tonight I want to begin with you a discussion of that crisis. I shall continue that discussion on Tuesday night in a nation-wide broadcast and thereafter, from time to time, as may be necessary. For I propose to follow my custom of speaking frankly to the nation concerning our common problems.

Representative of All.

"I speak at this victory dinner not only as the head of the Democratic party but as the representative of all Americans who have faith in political and economic and social democracy.

"Our victory was not sectional. It did not come from compromises and bargains. It was the voice of twenty-seven million voters—from every part of the land.

"The Democratic party, once a minority party, is today the majority party by the greatest majority any party ever had.

"It will remain the majority party so long as it continues to justify the faith of millions who had almost lost faith—so long as it continues to make modern democracy succeed—so long and no longer.

"We are celebrating the 1936 victory. That was not a final victory. It was a victory whereby our party won further opportunity to lead in the solution of the pressing problems that perplex our generation.

Depends on Course.

"Whether we shall celebrate in 1938, 1940, and in 1944, as we celebrate tonight, will deservedly depend upon whether the party continues on its course and solves those problems.

"And if I have aught to say about it, it will continue on its course and it will solve those problems.

"After election day in 1936 some of our supporters were uneasy lest we grasp the excuse of a false era of good feeling to evade our obligations. They were worried by the evil symptom that the propaganda and the epithets of last summer and fall had died down.

1933.—March 4.—"The people of the United States have not failed. In their need they have registered a mandate that they want direct, vigorous action."

"Today, however, those who placed their confidence in us are reassured. For the tumult and the shouting have broken forth anew—and from substantially the same elements of opposition. This new roar—for that's the best term—is the best evidence in the world that we have begun to keep our promises, that we have begun to move against conditions under which one-third of the nation is still ill-nourished, ill-clad, and ill-housed.

"Just Begun to Fight."

"We gave warning last November that we had only just begun to fight. Did some people really believe we did not mean it? Well—I meant it, and you meant it.

"A few days ago, a distinguished member of the congress came to see me to talk about national problems in general and about the problem of the judiciary in particular.

"I said to him:

"'John, I want to tell you something that is very personal to me—something that you have a right to hear from my own lips. I have a great ambition in life.'

"My friend pricked up his ears.

"I went on: 'I am by no means satisfied with having twice been elected President of the United States by very large majorities. I have an even greater ambition.'

"By this time, my friend was sitting on the edge of his chair.

Tells of His Ambition.

"I continued: 'John, my ambition relates to Jan. 20, 1941.' I could feel just what horrid thoughts my friend was thinking. So in order to relieve his anxiety, I went on to say: 'My great ambition on Jan. 20, 1941, is to turn over this desk and chair in the White House to my successor, whoever he may be, with the assurance that I am at the same time turning over to him as President a nation intact, a nation at peace, a nation prosperous, a nation clear in its knowledge of what powers it has to serve its own citizens, a nation that is in a position to use those powers to the full in order to move forward steadily to meet the modern needs of humanity—a nation which has thus proved that the democratic form and methods of national government can and will succeed.

"'In these coming years I want to provide such assurance. I want to get the nation as far along the road of progress as I can. I do not want to leave it to my successor in the condition in which Buchanan left it to Lincoln.'

Ambition for All.

"My friends, that ambition of mine for my successor can well be the serious ambition of every citizen who wants his United States to be handed down intact to his children and grandchildren.

"I spoke in the dead earnestness of anxiety; I speak to you tonight in the same earnestness. For no one who sees as a whole today's picture of this nation and the world can help but feel concern for the future.

"To the President of the United States there come every day thousands of messages of appeal, of protest, of support, of information and advice, messages from rich and poor, from business man and farmer, from factory employé and relief worker, messages from every corner of our wide domain.

"Those messages reflect the most striking feature of the life of this generation—the feature which men who live mentally in another generation can least understand—the ever-accelerating speed with which social forces now gather headway.

Slavery Struggle Cited.

"The issue of slavery, for example, took at least forty years—two generations—of argument, discussion and futile compromise before it came to a head in the tragic war between the states.

"But economic freedom for the wage earner and the farmer and the small business man will not wait, like emancipation, for forty years. It will not wait for four years. It will not wait at all.

"After the world war there arose everywhere insistent demands upon government that human needs be met. The unthinking, or those who dwell in the past, have tried to block them. The wise who live in the present have recognized their innate justice and irresistible pressure—and have sought to guide them.

"In some countries a royalist form of government failed to meet these demands—and fell. In other countries a parliamentary form of government failed to meet these demands—and fell. In still other countries governments have managed to hold on, but civil strife has flared or threats of upheaval persist.

1934.—Jan. 3.—"Now we are definitly in the process of recovery. It is our task to perfect, to improve, to alter when necessary, but in all cases to go forward."

Points to Failures.

"Democracy in many lands has failed for the time being to meet human needs. People have become so fed up with futile debate and party bickerings over methods that they have been willing to surrender democratic processes and principles in order to get things done. They have forgotten the lessons of history that the ultimate failures of dictatorships cost humanity far more than any temporary failures of democracy.

"In the United States democracy has not yet failed and does not need to fail. And we propose not to let it fail!

"Nevertheless I cannot tell you with complete candor that in these last few years democracy in the United States has fully succeeded. Nor can I tell you, under present circumstances, just where American democracy is headed nor just what it is permitted to do in order to insure its continued success and survival. I can only hope.

Would Pull as Team.

"For as yet there is no definite assurance that the three horse team of the American system of government will pull together. If three well matched horses are put to the task of plowing up a field where the going is heavy, and the team of three pull as one, the field will be plowed. If one horse lies down in the traces or plunges off in another direction, the field will not be plowed.

"What you and I call the principles of the New Deal did not originate on the fourth of March, 1933. We think of that date as their beginning because it was not until then that the social demands they represented broke through the inertia of many years of failure to improve our political and economic processes.

"What were those demands and needs? How far did we succeed in meeting them? What about them today?

"Ever since the world war the farmers of America had been beating off ever mounting disasters. This administration tried to help them effectively where no other administration had dared to take that risk.

"The agricultural adjustment act testified to our full faith and confidence that the very nature of our major crops makes them articles of commerce between the states.

"The AAA testified also to our full faith and confidence that the preservation of sound agriculture is essential to the general welfare—that the congress of the United States had full constitutional authority to solve the national economic problems of the nation's agriculture. By overwhelming votes the congress thought so, too!

"You know who assumed the power to veto and did veto that program.

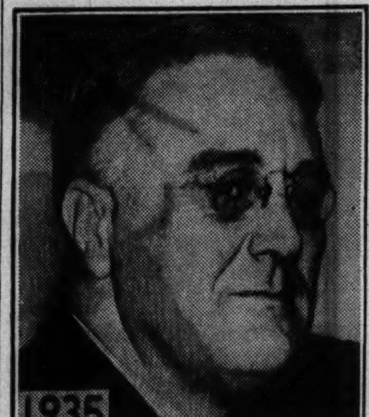
"In the campaign of 1936 I said: 'Of course we will continue our efforts in behalf of the farmers of America. With their continued coöperation we will do all in our power to end the piling up of huge surpluses which spelled ruinous prices for their crops. We will persist in successful action for better land use, for reforestation, for better marketing facilities for farm commodities, for a definite reduction of farm tenancy, for encouragement of farmer coöperatives, for crop insurance and a stable food supply. For all these things we have only just begun to fight.'

Hits "Defeatist Lawyers."

"Neither individually nor as a party can we postpone and run from that fight on advice of defeatist lawyers. But I defy any one to read the majority opinion invalidating the AAA and tell us what we can do for agriculture in this session of the congress with any reasonable certainty that what we do will not be nullified as unconstitutional.

"The farmers were not the only people in distress in 1932. There were millions of workers in industry and in commerce who had lost their jobs, young people who had never been able to find their first job, and more millions whose jobs did not return them and their families enough to live on decently.

"The Democratic administration and the congress made a gallant, sincere effort to raise wages, to reduce hours, to abolish child labor, to eliminate unfair trade practices.



1935.—Nov. 29.—"We have passed the peak of appropriations; revenues without the imposition of new taxes are increasing and we can look forward to a decreasing deficit."

"We tried to establish machinery to adjust the relations between the employer and employé.

Assumed Power of Veto.

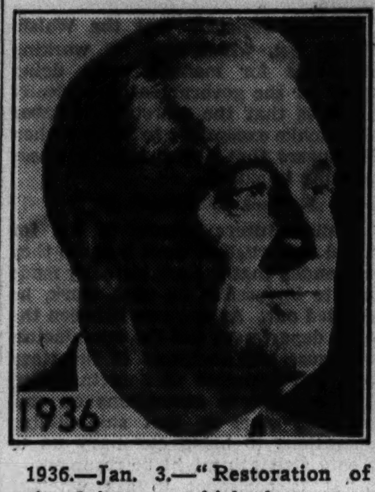
"You know who assumed the power to veto, and did veto that program.

"The railroad retirement act, the national recovery act, and the Guffey coal act were successively outlawed as the child labor statute had been outlawed twenty years before.

"Soon thereafter the nation was told by a judicial pronunciamento that although the federal government had thus been rendered powerless to touch the problem of hours and wages, the states were equally helpless, and that it pleased the 'personal economic predilections' of a majority of the court that we live in a nation where there is no legal power anywhere to deal with its most difficult practical problems—a no man's land of final futility.

"Machinery Paralyzed."

"Furthermore—for I'm not through yet—court injunctions have paralyzed the machinery which we created by the national labor relations act to settle great disputes raging in the industrial field, and, indeed, to prevent them from ever arising. We hope that this act may yet escape final condemnation in the highest court. But so far the attitude and language of the courts in relation to many other laws have made the legality of this act also uncertain, and have encouraged men and corporations to defy rather than obey it.

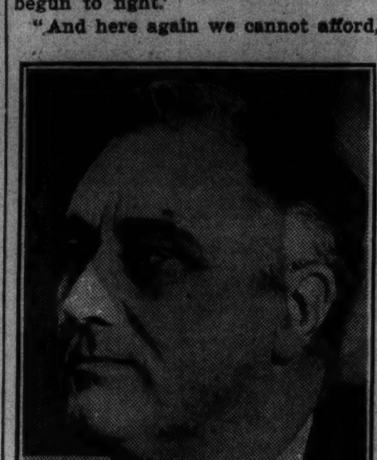


1936.—Jan. 3.—"Restoration of national income, which shows continuing gains for the third successive year, supports the normal and logical policies under which agriculture and industry are returning to full activity."

"In the campaign of 1936 you and I promised this to working men and women:

"'Of course we will continue to seek to improve working conditions for the workers of America—to reduce hours overlong, to increase wages that spell starvation, to end the labor of children, to wipe out sweatshops. We will provide useful work for the needy unemployed. For all these things we have only just begun to fight.'

"And here again we cannot afford, either individually or as a party, to postpone or run from that fight on advice of defeatist lawyers.



1937.—Jan. 21.—"We are determined to make every American citizen the subject of his country's interest and concern; and we will never regard any faithful, law abiding group within our borders as superfluous."

Says Hands Are Tied.

"But I defy any one to read the opinions concerning AAA, the railroad retirement act, the national recovery act, the Guffey coal act, and the New York minimum wage law, and tell us exactly what, if anything, we can do for the industrial worker in this session of the congress with any reasonable certainty that what we do will not be nullified as unconstitutional.

"During the course of the last four years the nation has been overwhelmed by disasters of flood and drouth.

"Modern science knows how to protect our land and our people from the recurrence of such catastrophies, and knows how to produce as a byproduct the blessing of cheaper electric power for the nation. With the Tennessee Valley authority we made a beginning of that kind of protection on an intelligent regional basis. With only two of its nine projected dams completed, there was no flood damage in the valley of the Tennessee this winter.

Refers to TVA Project.

"But how can we confidently complete that Tennessee valley project or extend the idea to the Ohio, the Connecticut, and many other valleys while the lowest courts have not hesitated to paralyze its operations by sweeping injunctions?

"The Ohio river and the dust bowl are not conversant with the habits of the interstate commerce clause. But we shall never be safe in our lives, in our property, or in the heritage of our soil until we have somehow made the interstate commerce clause conversant with the habits of the Ohio river and the dust bowl.

"In the campaign of 1936 you and I and all who supported us did take cognizance of the Ohio river and the dust bowl. We said: 'Of course we will continue our efforts—for drouth and flood control—for these things we have only just begun to fight.'

Cannot Afford to Run.

"Hence, too, we cannot afford, either individually or as a party, to postpone or run away from that fight on advice of defeatist lawyers. Let them try that advice on sweating men piling sandbags on the levees at Cairo, Louisville, and Memphis.

"But I defy any one to read the opinions in the TVA case, the Duke Power case, and the AAA case and tell us exactly what we can do as a national government in this session of the congress to control flood and drouth and generate cheap power with any reasonable certainty that what we do will not be nullified as unconstitutional.

"The language of the decisions already rendered and the widespread refusal to obey law incited by the attitude of the courts create doubts and difficulties for almost everything else for which we have promised to fight—help for the crippled, for the blind, for the mothers—insurance for the unemployed—security for the aged—protection of the consumer against monopoly and speculation—protection of the investor—the wiping out of slums—cheaper electricity for the homes and on the farms of America. You and I owe it to ourselves individually, as a party, and as a nation to remove those doubts and difficulties.

Time Held Essence.

"In this fight, as the lawyers themselves say, time is of the essence. In three elections during the last five years great majorities have approved what we are trying to do. To me, and I am sure to you, those majorities mean that the people themselves realize the increasing urgency that we meet their needs now. Every delay creates risks of intervening events which make more and more difficult an intelligent, speedy, and democratic solution of our difficulties.

"As chief executive and as the head of the Democratic party, I am unwilling to take those risks—to the country and to the party—of postponing one moment beyond absolute necessity the time when we can free from legal doubts those policies which offer a progressive solution of our problems.

"Floods and drouths and agricultural surpluses, strikes, and industrial confusion and disorder cannot be handled forever on a catch-as-catch-can basis.

Ambition for Party.

"I have another ambition—not so great an ambition as that which I have for the country, but an ambition which as a lifelong Democrat I do not believe unworthy. It is an ambition for the Democratic party.

"The party and its associates have had the imagination to perceive essential unity below the surface of apparent diversity. We can, therefore, long remain a natural rallying point for the coöperative effort of all of those who truly believe in political and economic democracy.

"It will take courage to let our minds be bold and find the ways to meet the needs of the nation. But for our party, now as always, the counsel of courage is the counsel of wisdom.

"If we do not have the courage to lead the American people where they want to go, some one else will.

"Here is one-third of a nation ill nourished, ill clad, ill housed—now!

Points to Worried Farmers.

"Here are thousands upon thousands of men and women laboring for long hours in factories for ina quate pay—now!

"Here are thousands upon tho sands of children who should be school working in mines and mills now!

ROOSEVELT ASKS U. S. TO SUPPORT COURT PACKING

Opens Personal Drive at Victory Dinner.

to liquidating the Democratic party's $430,000 deficit incurred in the victory of last November.

There were 1,162 dinners in 43 states and the District of Columbia. Chief of those outside the capital was a $50 a plate dinner in New York City presided over by Vice President Garner.

The President lacked the fire of his campaign addresses. He spoke more with the accents of the powerful leader who commands obedience than as the wooer of support.

Pour In from Halls.

Diners poured into the banquet room from hall tables to hear the address. Among the guests were eighty-six women. Most New Dealers dug into their pockets for the $100 entrance fee but declined to dig for another for their women folk. Some women attended in place of their husbands.

Mr. Roosevelt was the only speaker at dinner No. 1. But in other cities additional speakers were heard. In nearly every case these celebrated the party's great victory at the polls in 1936 with a defense of the President's judiciary program that has split the party in 1937. Senator William H. Dieterich [D., Ill.] delivered such a defense at the Buffalo, N. Y., dinner, while reserving committment on his own stand pending the hearings before the senate judiciary committee of which he is a member.

Denies Thought of Third Term.

The argument that he would make himself a dictator by gaining control of the Supreme court Mr. Roosevelt sought to dispose of by explaining at great length that he has not even any thought of serving a third term.

Incidentally the President revealed his knowledge of the forebodings of public men that he does contemplate being a candidate for a third term. He related how he told a member of congress that he had a great ambition pertaining to Jan. 20, 1941.

"I could feel just what horrid thoughts my friend was thinking," said the President. Then to "relieve his anxiety" the President told his friend that his ambition was to intrust to his successor, "whoever he may be" on Jan. 20, 1941, "a nation prosperous, a nation clear in its knowledge of what powers it has to serve its own citizens, a nation that is in a position to use those powers to the full in order to move forward steadily to meet the modern needs of humanity—a nation which has thus proved that the democratic form and methods of national government can and will succeed.

Wants to Push It Along.

"In these coming years I want to provide such assurance. I want to get the nation as far along the road of progress as I can. I do not want to leave it to my successor in the condition in which Buchanan left it to Lincoln."

His ambition, Mr. Roosevelt said, may well be the ambition of every person "who wants his United States to be handed down intact to his children and grandchildren." He spoke with all the gravity at his command, for no one surveying America and the world "can help but feel concern for the future."

The communications he receives from thousands of people, said the President, demonstrate what "men who live mentally in another generation can least understand:

"The ever accelerating speed with which social forces now gather headway." Such is the crisis, he asserted, that economic freedom for the underprivileged will not wait, like emancipation, for forty years; in fact, will not wait at all.

Pessimistic on Democracy.

He viewed with the greatest pessimism the future of American democracy.

"For, as yet," he went on, "there is no definite assurance that the three horse team of the American system of government will pull together. If three well matched horses are put to the task of plowing up a field where the going is heavy, and the team of three pull as one, the field will be plowed. If one horse lies down in the traces or plunges off in another direction, the field will not be plowed."

"It would not be proper for me," Senator Dieterich said in his speech at Buffalo, "to discuss here pending measures for the reason that those measures are before the judiciary committee of the senate, of which I am a member.

"When all of the hysteria has passed away and our people begin to understand what was contemplated by the President's message, there will be quite a difference in attitude concerning the same by all of the fair-minded citizenship.

"If an increase is necessary it can and will be accomplished in the usual orderly way, agreeable to the constitution, without destroying the independence of the federal courts, but rather by strengthening them, and making them more independent and more efficient."

HOLD SUSPECT FOR SLAYING OF EDITOR IN 1925

Kelso, Wash., March 4.—(AP)—Sherif H. T. O'Brien said tonight that a man booked as Fred Hall by Columbia, S. C., police was arrested at the sherif's request to determine if he is Frank T. Hart, ex-convict, sought for the shooting of Thomas Dovery, Kelso newspaper editor, June 19, 1925.

The sherif said Hall, first arrested on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge in Columbia Feb. 26, was identified as Hart through finger prints by the federal bureau of investigation in Washington, D. C.

John W. Smith was arrested in July, 1936, in St. Louis, convicted of first degree murder, and sentenced to 99 years in the Washington state penitentiary. Smith accused Hart of actually shooting Dovery during a robbery.

COURT CONSIDERING PLEA FOR TOWNSEND FOR ANOTHER TRIAL

Washington, D. C., March 4.—(AP)—Federal District Judge Peyton Gordon took under consideration today a motion for a new trial for Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension leader convicted last week for contempt of the house of representatives.

Justice Gordon said he would announce his decision Tuesday.

Elisha Hanson, Townsend's attorney, said his client's conviction of contempt for walking out on a house investigating committee should be set aside because Townsend had not been given an opportunity to justify his action.

District Attorney Leslie C. Garnett replied Townsend's belief that he was justified in walking out on the committee was an "after thought."

Townsend, tall, gray haired Californian, listened quietly to the argument and said he had no apprehension over the outcome of his motion.

RAIL UNIONS ASK FOR WAGE PARLEY HERE MARCH 29

Chicago railway executives yesterday received the first notices from the sixteen non-operating railroad brotherhoods asking for a conference March 29 at the Morrison hotel to discuss the 20 per cent blanket wage boost decided upon at a meeting of union delegates here on Feb. 24. About 800,000 members are claimed by these unions and their pay increase would amount to more than $200,000,000 annually.

Under the railway transportation act, the roads must meet within 30 days following receipt of the union request.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

TWO VIEWPOINTS

By CALEB

IF you could hear several good sturdy insects discussing their fellow citizen, the silkworm, the conversation might run something as follows:

A: Well, I've no use for him or any of his companions. Why, they're weaklings. They have to be pampered and remain indoors all the time.

B: Yes, I know it, although their ancestors were hardy and lived outdoors! More than that, they've become so delicate and lacking in good old insect vitality that they can't stand more than a few degrees change in temperature—even indoors.

A: Well, it just goes to show how a family can run down. Now I and my whole family can stand extremes of both heat and cold.

B: They think they're pretty fine, too, those silkworms. They're not permitted to associate with us at all—subject to all sorts of diseases they say, if they contact any other insects. In the old days they could stand a little common association.

A: They were better off then, too. In those days, they amounted to something. Why, they tell me that silkworm moths can't even fly nowadays—can't even use the wings nature gives them to fly. Think of that!

B: I know. That's absolutely true. Tssk. Tssk. Tssk.

●

FROM man's viewpoint, however, the silkworm is a splendid, efficient fellow. Man has made the silkworm a weak and incompetent member of the insect world—but a highly efficient producer of silk for the world of men.

It all depends on the point of view.

One-sided viewpoint is a great handicap to organizations which employ numerous people. Our concern in finding a man or woman to do a job is to find the person best qualified to do that particular thing.

By stressing the requirements of particular jobs more than we stress the requirements for meeting any preconceived general viewpoint, we believe we have assembled into our organization one of the most able groups of capable specialists that has ever been brought together.

Aside from maintaining standards of general policy—each function in our business is measured against its own specialized standards. We are trying to have you see the results in many ways in this business.

MILLION LETTERS SENT SENATORS ON COURT PLAN

100 to 1 Against It in Early Returns.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—With correspondence relating to President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme court still pouring in, it was estimated today that a million letters, an average of more than 10,000 for each of the 96 senators, have been received by the senate postoffice since the judiciary message was read on Feb. 5. Questioning of house members indicated that their mail on the court issue is unusually heavy, but would not average more than 500 letters for each of the 435 representatives.

The early, spontaneous response to the President's message was one of overwhelming opposition, running in the case of some senators to more than 100 to 1 against packing the court. Recently, however, there has been an increase in the favorable letters, which senators attribute to the organized activities of union labor organizations. The total volume of mail received to date still averages about 10 to 1 against the President's plan, a survey indicated.

Some Senatorial Examples.

Some examples of senatorial mail, as reported by their secretaries, follow:

Royal S. Copeland [D., N. Y.]—More than 50,000 letters, more than 10 to 1 against.

A. Harry Moore [D., N. J.]—Forty thousand letters, of which 1,000 are for the President's plan.

James Hamilton Lewis [D., Ill.]—Approximately 20,000 letters. The ratio was about 97 to 3 against the plan at first, but the response from labor organizations has brought the ratio down to about 70-30.

Sherman Minton [D., Ind.]—About 5,000 letters. The trend was at first against the plan but there is now a margin of about 5 per cent in favor of it.

Senator M. M. Logan [D., Ky.]—About 5,000 letters. At first the majority opposed the plan, but the trend has been reversed and the total now is about equally divided.

Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.]—Ten thousand letters, 95 per cent of them opposed to the President's plan.

Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho]—More than 10,000 letters running about 10 to 1 against the plan.

Congressman Perplexed.

A Republican member of the house who did not want his name used was perplexed by the response of his constituents. Representing a Republican stronghold in Michigan, he has received approximately 500 letters, and the great majority of them favor the President's plan. This response was especially singular in view of the letters received by Michigan's Democratic senator, Prentiss M. Brown. Counting only names with addresses given, Senator Brown today had heard from 16,318 individuals opposing the President's plan and 843 favoring it.

While a great many printed cards, indicating an organized "pressure" effort, have been received by senators, the overwhelming majority of their responses consists of letters written with pen and ink or pencil. A majority of them are from women, the senators declare.

William Hedges, Retired Principal, Given Tributes

William Hedges, veteran educator and retired principal of Marquette school, was guest of honor at a dinner given him in the Palmer house last night by members of the Marquette school faculty and the Marquette Parent-Teacher association. Mr. Hedges retired recently after forty years of service in Chicago schools.

Butcher Beaten by Two Bandits Dies of Injuries

Edward Gromant, 46 years old, 4314 South Ashland avenue, a butcher who said he was beaten by two bandits because he had no money to give them, died in the County hospital yesterday of a fractured skull. The attack occurred Feb. 20 at Marshfield avenue and 43d street.

Jailed for Contempt

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Admitting that he testified falsely in a sex offense case on Wednesday, Benjamin Cornell, 36 years old, 1952 Cermak road, was sentenced yesterday by Judge R. J. Dunne of the Criminal court to ten days in the county jail for contempt of court. Cornell was an alibi witness for his stepson, William Bernsee, 26 years old, a former WPA worker, charged with molesting children. The jury in the case was unable to reach a verdict. Bernsee will be retried, prosecutors said.

OFFERS DOZEN FEDERAL HOMES TO KENOSHANS

Failure of Lake county residents to take up all the available homesteads established in the county by the Resettlement administration led to an announcement yesterday by Mrs. Tillie Jane Kelly of Waukegan, community manager, that Kenosha, Wis., families will be given a chance to take over some of the places.

The homesteads—53 in number—were intended exclusively for Lake county families. To date 28 of the 53 homesteads have been taken by Lake county families and six more are expected to be occupied by April 1. This leaves 19 empty homes.

Of the 19 an even dozen will be allotted to Kenosha families.

Express Confidence in 9 Present Justices.

More than 1,500 Chicagoans voiced a mass protest last night against President Roosevelt's scheme to pack the Supreme court. The protest was made at a meeting held in the Sherman hotel by the organization, Friends of the Supreme Court.

After listening to a number of speakers assail the President for his judicial program, the audience adopted a resolution expressing confidence in the court as at present constituted. It then directed the chairman, John D. Black, former president of the Chicago Bar association, to telegraph copies of the resolution to Illinois' senators and representatives in Washington.

Confidence Called Vital.

"Confidence in the Supreme court," the resolution said, "is vital to the preservation of the form of government under which we have lived and under which we must continue to live if we are to remain a free people. No court can continue to deserve and receive public confidence if any suspicion exists that it is subject to the control or influence of any other branch of government."

In more fiery terms was the speech of Attorney Stephen A. Day, founder of the Friends of the Supreme Court. Mr. Day is the son of a former justice of the court.

"If our highest tribunal is to be tainted with partisan politics, then the remainder of the constitution is gone and the reign of justice forever removed," Day said. "We, the people, stand behind the senators and congressmen courageous enough to hold the fort against this un-American proposal."

Attorney Thomas J. Downs, president of the Young Republican Organization of Illinois, declared:

"When we start making politics the primary qualification for appointment to the federal bench, it is the beginning of the end of that liberty all of us have been taught to respect under our American form of government."

Other speakers included Attorney Patrick B. Prescott, colored leader, and Mrs. Charles Krutckoff, who warned the women present against the threat of dictatorship and urged them to protest "not only against the actual packing of the Supreme court, but for all the disrespect to age and achievement it implies to our children."

Democrats At Victory Dinner.

Meanwhile, Chicago Democrats were making possible a $20,000 contribution to the national committee's deficit by paying $25 a plate at a victory dinner in the Palmer house. Party leaders, officeholders, ward committeemen, and precinct captains listened by radio to President Roosevelt's address.

About 1,000 persons—most of them men—attended the dinner. United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe was toastmaster. The speakers were United States Senators James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois and F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin. Mayor Kelly was present during the first part of the program but left in order to attend the Charter day celebration in the Chicago Stadium.

Both Senator Lewis and Senator Duffy discussed the court packing legislation but neither committed his vote.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

COMMEND U. OF C. PLAN TO BROADEN LEGAL EDUCATION

Professors, Judges and Bar Agree on Value.

Dean Harry Bigelow.

The plan to reorganize the University of Chicago law school, announced last week, has the approval of Chicago judges, lawyers, and law teachers, whose views were asked yesterday.

The new plan, which is to be inaugurated on the Midway next October by Dean Harry Bigelow calls for a four year law course of which such subjects as economics, sociology, political theory, and accounting will be integral parts. It is hoped that this new education will produce better lawyers by teaching the students something of the actualities with which the law is forced to deal, instead of drilling them only in legalistic technicalities.

Praise from Bar for Plan.

Commenting on the new plan, Samuel M. Rinaker, chairman of the Chicago Bar association's committee on legal education, said:

"I believe that any change in the direction of broader education for lawyers is desirable. A lawyer must, of course, have a thorough knowledge of legal principles; but he must deal in practice with legal principles in relation to varied facts and changing conditions, a thorough understanding of which requires a broad general education."

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said the new curriculum is sure to be of great practical value. He pointed out that economic and social changes are occurring with such rapidity that he found it necessary in 1935 to create a nonlegal research division, an organization that has much the same purpose in his department as the new subjects in the Chicago plan, in his department in 1935.

"Legal practice is no longer a matter of just looking up the law," he said. "It is only by nonlegal fact-finding that the corporation counsel's office is able to cope with the problems that now confront it."

"The objective of the new University of Chicago curriculum is excellent," said Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the Illinois Appellate court, and his opinion was echoed by almost all of the judges who have had time to acquaint themselves with the new plan.

"It is sure to produce better lawyers," said Judge Sullivan, "because it will give training to enable them to face realities and apply the law to the situation. It will help change the legal viewpoint from a glance into the past to an effort to cope with the future. I certainly favor this objective and will watch its development with interest."

In Right Direction, Says Judge.

Judge John O'Connor, also of the Appellate court, said that the plan was a step in the right direction, but felt that there still was a tendency to make it too difficult for a young man to get through law school and to pass the bar examinations.

Northwestern university is planning no change in its legal courses, said Charles T. McCormick, acting dean of its law school, but at De Paul university the Chicago experiment is being watched with interest by William F. Clarke, dean of its law school. "For some time we have been considering a four year law course somewhat less revolutionary than that announced by the University of Chicago," he said.

Practicing Attorney Favorable.

The reaction of practicing lawyers to the plan was typified by that of Howard Ellis of the firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin and Ellis, 33 North La Salle street.

"I am sure that the new plan is a good thing, and I have said so to Dean Bigelow," he declared. "We are facing a changing world, an alarmingly changing world under the present administration, and it is essential that the lawyer's approach to its problems be more broadly social than narrowly legalistic in the future."

AMERICA AND FOREIGN ALLIANCES.

Alliances for defense or for the promotion of national interests have been within the long continued and familiar practices of European nations. They have been entirely outside American policy. From the beginning of modern history the present European nations have sought combinations, sometimes to maintain the peace, sometimes to check a powerful and ambitious ruler, and sometimes to acquire and divide up another fellow's real estate holdings. Alliances could be made by marriage, by agreements between cousinly kings or by treaty.

Frequently the pledged word was as light as the royal purpose was fickle and as the royal conscience was adjustable. The apparent greater good or greater greed of the moment often worked its way through the most honorable pledges. No one was vastly astonished if the friend of one day was found on the other side the next. When the kings passed out of autocratic control of foreign relations and their ministers took over the responsibility, the alliances were used to create balances which would preserve an equilibrium and supposedly prevent recourse to arms. That theory of defense mechanism had its top blown off in 1914, but it still remains a method by which the countries try to underwrite their security and they have understandings, agreements for treaties to become operative upon specified conditions.

Once in a while the British turn to the possibility of an alliance with the United States. Lord Lothian brought the subject up the other day in the house of lords, saying by way of approach that Great Britain could not have come out of the war successfully without the aid here and that an arrangement which joined the British and American fleets would probably be the greatest pacifier the world could possibly find now. Discussing the subject further in an interview, Lord Lothian said that there was no world war in the 19th century for two reasons. Great Britain was then outside the alliance system of Europe and it had a paramount navy.

Europe had wars, but nations single-handed fought each other and the whole continent was not caught up in the train of one conflict. Consequently, civilization rode along on a fairly even keel and wasn't threatened with complete loss in a general storm. It may be that the British will make some explorations of American feeling on this subject mentioned by Lord Lothian, trying diplomatically to find out whether there has been any change in sentiment against what in American history has always been referred to as entangling alliances. The advice of the early American statesmen was constantly no. It would be astonishing if there had been any change.

The neutrality law now taking its course through congress represents an attempt to remove America still further from the complications of Europe. Although the congressmen are told that they cannot isolate this country, they propose to have their try at it. As Senator Borah, speaking in protest, said, the old American demand for freedom of the seas is being abandoned. Congress apparently is willing to make some sacrifices, some of them unknown, to keep European influences from affecting the United States.

There are people who think that an understanding between the United States and Great Britain joining the two navies as a pacifying world influence would present a practical and desirable solution of many of the troubles which both nations can see in the future. Even such persons will concede that a proposal to discuss terms and negotiate an agreement would have little chance of getting beyond the first few sentences. Americans still believe that among their fortunate conditions is some 3,000 miles of ocean between here and the other shores. They know they crossed those waters in 1917 but their present preoccupation is with arrangements to prevent that happening again and not with proposals which would stipulate upon what conditions they again would go over. They are told that they are wrong and that the future may dispose of them much against their will, but their prevailing conviction is that human ingenuity can find a way of keeping out of war a people who do not want to enter it, they having no national interest in doing so.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS.

President Roosevelt's recent message to congress in which he sought authority to fix both rates and rules for the assessment of Panama canal tolls may be regarded as a definite step forward in THE TRIBUNE'S campaign—A Square Deal for the Middle West. The President of the United States has always had authority to fix the rates, but not the measurements against which such tolls shall apply. As a consequence, the present method has been subject to abuses. It was like driving a horse with the President holding one rein and congress the other—and a oot on the brake.

There is a further suggestion that the tolls e revised downward, but if the new rates are applied against the total cargo space utilized by the vessels the lower rates might well produce additional canal revenues. The midwest's complaint against the present method is based on the fact that thousands of tons of freight are annually carried through the canal free of cost, thus making it impossible for midwest industries to compete with those located on the coast which are able to utilize the canal.

As a primary consideration, Chicago asks nothing more than a square deal for its industries. As a secondary matter, however, it must be remembered that thousands of foreign ships go through the canal. That these vessels should pay just and reasonable revenues, to place the facility on the same paying basis as the Suez canal, is the concern of the whole country.

DEATH SENTENCES.

Thursday evenings, which are the usual time for inflicting the death penalty on condemned prisoners in Illinois, have in recent weeks taken on the unwholesome character of an old fashioned movie serial, with the governor expected to halt the proceedings at the last moment with a stay of execution.

The statutes of Illinois provide, and the courts enforce, a fair trial for those charged with murder. Ample review of death sentences is likewise provided through the mandatory provision for taking the record in all capital cases to the Supreme court.

The pardoning power was intended for use only in exceptional cases. Every prisoner is entitled, as of right, to justice in the form of a fair trial. Pardon and commutation of sentence are not simple justice, but are acts of mercy, and relatively few murderers who receive the death sentence in this state are entitled to mercy.

Therefore it could be only a perverted public opinion which would expect the governor, except in rare cases, to set aside death sentences imposed after fair trial and affirmed by the Supreme court. Such expectations are both unfair to the governor and detrimental to the administration of justice.

Granted it is unpleasant to see the law take the life of any person, even though he has been fairly tried and justly condemned. But this is far less unpleasant than the spectacle of the killer's innocent victim who lost his life without trial, without justice, and without mercy.

Murder is a common occurrence in Chicago and a rare one in London. This is not due to any fundamental difference in the people of the two cities. It is because, for a great many years, it has been the rule in London to impose and execute the death penalty on murderers and the exception to do so in Chicago. If Chicago judges and juries were equally inflexible in punishing murderers, due time would see murder a rare event in this city, also.

Much of the effect of the few death sentences which are carried out in this state is lost through the numerous postponements of executions, which distort the picture from that of the exaction of a just penalty to that of an unwholesome drama. A great number of these postponements arise from the present law, which requires the trial judge to fix the date of execution at a time which does not allow sufficient time for review by the Supreme court, making a stay by that court inescapable.

This provision should be changed by amendment to permit fixing of a date which would allow time for prompt review and for consideration of executive clemency. After such amendment there should be but one date of execution, and that the date on which the penalty is carried out.

REAL ESTATE BONDS.

A vast amount of indignation, most of it justified, has been generated by the default of real estate mortgage bond issues and the subsequent costly foreclosures and reorganizations. There have been massmeetings and a prolonged, though largely futile, congressional investigation.

Through it all no attention has been paid the recommendations advanced by those who have had something constructive to offer. Attorney George F. Anderson, speaking the other day before the Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association, performed a most useful service in calling attention again to the simple fact that the subject lies largely, if not wholly, within the sphere of the state legislature. The legislature has taken no action to remedy past errors or prevent needless losses to bondholders in future.

Mr. Anderson reminded his hearers that committees of the American Bar association, the Illinois Bar association, and the Chicago Bar association have recommended model foreclosure laws which would avoid most of the delays and expenses now incurred. These suggestions have been disregarded, and because they have been disregarded investors have suffered.

The fault lies with the legislature. Inertia and indifference may account for the neglect in part, but only in part. For the rest, the fact that politicians have profited largely from the existing law cannot be overlooked. Political masters in chancery, political lawyers, and political receivers have all found profit of one sort or another in the slow, expensive, dilatory methods imposed by Illinois law. The legislature has not even attempted to alter the period of redemption, which had its justification in protecting title to private dwellings and farms but is meaningless when applied to so-called income property.

Holders of defaulted real estate bonds in Illinois can charge a large part of their losses to the unwillingness of their representatives at Springfield to amend the foreclosure laws to accord with current needs. Though the time has passed when much can be accomplished for those who lost their savings in the crash of 1929, it is not too soon to revise the law for the sake of future investors.

PERFECT POLITICIAN.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

In a squabble with newspaper men yesterday Senator Ashurst of Arizona, who introduced the President's bill to pack the Supreme court, shouted:

"I may be driven from my opinions, but I will not be driven from my seat."

Here, compressed into a sentence, is the creed of the perfect politician—he proposes to retain his seat, no matter what happens to his opinions.

In case any one cares to know from what opinion Senator Ashurst was driven, here is an expression of his, made less than a month ago:

"No monarch, no tyrant, makes any progress whatever unless and until he seizes in his hands the legislative, the executive, and the judicial powers. . . . When our ancestors formed a government they deemed it unwise to place the legislative and the judicial powers into the same magistracy; therefore the separation of the powers. . . . I have no sympathy with attempts to whittle or to chisel, by indirection, circumlocution, and periphrasis and house that Jack built methods in order to acquire power."

This is the senator who is now in charge of the bill raising the number of Supreme court justices. But, however his opinion may have changed, he retains his seat, not merely as a senator but as one of the important administration senators.

DEAD TREE IN SPRING.

This grim, gaunt dreamer still stands wrapt in dreams
When dreams themselves are true! Like little feet
Of fairies buckled in their silver shoes
The rain comes dancing down; of shining mist
The earth now makes her bridal veil, and weds

Small matter that the snow and sleet are gone—
This tree, grown passionless with dreams, dreams on.

I look, and think of some earth-scented spring
When even I may come to this—when dreams
Shall be enough, when I shall not require
Their swift fulfilling. . . . When echoes of some

Dear Lord, forbid that this shall be my fate!

In the blackjack hills, out across the west eighty of our place, and not far from old Hometown, there lived in an unpainted, forlorn old house Abe Racklidge and his wife—and, as might have been expected, a numerous brood of youngsters. How they managed to exist was a mystery to all who knew them. . . . Abe never worked. He was a Civil War veteran and belonged to the G. A. R., and in the late summer and fall (oh, boy!) did he and his wife live high, what with all the county reunions, and not infrequently the state reunion holding forth for a week in some city not beyond the range of a pair of decrepit horses and a dilapidated old spring wagon. Reaching the scene of a reunion, the Racklidges would ingratiate themselves with some veteran, and, hospitality being characteristic, it was fairly simple to gain a few days' living on the fat of the land. . . . One day, I remember, my father and I passed their house, and for some reason stopped. We found all the youngsters, dirty and unkempt, in charge of the oldest, a girl of fourteen, having a meal of parched corn and flapjacks. We were informed, on inquiry, that their parents were at the state reunion in Wichita. Seeing their cheerless situation, father hurried across to our house, cussing all the way (as might have been expected, if you knew my father), and had mother prepare a generous basket of food, which he took over that afternoon. When he set the basket down the pinch faced children crowded round with glistening eyes, and he expected them to pitch in. The oldest girl, however, seemed reluctant to start, and, in fact, put the basket on a shelf. "You children better eat that right now," interposed father; "you're hungry." The oldest girl replied: "Maw said if any of the neighbors happened to bring in anything to eat we must put it away for them."

IS FOOD RESPONSIBLE FOR MIGRAINE?

MANY of us are familiar with Hans Holbein's painting in which he depicts the sufferings of a victim of migraine—the head being attacked by numerous devils armed with spears and hammers.

It is becoming increasingly evident that all cases of this distressing malady—"sick headache"—do not arise from the same cause. One thing is certain, however—the symptom is prostrating. The digestive tract is upset and the entire nervous mechanism seems to center all of its forces for evil within the skull. We recognize, too, that these affairs are periodical, appearing at times with great frequency; at others, at long intervals.

As a rule, the condition is recognized easily. Sometimes the patient will have a premonitory warning that the trouble is coming on, with disturbances of vision. Then the intense head pain is followed by retching and vomiting.

Within recent years the suggestion has been made that many of these dread paroxysms are due to sensitivity, particularly to some food. Allergic tendencies, as we know, are inherited and frequently a mother with migraine will pass on the idiosyncrasy to a son or daughter. If one will quiz a sufferer carefully more often than not some food indiscretion will be mentioned as the immediate inciting factor. Although diets have been changed and juggled without apparent benefit, nevertheless the question arises again and again—is not some food element responsible?

Because of the frequency with which food allergy has been associated with the situation, it would seem that thorough testing for susceptibility should be carried out on each of these sufferers. This should include not only skin reactions to various proteins but a carefully recorded food diary including a record of contacts and exposures. Many will give a history of a sensitivity of some form—if not individual, perhaps in the family and, in this connection, asthma, hay fever, hives and eczema should be investigated.

In the study of the relationship of food the patient is more important than the physician. This point is illustrated by the case of a young woman, 32 years of age, who had been subject to migraine for more than ten years. She observed that the paroxysms were much more severe if she had eaten—some hours earlier—a generous helping of cake. Omitting this particular food was followed by a marked decrease in the severity of the seizures. In addition, the intervals were prolonged. She was inordinately fond of cake and—when good resolutions failed—indulgence was followed by typical symptoms.

Satisfaction in eating cake, however, was more than overbalanced by the intense discomfort resulting; and by scrupulously adhering to a cakeless régime the attacks practically disappeared within a year. Since that they have occurred only when some cakelike material was taken inadvertently. Whether the difficulty lay in the flour, eggs, flavoring material, or the frosting was not disclosed.

The acute phase is most distressing to witness. Emptying the stomach and the gastrointestinal tract is desirable. In fact, vomiting may be nature's way of ridding the body of poisonous products. If sleep can be induced, even with the aid of a hypnotic, much ground is gained and some of these patients will waken free from symptoms.

For those cases obviously not of food origin there are a number of successful remedies, for example, ergotamine tartrate, chondroitin-sulphuric acid, and injections of the extract of the anterior portion of the pituitary gland. Many cases are improved by the administration of calcium and for this purpose calcium gluconate is employed frequently. If chronic infections exist about the nose, throat, or sinuses, vaccines sometimes help. With the type of migraine associated with menstruation the injection of theelin or other hormone preparation has been reported on favorably.

No harm can result from suggesting to the migraine patient that every article of diet be scrutinized with great care to the end that it be omitted whenever reasonable evidence is forthcoming that it has a bearing on the situation.

SCARLET FEVER.

Mrs. F. M. writes: Is scarlet fever contagious? Is it spread by direct contact only?

REPLY.

Most cases are spread by direct contact. It is rarely transmitted by droplet infection but can be disseminated by articles contaminated by the organism. The streptococcus which causes scarlet fever can live for some time in clothes, toys, and other articles. It can also be conveyed by milk from cows infected with inflammation of the mammary gland due to streptococcus scarlatina.

LAME BACK.

P. E. writes: Is there any help for the chronic lame back? When I get up in the morning my lower back is so stiff I cannot bend over. Some days it is worse than others.

REPLY.

Heaps of things can be done to relieve the rigidity. Find the cause if possible. If it is due to arthritis we will be glad to send along several suggestions if you will send a large stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HELL WEEK; A PROTEST.

Chicago, March 2.—"Youth Injured in 'Hell Week' Stunt at Northwestern University." Your headline of March 2 is not very reassuring to parents of freshmen entering or about to enter that school. Some years ago hazing was the vogue until one student lost his life and then it was banned. Why do the universities tolerate "Hell Week" and "paddling," another word for an assault upon a freshman with a barrel stave? This may be punishment for the infraction of some rule or it may be administered as "general paddling" to the freshmen for no offense at all.

Northwestern university had full knowledge of "Hell Week." The rules were published in advance in the Daily Northwestern and faculty members sat on the board that decided who should administer the paddling. "Since the boy is apparently recovering, the university will take no action," says a faculty member. Do they need a manslaughter case to stir them to action? "An old football injury" aggravated the damage. Why was he permitted to participate in "Hell Week" if he was physically unfit? Why was a young boy's health jeopardized by fifty-four hours of "fatigue and loss of sleep" which received the sanction of the university, as the published rules bear witness.

Parents of high school graduates will do well to inquire how their sons will be treated at any university during the freshman year. When they are placed in the care of a school and live in a building on the university campus, parents have a right to expect that their sons will not be beaten and injured in any activity carried on with the knowledge and sanction of the university.

From the Tribune's Columns

20 Years Ago Today

MARCH 5, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A riotous twenty-six hour battle in the expiring session of the senate over the administration's armed ship measure ended in the death of the bill and left a trail of outraged feelings in that more or less august body. The killing of the measure was brought about by a filibuster conducted by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and declared by Senator Hitchcock to be the "most reprehensible in the history of any nation."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Officially excoriating as dangerous foes of the nation's welfare the filibustering senators who killed the armed neutrality bill, President Wilson disclosed he is uncertain what course to pursue in regard to the protection of American rights on the high seas. He has made up his mind, however, to lead a fight to end filibusters in the senate.

LONDON.—A Swiss dispatch quotes the Balkan Press agency as saying that Bulgaria will present a note to the United States next week supporting Germany in her unrestricted submarine campaign and declaring that American hostility toward Germany must be considered to be directed also against Bulgaria.

BERLIN.—An armed transport steamer of 34,494 tons, with about 500 colonial troops, artillery, and horses on board, was sunk by a German submarine in the Mediterranean on Feb. 24, the admiralty announced. Some of the troops on board were lost.

NEW YORK.—It was a decoy wireless message written right here in New York City by German secret agents and dispatched from the radio station at Sayville, N. Y., by one of their trusted operators which caused the destruction of the Lusitania on May 7, 1915, according to a detailed declaration made by John Price Jones in a volume entitled "America Entangled."

PEKING.—The cabinet decided that China should join the United States in breaking off relations with Germany. This decision was submitted to the president, who refused to approve the cabinet's action, saying such power rested entirely with him.

BERLIN.—The proposed German alliance with Mexico needs absolutely no apology, explanation, or justification to anybody, according to the view here, Germany acting entirely within her rights and the proposed alliance being merely a defensive measure dictated by ordinary military German common sense.

WAR SUMMARY.—British advance 1,200 yards on two mile front east of Gommencourt and capture German positions east of Bouchavesnes. Russian forces which captured Hamadan in Persia pursue Turks eight miles to northwest. Austrian attacks east of Gorits beaten off by Italians with heavy losses.

UNREST.

Chicago, March 1.—Inquiry among citizens of Waukegan, North Chicago and Zion reveals that there is widespread sympathy for the sitdown strikers at the North Chicago plant and elsewhere.

Without knowing anything about the real issues involved or the pertinent facts in the case, scores of persons, not members of any labor organization, upon being questioned warmly declared "they hoped the strikers would win."

There is more than ordinary significance in this attitude. It identifies a nation-wide state of mind shared by millions of persons throughout the country. Without realizing it these citizens have been gassed by subtle barrages of New Deal propaganda. For nearly five years they have been feeding on the fallacies of the New Deal. Their vision as to what constitutes real justice has become blurred. They are suffering from social indigestion.

May those courageous persons whose duty and privilege it is to cure this condition clearly understand the true nature of our national dilemma. It is a direct result of Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal, paid publicity men for the administration to the contrary notwithstanding.

PAUL DARROW PADDOCK.

PRECEDENT.

Clinton, Wis., Feb. 28.—Those who want our courts to render their decisions, not in accordance with the law but as the people demand, should not overlook a noted precedent. This case is recorded in St. Mark, chapter 12. Judge Pilate, who presided, could not find that Christ, who was on trial, had violated any law. Instead of deciding in accordance with the constituted law he referred the case to the will of the people and condemned Christ. I would call this case to the particular attention of our Washington friends who plan to go before the people with their clamor against the decisions of our Supreme court. Precedents are always of value.

THE WILL OF THE POPULACE.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 25.—I am writing, first, as a member of the colored race, and, second, as a member of the Illinois general assembly, to express my appreciation and gratitude for the editorial which appeared in your paper on Feb. 20, entitled "A Menace to the Negro."

I hope the time will never come when courts must express the will of the populace, for our rights as citizens are openly denied in all the south and certain sections of the north, and if the courts express the will of the people rather than the basic law we are doomed.

ERNEST A. GREENE.

THE FUTURE OF FREEDOM.

Chicago, March 2.—My mail this morning makes it seem advisable to correct some of the inaccuracies in your report of my remarks on "The Future of Freedom" at the Chicago Forum. The Roosevelt administration or the New Deal was not mentioned in either the lecture or the subsequent discussion. There was, therefore, no reference to the "labor policy" of any one at Washington at this time.

The main topic was the general trend to monopoly in all its varied manifestations, including trusts, employers' trade associations, tarifs, trade unions, and so forth. There was a specific effort to distinguish organizations on both the employers' and the employés' side that are a menace to the free enterprise system from those that are neutral or even helpful to it.

To describe this as criticism of the New Deal is certainly due to false focus. Mr. Roosevelt has indeed encouraged trade unions—and, in my judgment, this strengthens monopolistic tendencies—but have Republicans or "old deal" Democrats discouraged holding companies, corporate monopoly or tarif privilege?

Cultural and political freedom are dependent upon the continued existence of freedom of enterprise—and the "wells of freedom" are being "poisoned" by monopoly in America today, but did the process start in 1933? My principal thesis was precisely that the trend was backed by the Liberty league as well as by the trade unions, by Republican as well as Democratic policies. The old fashioned liberal faces a world in which the basic ideas of organized privilege, curtailed production and so-called "fair" competition are shared in both major parties. Today even "freedom of the press" is primarily invoked by those who in varying degree control the potential competition in their own trade.

AUTO LICENSES; A CONTRAST.

Celina, O., March 1.—Every now and then you carry some mention of the fact that Illinois is very lax in the matter of allowing last year's auto licenses to be used into the next year. Tonight when reading today's TRIBUNE one contributor gave me a real laugh when he even went so far as to say one Buick was still running the streets with a 1935 license. You do not get away with that kind of thing out here in Ohio.

You also are strong for the drivers' license. Well we have drivers' licenses out here, but I am blamed if I can see where they are doing anything except bleeding the motoring public the price of the license and making a small sum for the clerk issuing the licenses. People are getting killed and injured just as fast if not faster than they used to be. I think our law is still weak. I think the real way to handle all this would be to compel each motorist to have liability and property damage insurance to be obtained at the same time you get your license plates. You will say that that may put the insurance business in the hands of the state. It will not at all. Simply incorporate in law that the motorist must produce his insurance policy when obtaining his license plates. Let him get it from any insurance company he chooses.

URGE ELEVATION OF HIGHWAYS AS CITY TRAFIC AID

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Urbana, Ill., March 4.—[Special.]—The University of Illinois' twenty-fourth annual conference on highway engineering today was told of needs for trafic facilities that will aid and not hamper an orderly growth of cities. Chicago's proposed elevated highway system was cited as an example of the type of arterial roadway which would benefit a metropolitan area while stabilizing values in a central business district.

The speaker was Harland Bartholomew of St. Louis, Mo., a city planning engineer on the faculty of the university's school of engineering. His audience was composed of 300 state and county officials, engineers, contractors, and building material men.

Cites Congestion Hazards.

"In the past," Bartholomew said, "we have been building streets of uniform width and design from the center of a city to the outskirts of its suburbs. This construction has not been in keeping with requirements of trafic convenience and safety. We know that congestion and hazards increase as you approach the downtown district of a large city from the open country.

"In the past, we have been building grade separations at rural intersections outside the cities. Sound engineering and economics dictate that the grade separations should be built where most needed, in congested areas, and that for the larger cities arterials should be constructed with continuous grade separation, such as the elevated highway system proposed for Chicago."

Advocates Bypass Routes.

For small towns, he advocated bypass routes for the state highways. For small cities, he urged construction of alternate state highway routes.

A paper by F. N. Barker, director of the Illinois Highway Planning survey, reported that the most important cross state routes had pavements of antiquated design and were badly worn because they were the first slabs laid under the bond issue program.

Ernest Lieberman, chief of the Illinois highway department, made an address, pleading against any reduction in motorists' taxes that would curtail street and road construction.

FIVE MOTORISTS SENT TO JAIL AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Five motorists charged with driving while intoxicated were sentenced to serve jail terms of 9 to 20 days when they were arraigned before Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court yesterday. They are:

HERBERT DAY, 43 years old, 33 West 109th place, 20 days. On Feb. 20, his car struck and injured Mrs. Ellee Coffey, 41 years old, 4460 Oakenwald avenue, at 119th street and South Michigan avenue.

ALBERT SLATTERY, 36 years old, 1369 Estes avenue; 20 days. He drove his car into another parked at Chase avenue and Sheridan road.

ARNOLD C. WAGNER, 40 years old, 1158 Lyman avenue, Oak Park; 10 days, for driving through the opposite trafic lane and parking in the wrong direction at 14th street and Michigan avenue.

GEORGE THIGPEN, 30 years old, 819 Leland avenue: 10 days. He drove his car over the curb at Grace street and Sheridan road.

FERNANDO JONES, Negro, 32 years old, 3839 Cottage Grove avenue: 9 days, for erratic driving in East 41st street.

Fifty youthful speeders went through the county morgue and hospital yesterday on orders of Judge John Gutknecht of Trafic court to study the toll of reckless driving.

Pedestrian Faults

The American Automobile association's course for high school trafic safety instructors at the University of Chicago this week brought out that pedestrians are to blame for a large portion of the trafic toll. In Chicago 70 per cent of the fatalities are walkers and they are at fault in a majority of the accidents.

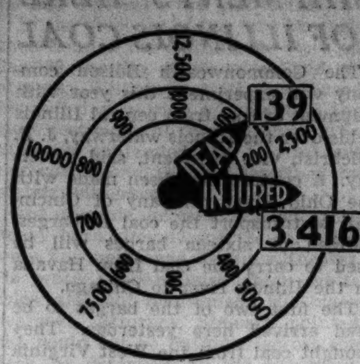
The driver has to allow for an extra margin of safety because the man or woman crossing the street may be [1] afraid and confused; [2] bewildered when alighting from cars or buses; [3] absent minded; [4] in a hurry—which is often suicidal; [5] ignorant of trafic rules; [6] falsely believing that signals are for automobiles only; [7] using poor judgment; [8] assuming bad attitudes of stubbornness, defiance, unfairness, or selfishness; or [9] falsely optimistic—trusting too much to luck or to the ability of the driver to avoid trouble.

13 Miners Killed in Battle with Soldiers in Tunisia

TUNIS, Tunisia, March 4.—(AP)—Thirteen miners were killed today in a revolver battle at Metlaoui with gendarmes, and soldiers sent to put down disorders in a mine.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1937 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

PASSENGERS ARE SHAKEN AS TRAIN HITS AUTO; 2 HURT

NorthWestern Locomotive Damaged by Truck.

Two truckmen were seriously injured last night when a North Western special passenger train struck their 20 ton trailer truck loaded with butter, eggs, and other produce at Harlem avenue and the Northwest highway.

The injured are Harry Martin, 30 years old, and John Dewar, 27, drivers for the Bonduel Produce company of Bonduel, Wis. They were taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital.

The train was taking 225 residents of Reedsburg, Wis., home after a tour of inspection of the International Harvester plant here. Some of them were shaken in the crash. Witnesses said men in the truck, north bound, disregarded whistles and drove in front of the train. There are flasher signals at the crossing, but no gates. The front of the engine was damaged by the collision and passengers waited an hour for another locomotive.

Baby Killed, Mother Hurt.

Mrs. Margaret Maluchnick, 19 years old, 8218 Houston avenue, carrying her infant son, Edward, 17 months old, in her arms, ran against the side of a moving truck in an effort to board a street car last night. The baby was killed. The young mother, was slightly injured. The accident occurred in front of 3427 East 95th street. The driver of the truck was Rudolph Bedford, 45 years old, of Toledo, O.

Molly West, 6 years old, 1018 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, daughter of H. Oliver West, an official of the United Air Lines, died last night in St. Anne's hospital of injuries suffered on Wednesday when she ran against the side of a moving automobile near her home. The driver was Walter Kroeger, 17 years old, 425 South Grove avenue, Oak Park, a high school pupil.

Frank G. Schejbal, 22 years old, 1921 Clarence avenue, Berwyn, was found drowned in his automobile yesterday. The car had plunged from a street car trestle into Salt creek, a tributary of the Des Plaines river, at Brookfield. There are no warning signs to indicate the end of the pavement, authorities said.

Charles Carlson, 75 years old, 5348 Christiana avenue, was killed last night when he was struck by a Surface line's bus at Berwyn and Kimball avenues.

Madison Perkins, 79 years old, Negro, 8016 South Michigan avenue, died in Provident hospital yesterday after being struck by an automobile in front of his home on Wednesday.

Policeman and Prisoner Killed.

Policeman Vance Cooper of Niles, Mich., and a colored Chicagoan believed to be James Crosby were killed shortly before midnight last night when they were struck by an automobile just outside Niles as Policeman Cooper was placing handcuffs on the Negro. The latter, a passenger on a bus out of Chicago, had threatened the bus driver with a knife, forcing the driver to let him out west of Niles. The driver notified police and a squad including Cooper arrested the colored man on the highway.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 176 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In the same period 139 persons were killed and 3,416 were injured within the city limits.

SON CLEARED IN SHOTGUN DEATH OF HIS FATHER

Chester, Ill., March 4.—[Special.]—Francis Blow, 24 years old, was exonerated today by a coroner's jury in the fatal shooting of his father, Louis Blow, 60 years old, at Prairie du Rocher last night.

Witnesses at the inquest testified the elder Blow had threatened to kill his divorced wife, Mrs. Olive Blow. The son was on guard at his mother's home when his father came there, presumably to carry out his threat. Francis Blow testified that when his father reached for his pocket as though to get a gun, he fired a shotgun blast, the full charge of which struck the elder Blow in the chest.

Blow was divorced from his wife six years ago and a court order was issued restraining him from molesting her or tresspassing on her property.

ARREST QUOTAS SET FOR POLICE IN TRAFIC DRIVE

Supervising captains of the police department yesterday set a monthly quota of arrest summonses for each of the 6,000 city policemen as a measure to reduce the automobile accident toll.

Patrolmen on beats, members of the stolen automobile detail, and all detectives must turn in ten summonses a month for violations of the city trafic ordinance. A 25 a month quota was set for plainclothes men driving their own cars and for all squad car members.

Policemen were busy last night looking up sections of the trafic ordinance which are seldom enforced. They found penalties are inflicted for driving with unnecessary noise, parking within 15 feet of a fire plug, parking under a fire escape, hitch-hiking or soliciting rides, parking double, parking all night, blocking a driveway, and parking more than six inches from a curb.

The maneuvers started in deep snow about 106 miles west of the capital with the soldiers in white uniforms. Tanks, guns, and airplanes were painted white and cavalrymen rode white horses.

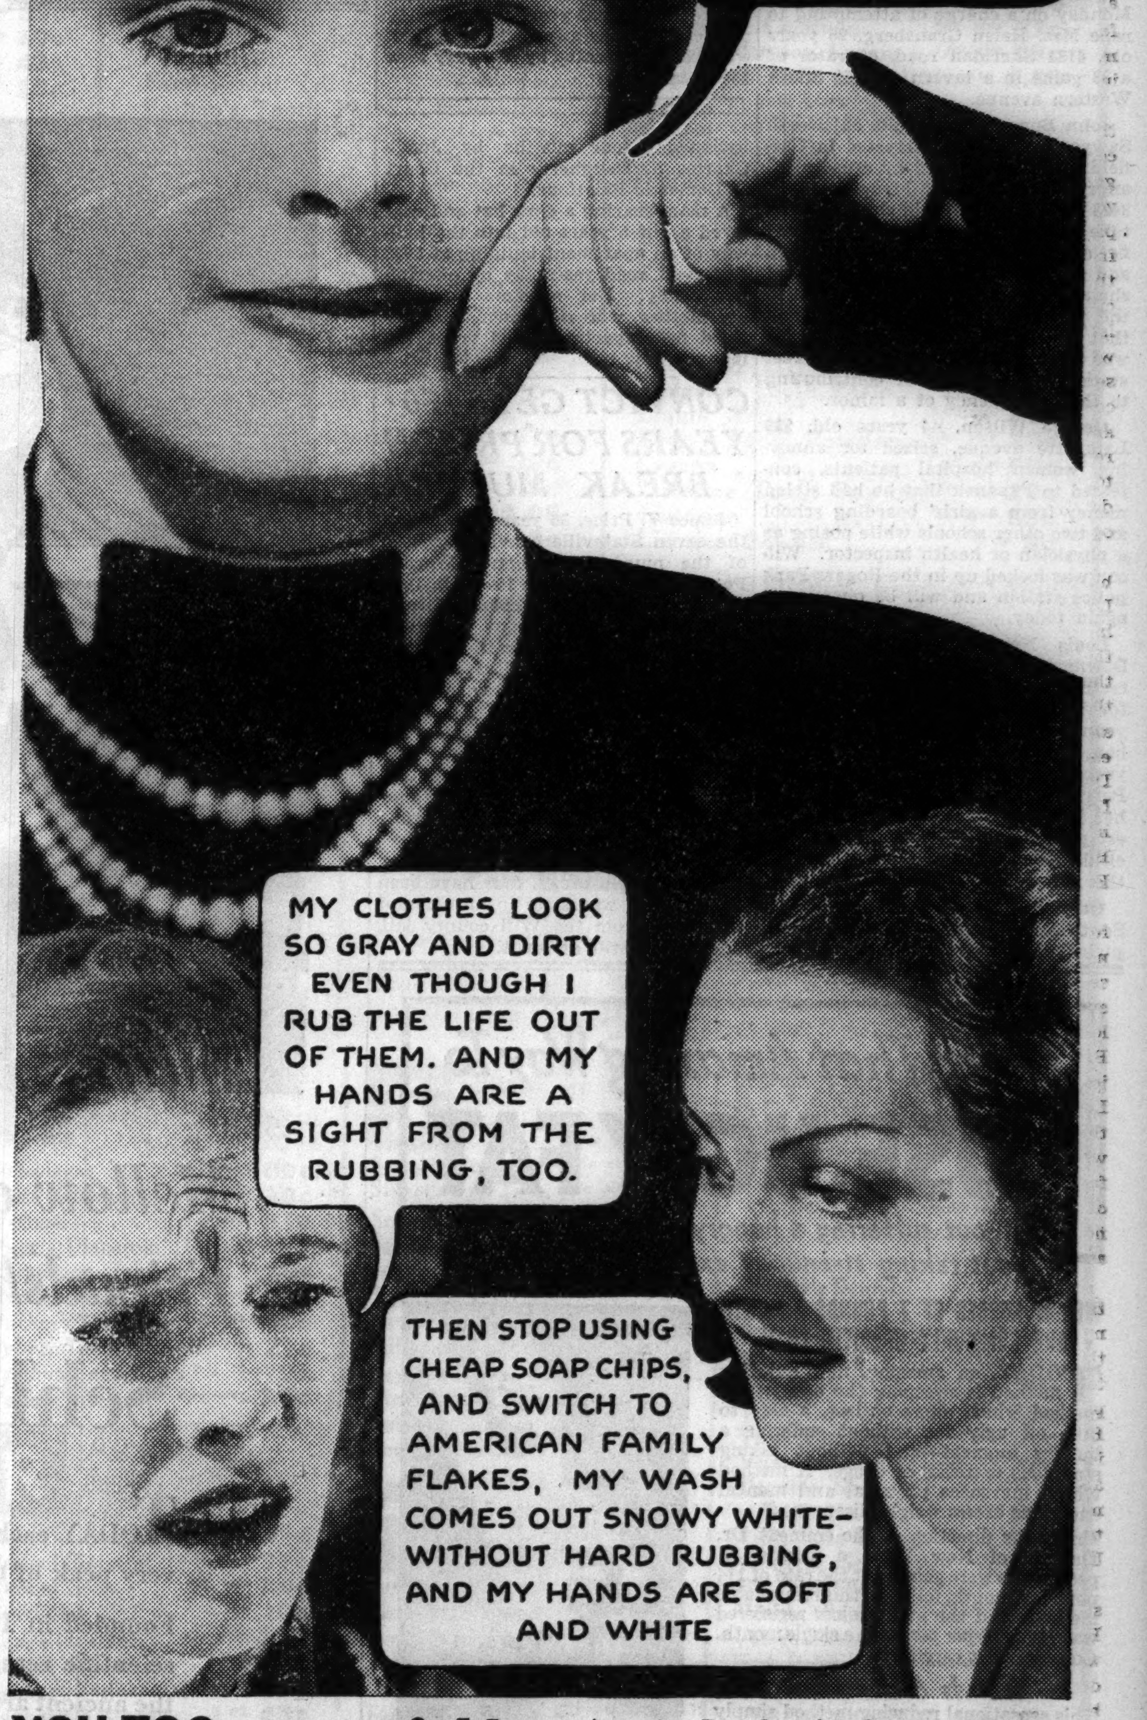
"I Fooled Myself For The Last Time about the economy of Cheap Soap Chips"



MY CLOTHES LOOK SO GRAY AND DIRTY EVEN THOUGH I RUB THE LIFE OUT OF THEM. AND MY HANDS ARE A SIGHT FROM THE RUBBING, TOO.
THEN STOP USING CHEAP SOAP CHIPS, AND SWITCH TO AMERICAN FAMILY FLAKES, MY WASH COMES OUT SNOWY WHITE—WITHOUT HARD RUBBING, AND MY HANDS ARE SOFT AND WHITE

YOU, TOO, can quickly prove it is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes . . .

If you would enjoy the thrill of the whitest, sweetest-smelling wash you have ever seen; if you would see ALL of your clothes and linens last far longer than you ever dreamed they would—then do what countless thousands of women do AND USE AMERICAN FAMILY FLAKES EXCLUSIVELY.

The wisdom of this is very plain. For most cheap soap chips depend upon harmful alkali or strong chemicals which take the very life out of clothes as they vainly try to get rid of dirt.

AMERICAN FAMILY FLAKES, ON THE OTHER HAND, DEPEND SOLELY ON THE PUREST, THICKEST, CREAMIEST SUDS YOU HAVE EVER SEEN TO KEEP CLOTHES BRILLIANTLY WHITE.

Amazing Results of Laboratory Tests

Laboratory tests prove that American Family Flakes contain more suds-making material than ordinary flakes, chips or powders. They dissolve almost the instant they hit the water. And they dissolve ENTIRELY and thus eliminate the danger of spotting fabrics.

But of even greater importance is the fact that their active, "DOUBLE SUDS" float out the grimiest dirt—without hard rubbing. This is why white fabrics come out with a new, snowy whiteness. Why colored fabrics retain their brilliance and beauty. Why ALL washables last much longer.

For over ninety years American Family has been the largest selling brand of soap in and around Chicago. Try American Family Flakes and you will quickly prove that you can't afford to use Cheap Soap Chips. That it IS cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes.

For dishwashing you will find American Family Flakes unexcelled—and that they leave your hands soft and smooth. Made by Procter & Gamble.

Head of Detective Agency Accused of Attack.

A flood of sex offense complaints was being investigated yesterday by the police and the state's attorney's office. Three prisoners, after questioning by Samuel Papanek, head of the state's attorney's new sex offense bureau, were ordered returned to cells in outlying police stations. One later was released on bond. Two others were arrested and another case was disposed of in court.

Ralph Prete.

The cases and yesterday's developments in each one:

The Rev. Albert B. Rutt, 57 years old, 6056 Ingleside avenue, acting pastor of a Chicago branch of Aimee Semple McPherson's Four Square Gospel church at 6636 Normal boulevard, was booked on charges of disorderly conduct by Englewood police after questioning by Prosecutor Papanek. Clifton J. Ryding, 22 years old, 1520 West 64th street, an elevator operator, accused the Rev. Mr. Rutt. The pastor was freed on bond last night.

Ralph Prete, 34 years old, 2620 Cermak road, head of the Ace Patrol service of the same address, was arrested. He had been sought since Monday on a charge of attempting to rape Mrs. Helen Gransberg, 26 years old, 4131 Sheridan road, operator of a 26 game in a tavern at 2001 South Western avenue.

John Bona, 80 years old, 534 North Sawyer avenue, was arrested in Garfield park, surrounded by a crowd of angry women. Mrs. Mary Buckley, 3423 Walnut street, said she saw Bona take a 4 year old girl into a vacant flat at 3436 Lake street. She followed and grappled with him. He fled and she and other women pursued him to the park. Bona denied to Papanek that he had mistreated the girl. He was booked at the Fillmore street station on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

George Wilson, 44 years old, 939 Lafayette avenue, seized for annoying women hospital patients, confessed to Papanek that he had stolen money from a girls' boarding school and two other schools while posing as a physician or health inspector. Wilson was locked up in the Rogers Park police station and will be questioned again today.

Louis Newell, 37 years old, of Downers Grove, a mechanic, was arrested by Englewood police last night for investigation on the story of a young woman who said he had raped her. She is Miss Margaret Perry, 24 years old, 411 East 62d street. Miss Perry told police that Newell forced her into his car, drove her to a forest preserve, and attacked her. Newell denied her story. He was held for the sex bureau.

Otto Socher, 20 years old, 2459 South Avers avenue, arrested on complaint of a nurse, was put on probation for four months by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the Court of Domestic Relations.

A man wearing a dark hat and coat lured a girl 5 years old into the hallway of an apartment building at 3038 Roosevelt road yesterday by offering her candy. Her screams attracted her mother, who ran down from her third floor apartment and drove the moron away.

ROBERT W. SPELLMAN GRANTED DIVORCE IN COURT AT WAUKEGAN

Robert W. Spellman, 348 East Scott street, Lake Forest, real estate and insurance broker, was granted a divorce yesterday from Mrs. Patricia Healy Spellman of Phoenix, Ariz. The decree was granted by Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan.

Mrs. Spellman is the daughter of Marquette A. Healy, former chairman of the board of Lyon & Healy. The Spellmans were married July 23, 1930, at Elkton, Md., after Mrs. Spellman won a divorce from Benjamin Dubois Frost, son of the late Dr. Edwin B. Frost, blind astronomer, who was director of Yerkes observatory.

Mr. Spellman testified that his wife left him on March 15, 1935, at Los Angeles. His brother, Raymond, declared that Mrs. Spellman often stayed out late at night, neglecting her husband and son, Raymond Marquette Spellman, 5 years old. Custody of the child was awarded the father, who was represented by Attorney Max Lidschin.

CONVICT GETS 150 YEARS FOR PRISON BREAK MURDER

James V. Price, 36 years old, one of the seven Stateville convicts accused of the murder of Deputy Warden Peter Klein in a prison break in 1926, pleaded guilty in Will county Circuit court at Joliet yesterday and was sentenced to 150 years in the penitentiary by Judge William R. Hunter.

"That will put you where the parole board can't reach you for a while," said Judge Hunter, after giving Price a choice between electrocution and 150 years. It is mandatory that a prisoner serve at least one-third of his term before being eligible for parole.

Of the seven who participated in the 1926 prison break, four have been hanged, one was slain in an attempt to escape from the Will county jail, and one is still at large.

EX-CAB DRIVER ROBS HIS EX-PALS; POLICE TRAP HIM

Robert L. Forrest, 26 years old, 2237 Warren boulevard, a former cab driver, was trapped by the police early yesterday as he was robbing Matthew Cozzi, 33 years old, 1047 Taylor street, a taxicab driver, of $4 in front of 3100 North Kolmar avenue.

As soon as he was arrested, Forrest confessed that he had robbed about twenty-five other cab drivers since he stopped working six weeks ago. He usually hired a cab downtown and directed the driver to the Kolmar avenue address, police said. Aware of this, they were waiting for him yesterday.

DIES AFTER A FALL.

Edward Brill, 78 years old, 5532 Monroe street, died in the Oak Park hospital yesterday as the result of a skull fracture incurred in a fall on Feb. 14.

DOCTOR INDICTED ON AMBULANCE RACKET CHARGES

Three true bills were reported to have been voted by the grand jury yesterday against Dr. John P. Crasseros, 35 years old, 4736 Magnolia avenue, who is being held by the state's attorney's office in connection with an alleged ambulance chasing racket.

The bills accused the doctor of perjury, subornation of perjury, and conspiracy. William B. Hall, 32 years old, 1740 Luna avenue, also was named in the perjury bill. He drove an automobile that collided with a street car at State and Cedar streets on Oct. 24, 1934. Billy Xenos, 38 years old, 5500 Ellis avenue, an ex-convict, was named with the doctor in the conspiracy charge.

No action was taken against Miss Pearl Schwolow, 21 years old, 1705 North Karlov avenue, who was in the automobile. In a suit against the street car company Dr. Crasseros testified that he treated her thirty times.

PLAN WATERWAY SHIPMENTS HERE OF ILLINOIS COAL

The Commonwealth Edison company will experiment this year with shipment of coal from central Illinois fields over the Illinois waterway, J. F. Gilchrist, vice president, said yesterday. A contract has been made with the Ohio River company of Cincinnati to transport the coal in barges. Fifteen or sixteen barges will be used to carry the coal from Havana on the Illinois river to Chicago.

The first two of the barges to be used arrived here yesterday. They brought coal from the West Virginia fields to the Consumers company.

Edward P. Callahan, lockmaster at the Lockport dam, said the coal barges, which came down the Ohio river to the Mississippi and then up to Grafton and through the Illinois waterway, were the first to come all the way up the waterway this season.

Here's That Amazing Way To LOSE UGLY FAT

Without suffering a hungry moment and without taking strenuous exercises or drugs

WEIGHT LOSSES OF 7 POUNDS A MONTH ARE COMMONLY CREDITED TO IT

TODAY, an amazing, new reducing method is sweeping the country. A method which offers at last, a way to take off ugly fat without suffering a hungry moment—and without taking strenuous exercises or drugs. A method which increases physical and mental energy as excess weight disappears.

Under the direction of the eminent Dr. Damrau of New York, a number of people who were gaining at the rate of 1⅔ pounds a month, followed this remarkable method. And the average loss registered was 7 pounds per person in a single month. Consider that carefully.

This Is All You Do

This sensational reducing method simply calls for this: Mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice, with ¼ of a glass of water, and drink before each meal—and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly, and this is what happens.

First, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies your craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to over-eat fattening foods—yet you do feel comfortably satisfied.

Second, the grape sugar in Welch's is quickly burned up—producing vital energy. And, most important, helps nature to consume excess fat.

Third, the juice has an alkalizing effect on the system which any doctor will tell you is highly beneficial.

This is why weight is not only lost naturally and safely—often at the rate of 7 pounds a month, or more—but why you feel so much better and stronger as your ugly fat disappears.

Only One Thing to Watch

In following this proved, SAFE way to lose ugly fat—eat sensibly—and be sure to use Welch's pure, aged, unadulterated full-strength grape juice. Made from the finest grapes grown. No water added; no artificial coloring. Good Housekeeping approved. Insist upon the genuine Welch's Grape Juice for the results you want.

WATCH YOUR HUSBAND'S WEIGHT

Insurance Companies warn about the dangers of overweight. For they have definitely proved that overweight places too much of a load on the heart, is often associated with such diseases as diabetes and kidney trouble—and shortens the normal span of life. Don't allow your husband to become overweight. Suggest this amazingly easy, pleasant, safe Welch way to reduce.

FIRST DIVISION'S LEADERS IN A.E.F. TO HOLD REUNION

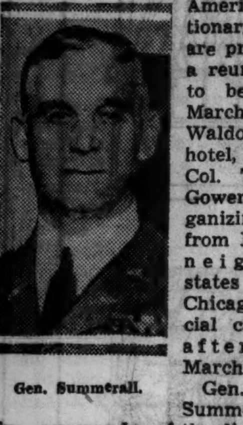
Two decades after their entrance into the world war, officers of the 1st division, American Expeditionary Forces, are preparing for a reunion dinner to be held on March 20 in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York. Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock is organizing a party from Illinois and neighboring states to leave Chicago in special cars on the afternoon of March 19.



Gen. Summerall.

Gen. Charles P. Summerall, war time commander of the division, more recently chief of staf, and now retired from the army, will speak. His subjects at previous similar reunions have been inspirationally patriotic.

It's Not All Serious.

"Don't get the idea that this meeting is entirely devoted to sober consideration of solemn national problems," said Col. Gowenlock. "Maybe it shouldn't be advertised, but it is a fact that a general can sing 'Hinky dinky parlez-vous' as well as a private.

"The big thrill for the 400 expected to attend is simply in seeing and talking with former comrades in arms. It's interesting to meet an associate of world war days, now gray of hair and with a thickened waistline, and to find that he is the same good fellow with whom you shared adventures in France.

"First division men really have much to remember. As you know, we were the first American division in France and the last combat division to leave Germany. We fired the first American shot in the world war, captured the first prisoners, and suffered the first casualties."

First Fighters from U. S.

At Cantigny, where Col. Robert R. McCormick of THE TRIBUNE was in command of the 6th field artillery, the 1st division was engaged in the first fighting by American troops. Its five days at Soissons is said to have turned the tide of the war. It also participated at Château-Thierry, St. Mihiel, Argonne, and the final advance on Sedan.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker and Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Bullard, the other two wartime commanders of the division, are expected to attend the dinner. Three sons of the late President Theodore Roosevelt will be there—Col. Theodore, Capt. Archie, and Maj. Kermit.

Col. Gowenlock has asked former officers of the division living in Chicagoland states to write to him at 1300 North State parkway for reservations in the special cars going to the dinner.

She Laughed as He Drew, and Now She Has a Divorce

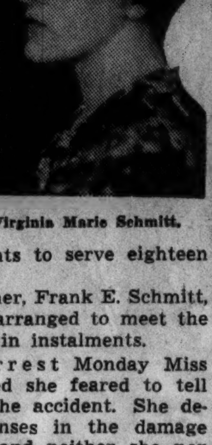
A year ago her husband, Richard, gave up truck driving for art, Mrs. Beverly E. Englund, 32 years old, 4426 Magnolia avenue, testified yesterday in Superior court. When she laughed at his drawings, Mrs. Englund said, he struck her, dislodging several teeth. Judge John C. Lewe granted Mrs. Englund a divorce, $10 a week alimony, and title to her husband's gasoline station, real estate, and the family automobile.

FATHER OF SIX SENTENCED.

Logansport, Ind., March 4.—[Special.]—Arthur Vaugh, 45 years old, father of six children, who was returned here from Clinton, Ill., was sentenced to from two to ten years in the state prison on a check forgery case today.

FATHER WHOM SHE FEARS GETS A GIRL DRIVER OUT OF JAIL

Miss Virginia Marie Schmitt, 19 years old, of 8643 South Paulina street, was freed yesterday from the county jail where she was incarcerated Monday to satisfy judgments totaling $655 obtained by three persons injured in an automobile collision in 1935. Miss Schmitt was liable under a malice count in the judgments to serve eighteen months in jail.



Virginia Marie Schmitt.

The girl's father, Frank E. Schmitt, paid $100, and arranged to meet the remaining $555 in instalments.

Upon her arrest Monday Miss Schmitt declared she feared to tell her father of the accident. She destroyed summonses in the damage suit, she said, and neither she nor her father, a co-defendant, appeared at the trial a year ago which ended in a default judgment.

DOWDELL'S FATE IN ASSAULT CASE DEADLOCKS JURY

2 Rape Charges Dropped by Prosecution.

A jury in the Criminal court was deadlocked last night after three hours of deliberating on the fate of Maxwell Dowdell, park district foreman accused of mistreating a 10 year old Rogers Park girl. At 11 p. m. Judge John J. Lupe, who presided over the trial, ordered the jury locked up for the night.

At that time the jurors were reported to be divided 7 to 5 in favor of a verdict of not guilty.

The jury was considering only one charge—taking indecent liberties, which on conviction carries a penalty of 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

Rape Charges Dropped.

Two other charges of rape and assault to rape were nol prossed by the state earlier in the day after Judge Lupe had ruled out of evidence Dowdell's signed confession.

Dowdell, a meek appearing man, 49 years old, of a type rarely seen as a defendant in the Criminal Court building, took the stand in his own defense yesterday to deny firmly that he had ever seen the girl victim.

In the presence of the jury Dowdell then donned the clothing he wore on Jan. 30, the day of the crime, and his attorney, William Scott Stewart, based his principal closing argument on the mute testimony of these clothes. The attorney contended the apparel did not correspond to that described by state's witnesses.

For example, he said, Dowdell wore heavy horn rimmed spectacles, which were not mentioned by the witnesses. He wore rubbers with thick white soles, also not mentioned. His black overcoat, Attorney Stewart pointed out, could not be buttoned across the neck, as described by the witnesses.

State Asks Prison Term.

"No doubt the girl was mistreated by a sex pervert," Stewart said, "but this case hinges solely on identification. Even the girl victim, who had the best opportunity to remember her attacker, admitted on the day after the crime she wasn't sure that Dowdell was the man."

Assistant State's Attorneys William Crawford and Leslie Curtis summarized the evidence against the defendant and urged the jury to send him to the penitentiary. They pointed out that three playmates of the girl and a colored maid had identified Dowdell from the stand as the man in the child's company just before she was attacked in the third floor hallway of the apartment building in which she lives.

The attacker posed as a "Dr. Johnson" and pretended to help the girl look for $3 which she had lost.

COMMONS BACKS 2 BILLION LOAN FOR ARMAMENTS

Churchill Warns England to Speed Defense.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 4.—The British government tonight won parliamentary approval to borrow 2 billion dollars to assist in financing the 7 billion 500 million dollar armament program over a five year period. The defense loan bill was passed on third reading in the house of commons by a vote of 241 to 117. It now goes to the house of lords.

Winston Churchill, Conservative leader who has played a leading part in urging that armaments be increased, held the spotlight in a debate with a demand for still greater sacrifices.

With the whole of Europe preparing for war, he argued, Britain is rearming too slowly and is taking a risk in not accelerating the program even at the expense of upsetting normal industry.

Churchill Sounds Warning.

Churchill scoffed at fears of the Labor party that the vast expenditure would upset British economy, and warned that the empire might not have time to complete its rearmament before war broke out. He spoke of "scores of millions of men and weapons" being prepared for war on the continent.

Churchill also sought to raise a spy scare. He said there are large numbers of foreigners in Britain, banded together in Nazi and Fascist organizations, who keep foreign general stafs well informed on British affairs.

He further expressed the conviction that the empire is facing a period as dangerous as any yet experienced, and concluded:

"I cannot understand why the government should imagine it can meet and ward off the armed menaces of other nations by going on in the present comfortable manner without demanding temporary sacrifices of comfort and changes in our way of living."

Earlier in the session it was announced that $410,870,000—an increase of $131,465,000—will be spent on the army in 1937.

This announcement of a budget expenditure for increasing the size and of reëquipping the army follows the announcement that the navy will require $525,325,000 to build up its strength. The budget estimates for the air force will be announced tomorrow.

Alfred Duff Cooper, secretary of state for war, in a memorandum accompanying the army budget estimates, said that the proposed increased expenditure is "due mainly to expansion and acceleration for bringing our military preparations up to date."

Explains Size of Army.

He explained that the regular army, as envisaged in the estimates, excluding units in India, will include 168,900 men, as compared with 158,000 last year and 186,000 in 1914.

The reserve army after April 1 will total about 122,000 men, and will rise to about 132,000 men by the end of March, 1938, continued Cooper's memorandum.

The war minister added that recruiting for the territorial army [which corresponds roughly to the United States' National Guard] still is disappointing.

He said that the territorial army in January totaled 7,870 officers and 133,000 troops.

Labor Unrest Perils Program.

LONDON, March 4.—(AP)—Labor unrest and reports of sabotage cast shadows over Great Britain's greatest peace time armament program today.

Labor leaders were reported ready to take advantage of the industrial boom accompanying the program with demands for a five day week and higher pay. A strike hit the Derby Rolls Royce aircraft engine plant. Over half of the 7,000 workers were idle.

A secret service investigation of conditions at several aircraft factories was started, following reports of apparent sabotage at a plant in Midlands. One plane was damaged.

EX-ILLINOIS U. CO-ED PROCLAIMED SULTANA; SULULAND NOW HAS 2

MANILA, March 4.—(AP)—Sululand had two sultanas as well as two sultans today, but leaders expressed hope their country will escape further bloodshed.

Princess Tarhata Kiram.

The newest sultana—a co-ed at the University of Illinois from 1919 to 1924, but not a graduate—is Princess Tarhata Kiram, wife of the crown prince. She was proclaimed sultana by Sultan Painal Abireen II., because the latter's wife, a commoner, could not be elevated to the throne.

The other sultana, Pangyan Hadji Piandao [also known as Princess Dayang Dayang], is the consort of the other sultan, Mohammad Amirul Umbra Amilbangsa. She asserts her late uncle, Sultan Jamalu'l Kiram, ordered her to retain the sultanate at all costs. Two sultanas are nieces and adopted daughters of the late sultan.

Many leaders are asking: "Why shouldn't Sulu be ruled in peace by two sultans?"

RUSSIAN BOY PLANNING CHICAGO GANG LIFE IS SENTENCED AS SLAYER

MOSCOW, March 4.—(AP)—Vladimir Lintin, 15 year old Russian who wanted to go to Chicago and become a gangster, was sentenced today to eight years in prison for fatally stabbing his mother.

Victor Sokolov, 15 years old, an accomplice, received a five year sentence. Vladimir's father was charged with criminally neglecting his son's education. Vladimir's testimony that he conceived the crime after reading American detective stories was corroborated by psychologists and physicians.

He declared he wanted to go to Chicago, organize a gang with "the assistance of politicians and policemen," and "get rich." He knifed his mother in the back, he testified, rifled her household expense fund, and set out, only to be captured.

250,000 'Air Wardens' to Guard Britain from Raids

LONDON, March 4.—(AP)—Britain will enroll at least 250,000 volunteer "air wardens" to sound alarms in case of air raids, the house of commons learned today from Geoffrey Lloyd, undersecretary for home affairs. The wardens' duties, in addition to sounding air raid alarms, will be to advise inhabitants of precautions to prevent injury and death.

FAMILY TO LIVE IN HEN HOUSE.

Bloomington, Ill., March 4.—[Special.]—The A. J. Utley family, whose seven story home and contents on the outskirts of Bloomington burned early Tuesday, plans to live in a concrete hen house on the farm temporarily, Mr. Utley said today.

FINNISH FRIGATE VISITS U. S. ON TRAINING CRUISE

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—The Finnish naval training frigate Suomen Joutsen [Swan of Finland], a silver colored full rigged ship with the lines of a racer, slipped into the harbor today carrying 184 officers, cadets, and crew, now about half way on a training cruise that started Nov. 2 at Helsingfors.

It was the first time in history that the Finnish naval ensign has appeared in American waters and Commander John W. Konkola, her commander, said he was proud to be the first Finnish naval officer to bring a vessel of his country to an American port. He and his men were thrilled, he said, at their first sight of "the world's finest harbor."

The Suomen Joutsen came into the harbor propelled by her twin 200 horsepower Diesel engines, with her canvas furled.

PEGGY GARCIA GETS OUT OF JAIL FOR STAGE DEBUT

Court Cuts Her Bail; She Longs for Bath.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—Peggy Garcia, the blonde "hill billy" hat check girl from Virginia who sought $500,000 from David Rubinoff, fiddling idol of the radio audience, for breach of promise and seduction tonight, walked out of jail and into a career on the vaudeville stage.

Representatives of a Brooklyn theater where Peggy will make her debut Sunday laid two crisp $500 bills on the counter in the woman's house of detention for the girl's $1,000 bail on a bigamy charge and she was released. Charges of blackmail, extortion and perjury in connection with the Rubinoff case that the police and district attorney's office have tried to peg on Peggy apparently vanished in thin air.

Peggy Longs for Bath.

Edgar Allen, Broadway promoter who handled the vaudeville venture of Frances "Peaches" Browning after she broke with Edward "Daddy" Browning, several years ago, was waiting with open arms for Peggy. Miss Garcia had spent a week in the woman's prison, in the heart of Greenwich village. Peggy said that all she wanted out of life at the moment was a bath.

Peggy will be billed under the title of "A Message from Garcia," a paraphrase of Elbert Hubbard's masterpiece that Allen thought was "terrific." The idea was his own. She will tell her audiences of her experiences and sing. She has a voice that Allen described as "a sort of a soprano." The act will be put on in the theaters in the eastern circuit, but may not reach Chicago.

Has Fear of Chicago Mayor.

"I hear the mayor out there kicked out 'Tobacco Road,'" Allen explained. "You gotta be careful of Chicago."

Peggy's release was effected by an order of Justice Salvatore Cotillo in the Supreme court reducing the bail from $2,000 to $1,000. The bigamy charge is based on a child marriage Peggy reputedly contracted at the age of 11 years and 2 months, in Salem, Va., in March of 1925. Without nullifying this marriage, Peggy went to the altar again in 1936 with Michael La Rocca, Astoria tombstone salesman, according to the charge.

It was the unearthing of the child marriage by Rubinoff's investigators that brought about the collapse of Peggy's breach of promise suit. It is said the fiddler spent $50,000 on his fight against the suit.

Arguing on a writ of habeas corpus, Attorney Daniel Jacobson told the court that the child marriage was void because Virginia laws did not recognize wedlock before a girl reaches the age of 12 years.

Studies Law of 1604.

"As far as this indictment for bigamy is concerned," said Judge Cotillo, "as early as 1604 legislation in England provided that a person marrying a second time, whose wife or husband had been continually absent for seven years last past and had not been known to be living, could not be convinced of bigamy.

"A similar provision limiting the period of absence to five years was adopted by the state of New York in 1788. The penal law provides that the crime of bigamy shall not extend to such a person."

Edwin Talley, assistant district attorney, argued that the bail was not excessive because the defendant was not a New Yorker and might go back to her native hills in Virginia. The judge said nonresidents of New York should not be discriminated against and cut the bail in half. The first smile in several days broke out on Peggy's face.

Ideal Chorus Girl

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 4.—[Special.]—A Viennese girl, Mildred Rehn, was announced today by Dave Gould, film dance director, as meeting his standard for the ideal chorus girl of 1937. She is blonde and 5 feet 6 inches tall. Gould says the trend toward period costumes for chorus girls instead of nudeness requires taller girls with more poise and intelligence.

F. L. Maytag Goes to Hospital for Examination

Los Angeles, Cal., March 4.—[Special.]—F. L. Maytag, 79 years old, chairman of the board of Maytag Wash Machine company of Newton, Ia., was removed to the Good Samaritan hospital today. His physician said he needed "several days of good rest, and permit a physical examination." At the Maytag Beverly Hills home where he has been staying with a sister, and at his office headquarters here, it was insisted that Mr. Maytag has not been ill.

STATE DROPS ITS FOUR REMAINING ZINTAK CHARGES

Ousted Court Clerk Plans to Stay in Politics.

Frank V. Zintak.

The end of the state's unsuccessful effort to convict Frank V. Zintak of embezzlement came yesterday when four remaining charges against him were nol prossed before Judge Benjamin P. Epstein in Criminal court. Zintak was ousted as clerk of the Superior court last Sept. 15 and was indicted for $26,500 embezzlement on five counts. His two trials on the first count ended first in jury disagreement and then in acquital.

The former court clerk appeared before Judge Epstein yesterday accompanied by his brothers, Andrew and Leo, and his lawyer, Benedict J. Short. Zintak smiled broadly as he heard the nol pros announcement.

Plans to Stay in Politics.

"I am a ward committeeman now," he promptly asserted, "and I intend to continue active in politics. We've got a few years to go before we get any action, but I intend to run for office again."

Last Oct. 1 Zintak repaid $25,639 to the county, and on Nov. 4 his first trial on a count of embezzling $10,500 began before Judge Robert C. O'Connell in Criminal court. It dragged out for twenty-four days. The jury deliberated for forty-one hours before it was discharged. Zintak went to trial on the same count on Jan. 25 and was acquitted in eight days.

Advised by Prosecutor.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles McNamara told the court yesterday that Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright, who conducted the prosecution in Zintak's two trials, had instructed him to drop the remaining cases.

Racket Prosecutor Gets Medal for N. Y. Service

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—Thomas E. Dewey, special prosecutor of rackets, received the gold medal of the Hundred Year association at its ninth annual dinner tonight. The medal is awarded annually for "the outstanding contribution to the welfare of the city in the preceding year." Mr. Dewey has pointed the only way in which the burden of racketeering may be lifted from the long suffering public, and that is by vigorous, fearless, resourceful prosecution of racketeers, Alexander R. Sharton, association president, said.

FLOOD THREATS END AT GALENA AS RISE HALTS

Galena, Ill., March 4.—[Special.]—The flood danger in this region abated tonight as the Galena river halted its rise at a crest of 22.88 feet. The crest was nearly five feet below that of Feb. 21, when three lives were lost and much damage was done.

A few persons were forced from their homes by high water that inundated a small part of the city. Damage was relatively light, however, many merchants having moved their stocks when heavy rains continued yesterday.

Steady rains forced streams out of their banks in Green and Lafayette counties in Wisconsin, ice jams adding to the congestion. Part of Darlington, Wis., was flooded and much damage done to roads in that vicinity.

The flood threat in the Beloit, Wis., sector was believed over for the spring. Ice jams that have remained in the Rock river north of the city for two weeks went out following an inch of rain last night. A jam at the railroad bridge was broken up with dynamite.

YOUTH BETRAYS COURT'S TRUST; SHOT IN FLIGHT

Anton Ciezopka.

Judge J. M. Braude, who presides in Boys' court, follows a policy of leniency in most of the cases before him. Yesterday two boys who benefited from his leniency figured in the news.

One of them is John Ciezopka, 17 years old, who lay near death in the Bridewell hospital from a policeman's bullet. Young Ciezopka appeared in Boys court on Feb. 23, charged with armed robbery. Judge Braude placed him on six months' probation.

Early yesterday Ciezopka's father, Anton, telephoned the police that he feared his son had taken part in a burglary. John had come home with a radio, a canary in a cage, and a pair of electric hair clippers, the father said. Policemen Edward Oates, Edward Smurowski, and John McVeigh went to the Ciezopka home at 4844 South Seeley avenue to investigate.

Struck by Second Shot.

They roused the boy from his bed. He asked permission to wash. When that was granted he ran out of the front door. Policeman Smurowski ordered him to stop and fired a warning shot in the air. The boy kept on running. Then the policeman fired a second shot, which struck the fugitive in the back of the head.

Later the police arrested Matthew Stefaniak, 17 years old, at his home, 4305 South Marshfield avenue. He confessed that he and the Ciezopka boy had looted a hardware store at 4518 South Ashland avenue, taking $10 in change, the radio, and hair clippers. They stole the canary, he said, from a department store at 47th street and Ashland avenue on Monday.

The second beneficiary of Judge Braude's leniency was Robert Fennessy, 19 years old, 5615 South Sangamon street. His first appearance in Boys' court was on Dec. 28, when he was charged with intoxication. Judge Braude placed him on six months' probation.

On Feb. 3 Fennessy was arrested again, this time on charges of drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident at 75th street and Cottage Grove avenue. Yesterday he stood again before the bench in Boys' court.

Judge Braude, mindful that this was a second offense, sentenced him to five days in the Bridewell for drunken driving. The second charge of leaving the scene of an accident was continued to March 9, on which date, Judge Braude indicated, he would again place the youth under the supervision of the court.

Lenient on First Offense.

Not only boys get the benefit of Judge Braude's policy, but sometimes men. The court was established to hear cases involving offenders less than 17 years old, but whenever such cases also involve men of any age the Municipal court rules provide they shall be tried with their boy companions in Boys' court.

Such a case was that of John Muzar, 24 years old, 4527 Laflin street, who tried to hold up a tavern at 4504 Justine street and was caught with his juvenile associate. Mazur was arraigned before Judge Braude on Wednesday. His young wife, mother of a 4 month old girl, told the judge he worked hard and turned over his pay to her each week.

It was a serious charge, but also a first offense. Judge Braude sentenced him to six months in jail but, because of the wife's plea, said he would consider vacating the sentence on March 25.

JAPS CHARGE BRITISH PLAN TO FORTIFY ISLE OFF SOUTHERN CHINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 4.—Japanese today charged that British plans to finance development of Hainan Island, off South China, "is detrimental to far eastern peace."

The reason, it was said, is that "the British interest does not spring from economic considerations. Consequently, the British interest is solely in the military value of the island, the fortification of which would greatly enhance the strategic value of the British colony at Hongkong. Britain's construction of an airdrome on Hainan Island will facilitate air trafic between Hongkong and Singapore," Britain's great naval and air base in the far east.

The Island of Hainan is off the southern tip of Kwangtung province, South China, and front on the Gulf of Tongking which washes the northern shores of French Indo-China.

MOTHER OF 18 IS FIFTH CONVICTED IN SLAYING PLOT

Bridegroom Is Killed to Get $3,000 Estate.

Elkader, Ia., March 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Minnie Hines, mother of eighteen children, was convicted today of second degree murder in the marriage plot slaying of Dan Shine, 60 year old farmer of Clayton county.

A District court jury deliberated for 22 hours and 15 minutes and took twenty-eight ballots before reaching a verdict. The 54 year old defendant faces a sentence of 10 years to life. The state had demanded the death penalty.

Mrs. Hines was the fifth person convicted in the killing of Shine last May 5, only a week after he had married Mrs. Hines' niece, Pearl Hines, 28, who had been his housekeeper.

Suicide Scene Laid.

The elderly bridegroom's body, his head torn by a shotgun blast, was found in a closet of his home after his bride had reported him missing. A string attached to the shotgun trigger and entwined around Shine's fingers first gave the appearance of suicide. But bloodstains outside the closet door indicated murder.

Arrests followed quickly and the bride confessed her part in the crime. The state said the plotters sought to have Pearl acquire Shine's property, valued at about $3,000, through her husband's death so she could settle obligations of the Hines family. Then she planned to marry her harmonica playing boy lover, Maynard Lenox, 19, of East Dubuque, Ill.

Following Shine's marriage to Pearl, a buxom, red haired woman who had made two previous trips to the altar, they spent their honeymoon visiting night spots around Dubuque. Then the honeymooners and hangers-on returned to Shine's 160 acre farm near Littleport to continue the celebration.

Bridegroom Beaten Severely.

On May 5, just a week after the marriage, Shine was given a brutal beating by his in-laws and guests when they quarreled over money the conspirators sought from him, according to the story told by the state.

Jim Hines, 27 year old common-law husband of the 54 year old mother found guilty today, knocked the old man down and Albert [Deke] Cornwell, Manchester junk dealer, hit him on his head with a beer bottle.

Then they dragged his unconscious form to the closet, leaving the telltale blood stains on the way, and killed him with a charge from a shotgun.

All Plotters Convicted.

All the persons who took an active part in the plot were arrested and sentenced. A harmonica found at the Shine home implicated young Lenox, who admitted he had two great weaknesses, Pearl and his mouth organ.

Shine's bride, "marrying Pearl," was sentenced to life, and her boy lover, Lenox, to a 40 year term on their pleas of guilty. Cornwell was convicted by a jury and his punishment fixed at life imprisonment. Hines, the common-law husband, was found guilty of second degree murder in January and is awaiting sentence.

BRAUDE ORDERS INQUIRY ON JURY QUIZ FOR YOUTH

An investigation of the reasons for taking Hobart Smith, 19 years old, before the grand jury before arraigning him in the Boys' court was ordered yesterday by Judge Joseph M. Braude of that court, who continued the case until March 11. Smith, an Indiana university sophomore, was reported named in a true bill Wednesday charging assault to kill and to rob.

The youth was seized on the roof of the Stevens hotel Feb. 26 after throwing an ash tray which struck Miss Mary J. Ausman, a public school teacher, who lives in the hotel and was playing a piano in the top floor recreation room. Smith told Judge Braude he didn't know why he did it. His home is in Bloomington, Ind.

MACKENZIE KING ON WAY TO TALK OF SEAWAY PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada will arrive here tomorrow to discuss matters of mutual interest to the United States and Canada with President Roosevelt.

W. L. MacKenzie King.

He comes on his second visit to the White House since his election to office eighteen months ago, at the invitation of the President. The first visit resulted in speeding the negotiation of the reciprocal trade treaty with Canada a year ago.

The administration hopes the second visit will result in agreement on a revised St. Lawrence waterway treaty which might pass the United States senate. The consummation of such a treaty has been an aim of Mr. Roosevelt since he was governor of New York state.

Lessening Opposition Seen.

The President has received reports that chances for passage of the treaty have improved slightly. In the United States several opponents of the proposed pact went down to defeat in the November election. In Canada Premier Hepburn of Ontario, one of the chief foes of the treaty, is reported to have indicated he might change his mind if it can be shown that the project is necessary to Ontario.

Mr. Roosevelt submitted the waterway and power treaty to the senate in 1934 with a request for the prompt ratification. Opposition centered in the midwest. Among objections were provisions limiting the diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago to 1,500 cubic feet a second; the requirement that the United States use Canadian labor and materials for work on the Canadian side, to be paid largely by American money, and the fact that the power developed would chiefly benefit New York state.

The proposal was defeated by a vote of 46 to 42, far short of the two-thirds vote required for the ratification of a treaty. No attempt was made to resubmit the treaty in 1935 or 1936, although the state department conducted negotiations looking toward revision of the treaty.

Negotiations Conducted.

Last summer, on his good will tour of Canada, Mr. Roosevelt attempted without result to sell Canadians on major revisions. Canada set itself squarely against major changes. In the last few months negotiations on minor revisions were concluded and the administration was reported to be ready for resubmission of the treaty.

It is believed that the President invited the Canadian prime minister here to make a final attempt to get more favorable concessions on being advised that Canadian opposition is lessening.

Trade Also to Be Topic.

The prime minister is also expected to discuss trade relations and neutrality during his stay here. From the standpoint of the British empire, the relations of Canada and the United States in any future war involving the empire are of paramount importance.

Favorable trade relations between the United States and Canada might free England of any inconvenience which she might suffer under the American neutrality program.

AUGUST'S SHIRT AND HAT SOLVE FREIGHT THEFTS

Four men were locked up at the detective bureau last night and a series of freight car burglaries were solved because August Steinacker, 30 years old, 340 West 56th place, wore a hat and a shirt which was part of the loot. Steinacker named Wilbert Langer, 24 years old, 6533 South Carpenter street, as his associate in the robberies. Langer was arrested and admitted he was on parole after serving a term in the Waupun, Wis., prison for a similar robbery. Police also arrested William E. [Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

With 94 of 124 seats accounted for, the Laborites won 56 against 38 held by the Municipal Reform party [Conservatives]. Unless there is an unexpected landslide either way in the contest for the 30 remaining seats, the composition of the council will be virtually unchanged. In the old municipal government the Laborites held 69 seats against the Conservatives' 55.

Three other parties—the Fascists, Liberals, and Independents—participated in the elections, but failed to win a single seat in tabulation of the vote so far.

SYNOPSIS.

Adrian Somervell and Diana Lake become engaged when the young scientist learns he is heir to the fortune of his late stepmother, Rose Somervell, ex-star of the theater, who was Diana's godmother. Until shortly before her death Adrian and she had been estranged. Adrian had lunched with her shortly before her death, with Nicholas Blundell, wealthy bachelor solicitor, who lived in the London flat below Rose. Blundell's neurotic secretary, Elsie Dilworth, was madly in love with Adrian, who'd repulsed her. She'd called during the luncheon on business. Blundell is Diana's godfather. She always disliked him. An autopsy reveals that Rose was poisoned. Then Diana's actress mother, Margaret Fairlamb, is murdered. Robbery is thought to be the motive. Adrian is arrested. Remnants of the poison which killed Rose are found in his pocket. Blundell persuades Diana to move to Rose's flat. He obtains a lawyer for Adrian. Diana sees Elsie Dilworth, who has left Blundell's employ, return and search the premises. Diana hires a private agent, Mortimer Bream. Watching Elsie's lodgings he sees an East Indian trying to break into the girl's room. Inspector Headcorn, assigned to the investigation of Diana's mother's murder, believes there is a link between the two murders. He discovers a secret stairs between Diana's flat and Blundell's. The East Indian is found dead, apparently a suicide. Diana receives a package of newspapers from Elsie, which she states contain clews to the murder. Then Elsie commits suicide. Lord Limpsfield and Sir Norbury Penge, who Blundell stated were at his home the night Margaret Fairlamb was murdered, are questioned and confirm Blundell's alibi. Adrian is tried and sentenced to death. Diana and Dr. Colin Ladbroke, a friend of Adrian's, search Rose's flat for further clews and find an old will made by Rose in Blundell's favor. Diana grows queerly ill after smoking cigarets. Unknown to her Colin takes some to have analyzed. When Colin leaves Diana sees Blundell return with Lord Limpsfield and Sir Norbury, and creeps down the secret stairs to listen. Blundell discovers Diana.

INSTALMENT XLVII.

DRUGGED CIGARETS.

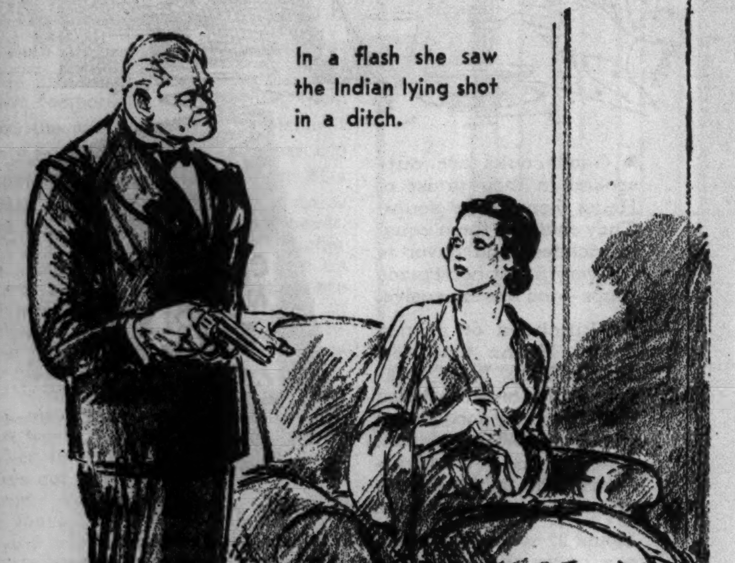
Lord Limpsfield motioned curtly to Sir Norbury.

"Penge, get the documents."

The minister of arterial highways feebly shook his head. Diana thought he was going to be sick. Limpsfield let him be, strode heavily behind the bookcases, and returned with a burden of papers which he fitted into the brief case Blundell held ready for him.

The flat door banged, and as the reverberation shook the standard lamp another noise became audible. From afar off it sounded, the faint, clear trilling of a telephone. Colin, perhaps. . . .

She sat listening. Blundell, close by her, did the same, one eye cocked aloft. For a minute or longer the ringing continued, then stopped. If it was Colin, he had given up trying to get her. Now he would wait till morning, by which time she would be dead. When she saw Blundell remove the heavy service revolver from his pocket and heft it thoughtfully, she spoke at last.



In a flash she saw the Indian lying shot in a ditch.

"You won't shoot me," she said. "You might get rid of my body, but what about the blood?"

"It's been done before," he replied, "with a clear verdict of suicide. Why should they question it in your case?"

In a flash she saw the Indian lying shot in a ditch.

"Still, it's not my choice," said her godfather amicably, "I'll make use of it only if you force me. Don't move, now, will you?"

Transferring the revolver to his left hand he walked crab-wise, towards the brass bound cellarette. On the far side of it he stooped over, still watching her, and removed something from its interior. When he came back all she noticed was a small bulge in the right hand pocket of his dinner coat, and a clumsily carved teak wood box which she knew usually stood on the table. This he extended to her, open.

"Have a cigaret?"

She refused.

"No?" He raised his odious brows till the furrows of yellowed skin ran into his low growing mane, the creases in his cheeks deepened, and he began to chuckle. "Perhaps it's as well. I will, though."

He selected a cigar from his case, lit it, and drawing forward an armchair, lowered his thick body into it and leant forward.

"Now, then, before doing anything hasty," he said, "let's clear up a few wrong notions, shall we? For a start, you think you've got the best of old Nick—don't you? If you were free, that is."

"The truth is, you don't know anything, you couldn't prove anything, not if you swore on a stack of Bibles. I tell you this: Nothing can be proved against Nick Blundell. If I'm sending you out, it's for a different reason—the same reason I sent her out, and the other three. Tomorrow morning, when you're found, Nick'll be as safe as houses. The execution will go forward per schedule, and not a human soul will ever know you were fool enough to spring a trap on me, except those two who've just gone out, and they won't split! No bloody fear!" He laughed till it was necessary to wipe the moisture from his eyes. "Not even when I tell them the little joke I played on 'em a short time back. They won't think it's funny, but they'll keep their mouths shut. Wouldn't be healthy not to.

He leant forward still closer. His old face had sharpened, there was a gleam in his three cornered eyes Diana had never seen in them before.

"Rose," he said gruffly. "You're thinking she meant to hold this business over my head, blackmail me, or put me in quod. Nothing like it! You're miles out. Rose wouldn't have harmed a hair of my head. I wouldn't have harmed her, if she'd not been the woman she was. I want you to get this straight, so listen. It happened like this. . . ."

* * * * * *

On the topmost floor of the Prince Regent hospital, Colin burst without ceremony into a brilliantly lit room where a dusty haired man sat hunched over a microscope. Amongst the litter of test tubes and slides he planked down a packet of cigarets.

"I've a job for you, Pilcher. Chuck that, and hump yourself! These gaspers are for analysis. I've a notion they're doped. Do look lively!"

"Clear off. These slides must be done by morning or there'll be a hell of a row."

Colin leant over and spoke straight into the analyst's face.

"Do you want to save Somervell from hanging?"

"Somervell?" Pilcher blinked, perturbed. "What's the idea?"

"Get busy with these and I'll tell you. How long will it take?"

Well, come back in a couple of hours. That do you?"

"It'll have to. Here, wait! Give me three of those fags. I'm going to smoke 'em and when I've finished I want you to ask me to write my name on this envelope. O—and make me tell you how many notes you've written on that pad."

Colin placed one of his three cigarets between his lips and lit it. The other two, together with his matches and fountain pen, he laid on the table, then seated himself and inhaled deeply. Pilcher resignedly polished his microscope lens and proceeded with his peering. From time to time he paused to jot down a figure, or to fit in a new slide.

Soon Colin felt an agreeable drowsiness steal over him. He yawned, noticed his cigaret was all but ended, and lit a second from the stump.

"Ladbroke! What ho! Were you napping?"

Colin jerked forward in his chair, rubbed his eyes, and after an appreciable interval replied testily: "Napping? My hat! I'm smo——" He glanced at his right hand, sat musing another long moment, and muttered: "No, I've smoked the lot. Unless you pinched one?"

Colin stared at the signature held before him. It was his own.

"Now, then," resumed Pilcher, "how many times did I put down a note?"

"O, I kept count! Three times since I sat down."

Pilcher showed him nine entries, ringed round to separate them from the rest. Colin looked, remained seated, and presently began rubbing his hands together. His skin was very dry. Slowly he got up, went to the mantel where a small mirror hung, and studied his pupils.

"Slight dilation." He counted his pulse. "John," he said, yawning heavily. "I rather believe I'm right. You've heard of this before, haven't you?"

"I've not come across it, though. You still want the analysis?"

"Obviously. God knows where it'll get us. Maybe nowhere, but . . . hell! I must get into the air. What's the time now?"

"Ten to twelve."

SEVERAL TYPES OF SUGAR USED IN THE KITCHEN

Cooking Editor Describes Principal Kinds.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Sugar isn't just sugar. The cook who thinks so may find herself in difficulties. If she uses confectioner's sugar in a recipe calling for powdered sugar she may have trouble, but if she uses either of these sugars as a substitute for granulated sugar she's almost certain to have trouble. And to substitute corn sugar cup by cup for beet or cane sugar won't work at all, for the latter sugar is much lighter and less sweet than the others

The average cook most frequently uses granulated white sugar, confectioner's white sugar, light brown sugar, and dark brown sugar. But it is possible to obtain many sugars of intermediate grain and color. The largest use is for granulated sugar, which is such an important ingredient in baked goods. Confectioner's sugar, a pulverized sugar to which a small amount of cornstarch has been added to prevent the formation of lumps, is used chiefly for icings and candies. It often is confused with powdered sugar, which is merely a very fine granulated sugar, used also in making sweets or in "frosting" glasses to make summer drinks more appetizing.

Light brown sugar is used most for puddings and baked goods to give a butterscotch flavor. Dark brown sugar has a molasses taste and is used in baked beans and in various other dishes and baked sweets which need the stronger molasses flavor.

An assortment of sugars is a wise investment for any housewife. At the minimum her shelves should contain granulated, powdered, and confectioner's white sugar, light and dark brown. It is possible to purchase a confectioner's brown sugar for use in uncooked frostings, too. Another convenience is a sugar-cinnamon mixture for cinnamon rolls and cinnamon toast which is purchasable.

Almond Wafers.

⅝ cup vegetable shortening
⅔ cup powdered [not confectioner's] sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Cream shortening and sugar together, stir in beaten egg and flavoring. Add sifted dry ingredients and chill. Roll out in a thin sheet on a floured board and cut into fancy shapes. Sprinkle with finely chopped almonds or decorate with bits of candied cherries and strips of angelica. Bake in a 375 degree oven until brown. These cookies must be watched carefully, as they burn rather easily.

Chocolate Sweet Butter Cake Filling.

⅓ pound sweet butter
1 cup confectioner's sugar
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and sugar until light and well blended. Melt chocolate. Cool and add to the creamed mixture. Add vanilla. Spread between layers and over cake.

Panoche.

2½ cups light brown sugar
1 tablespoon light corn sirup
1 tablespoon butter
¾ cup evaporated milk
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup chopped black walnuts [or other nuts]
1 teaspoon vanilla

Boil first five ingredients to soft ball stage [237 degrees], stirring constantly. [Soft ball stage comes at a higher temperature with brown sugar than with white.] Cool before beating. Add nuts and vanilla just before candy thickens and is ready to be poured into buttered pans.

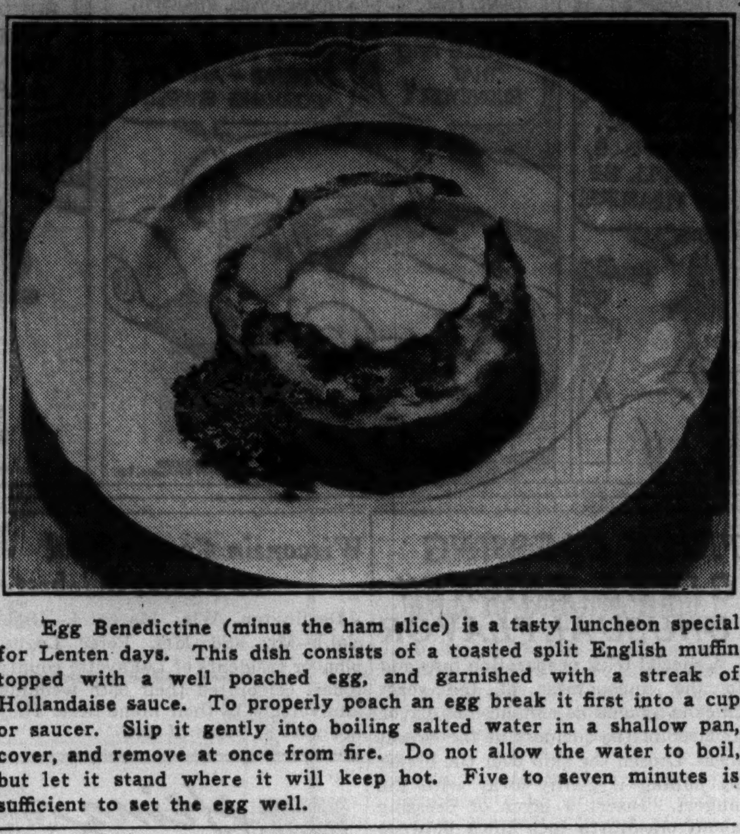
Tasty Luncheon Dish for Lenten Season



Egg Benedictine (minus the ham slice) is a tasty luncheon special for Lenten days. This dish consists of a toasted split English muffin topped with a well poached egg, and garnished with a streak of Hollandaise sauce. To properly poach an egg break it first into a cup or saucer. Slip it gently into boiling salted water in a shallow pan, cover, and remove at once from fire. Do not allow the water to boil, but let it stand where it will keep hot. Five to seven minutes is sufficient to set the egg well.

Leaves $15,000 in Jewels in Car Overnight; 1 Guess

Detroit, Mich., March 4.—(AP)—Joseph H. Broucek, salesman for the C. T. Gustafson Wholesale Jewelry company of Chicago, notified police today that eight sample cases, containing jewelry worth $15,000, had been stolen from his automobile. He left the motor car overnight on a downtown parking lot, he said.

IS YOUR COOKING DRUDGERY? THIS MAY MAKE IT FUN

Planning Will Save Much Work.

Striking a balance between spending the major portion of life over a cook stove and wearing the fingers to the bone operating a can opener may be just a matter of devoting a little time to carefully planned meals, according to Miss O. Hughes, school of home economics, Ohio State university.

Meals that require the cook's attention for the separation of several dishes all at the same time tend to make nervous wrecks of homemakers.

For instance, broiled steak, French fried potatoes, buttered brussels sprouts, fresh fruit salad, hot biscuits, steamed pudding with sauce, and coffee make a meal which draws cheers from the family. However, the cook will be in no condition to share their enthusiasm.

In considering a menu such as the above mentioned one, lattice or shoestring potatoes will stand more delay in serving than French fries, so either might be substituted. Rolls that need only heating could replace the biscuits, and a dessert that could be prepared in advance also would simplify the cook's duties. Also many vegetables can be reheated and served again if they have not been overcooked in the first place.

Standardized meals are also time savers, Miss Hughes said. They should, however, be served at long enough intervals to prevent their becoming monotonous. Most cooks have breakfast organized so that variety is obtained simply by changing the fruit or the cereal.

OVEN TOO HOT CAUSES TOUGH PIE MERINGUES

Watch Thermometer for Best Results.

Do you have trouble with tough pie meringues? Doubtlessly you are browning the meringues in too hot an oven. The most desirable temperature is 350 degrees Fahrenheit. If there is no regulator attached to the stove, by all means purchase a portable oven thermometer. The cost is very little and results will be nearly 100 per cent better.

Use two tablespoons of sugar for each egg white and add sugar to the half beaten egg whites, tablespoon by tablespoon, beating after the last addition until mixture piles and sugar is dissolved.

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. and brown meringue to a delicate gold from 10 to 15 minutes.

PLAIN MEAT LOAF.

½ pound pork, ground
½ pound veal, ground
½ small onion, finely minced
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten
⅝ cup milk
½ cup dry bread crums
4 slices salt pork or bacon

Mix ground meats, add salt, pepper, onion, egg, milk and crums. [More crums may be used if desired.] Mix thoroughly and shape into a loaf. Place in an oiled baking pan and lay pork slices or bacon slices over the top. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F. 15 minutes, then reduce heat to slow oven, 300 degrees F. and bake about 1¼ hours, basting frequently with the fat which collects in the bottom of the baking pan. Serve with tomato sauce.

WALNUT MUFFINS.

1 cup white flour
¾ cup wholewheat flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder
3½ tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3½ tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup chopped walnuts

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Mix egg with milk and butter and stir liquid ingredients into dry mixture. When well blended [do not overstir] add nuts. Bake in a hot oven about 25 minutes.

CREAM OF LIMA BEAN SOUP.

1 cup dried lima beans
1¼ teaspoon salt
½ carrot, sliced
2 slices large onion
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
3½ cups milk
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Soak beans several hours or overnight in enough water to cover. Drain. Add 1½ quarts water and the salt and simmer for thirty minutes. Add carrots and onion and continue cooking until beans are tender, about one hour. Melt butter in saucepan, add flour, and stir until slightly browned. Add 1 cup milk and continue cooking, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Add the rest of the milk. Drain beans, reserving liquid, and put through sieve or ricer. There will be about 1½ cups of purée. Add bean purée, bean liquor, and pimiento to thickened milk, reheat and serve at once.

HANG BREAD FOR CRUMS IN A BAG OF CHEESECLOTH

A good way to dry out scraps of bread which are to be used for crums is to place the scraps in a cheesecloth bag and hang the bag in a cupboard which closes. The bread will be exposed to the air to dry, but will be shielded from dust. Grind the bread once a week in the food chopper and store the crums in a covered glass jar. Use the crums in the jar before adding new crums to those which have been stored for a long time.

NEW HORMONE USED TO TREAT DECAYED TEETH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Marsh 4.—A new hormone for the treatment of decayed or loose teeth has been tried out successfully in Germany, according to the Munich Medizinische Wochenschrift, a medical paper. The hormone is composed of jaw bones and teeth.

The article says the experiment showed that the softened substance of decayed teeth hardened upon being treated with the hormone. The paper also claims that bleeding or receding gums were treated successfully with the hormone, which tightened loosened teeth and restored the health of gums.

[A hormone is a chemical substance which is produced in one organ and taken in the circulation to another organ on which it exerts a stimulating effect.]

3 eggs, beaten
1½ cups milk

Combine all the ingredients and turn into a greased casserole. Set in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven about one hour or until a silver knife inserted in the center of the mixture comes out clean.

TRICK DRESSING GIVES CHICKEN UNUSUAL FLAVOR

A special trick preparation may add to the unusualness of the roast chicken as well as enhance the flavor and retain the juciness of the breast meat. Loosen the skin over the breast by pulling it gently away with the fingers. Insert a layer of dressing about one-fourth inch thick between the skin and the breastmeat. This should be inserted before the cavity of the bird is filled.

Any dressing may be used, but one that is slightly richer in fat [using ground nuts, eggs, or extra butter] is especially nice. It is wise to prepare the bird the day before roasting, in order that the flavor of the dressing penetrates the meat.

Store the bird breastside down until ready to be roasted. The cooking is slightly retarded because of this dressing "blanket," but the results justify the effort. Here is a dressing which would be suitable and very delicious.

SPECIAL BREAST DRESSING.

1 cup finely chopped nuts
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped celery
¼ teaspoon salt
Mix all ingredients thoroughly.

Now as to the roasting method. Roast the bird uncovered in an oven heated to and held at a constant temperature ranging from 300 to 350 degree F. Do not add water. Lay strips of chicken fat or salt pork over the top. This will baste the meat as the fat cooks out. Roast about 30 minutes per pound.

WHEREVER HE IS, BENEDICT JUROR SHOULD SEE THIS

If George J. Warner, 1806 Eddy street, reads this item, he had better hurry into Superior court this morning or Judge C. A. Quackenbush of Carbondale, who is sitting there, may hold him in contempt. Warner, who is 30 years old, is somewhere on his honeymoon.

He was one of the twelve jurors selected Monday to hear the $50,000 personal injury suit of Mrs. Martha Rice, 621 Groveland park, against Riverview park, for injuries she says she incurred in the park.

On Wednesday Warner arrived breathless, but late, explaining he had just been married. Judge Quackenbush warned him to be on time in the future. When Warner failed to appear in the jury box yesterday, attorneys agreed to continue the case with an eleven man jury. The judge indicated, however, he would punish Warner.

UPWARD SWING OF FOOD PRICES CONTINUES HERE

Increases Noticeable in All Departments.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

The trend in retail prices of foods is upward in city and suburban shopping centers, according to THE TRIBUNE'S weekly survey. Changes in prices this week compared with last are few.

Retail food prices have had a tendency to go higher for several weeks, and the upward swing continues even during the Lenten season on some items that are temporarily in less demand. Although the advance in price has been slight on most articles of food, the increase is noticeable in all departments of the stores.

Butter is up 1 cent a pound in practically all stores. Several kinds of cheese that were included in special sales last week-end have been put back to their regular prices, although a few stores will have American cheese on the bargain counters today and tomorrow.

Fresh Beans and Peas Higher&

Both green beans and fresh peas continue to go higher. Many stores have temporarily quit handling them and the quality of those available is only fair. Head lettuce is higher and wholesale prices advanced about $1 a crate during the week. Most stores are selling only the small sized heads.

Celery and dry onions are higher in some stores. Fresh beets are up about 1 cent a bunch. Cabbages are higher in some stores and lower in others. Fresh strawberries are several cents a pint higher and are to be found only in a few stores.

Green onions, bunch radishes, broccoli, and fresh rhubarb are lower than last week. New potatoes are slightly lower in some places. Many stores have cut the price of eggs 2 cents a dozen. Various brands of coffee may be found on sale at about 2 cents a pound below the regular price. Flour prices have been cut slightly in a few stores.

Meat Prices Steady.

Retail meat prices continue steady. Most butcher shops have raised prices on fresh lamb cuts since last week; leg of lamb is up about 2 cents a pound and lamb chops 3 to 6 cents a pound. Frozen halibut, perch, and pike are 2 cents a pound higher in many places.

There was an upward trend in most live stock and wholesale meats during the week at Union stockyards. The better grades of beef steers sold 25 cents to $1 a hundred pounds higher, reaching a top of $15 a hundred, a new high for the season. Prices held steady on most dressed beef carcasses.

Farmers got 5 to 20 cents a hundredweight more than last week for good butcher hogs. The top price for the week was $10.45. Wholesale pork prices ranged from steady to 50 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Live lambs brought 35 to 50 cents a hundredweight more than last week. Mutton sheep went up 15 cents a hundred. Wholesale cuts of lambs showed little change in price, but mutton carcasses went up $1 to $2 a hundred.

Nazis Make Fat from Plant Used as Forage for Pigs

BERLIN, March 4.—Fat made out of rape, a plant which is generally used as forage for sheeps and pigs, will be offered in Germany for human consumption soon, the Fraenkischer Courier predicted today. The newspaper said the fat can be used for cooking and as a substitute for butter. The fat was described as being "white, without a pronounced flavor, and superior to margarine."

SUGGESTIONS ON HOW TO STOP CURDLING OF MILK IN BAKING HAM

When ham is baked in milk, the milk often curdles—a culinary difficulty which cooks find hard to overcome. A similar reaction occurs in baking an escalloped potato and ham casserole.

The greatest causes of curdling are the temperature at which the dish is cooked, the salt content of the ham, the chemical reaction of the milk, and the manner in which the milk is added.

The higher the temperature in cooking, the greater the tendency to curdle and the larger the curds which form. The temperature of the oven should never be higher than 325 degrees F.

As for the salt content of the ham, this cannot be changed, but it seems that the addition of soda, about 1-16 teaspoon to a cup of milk, prevents the salt from having a curdling effect upon the milk.

If part of the milk is added to the ham or the potato and ham casserole when cooking is first begun, and the rest of the cold milk is added gradually to the meat during the cooking process curdling is less likely to occur.

NEWBURG DISHES ARE POPULAR FOR SUPPER PARTIES

Newburg dishes are very popular for supper parties. These two recipes may be of interest, especially the oyster newburg which uses hard cooked egg yolks.

OYSTERS A LA NEWBURG.

3 dozen oysters
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons flour
3 hard cooked egg yolks
½ cup sherry wine
Salt and pepper to taste

Drain liquor from the oysters [saving the liquor]. Wash oysters well under running water, and then add them to the liquor and heat until the edges curl. Drain off the liquor and discard. Melt butter, add flour and work to a paste, slowly add the cream which has been heated, stir until thick and add the hard cooked egg yolks which have been sieved or mashed fine. Add the sherry. Season with salt and pepper and add oysters. Pour into shallow greased baking dish and cover with butter crums, and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F. for about 20 minutes. Serves six.

LOBSTER A LA NEWBURG.

¾ pound canned lobster meat
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sherry or Madiera wine
1 cup coffee cream
3 egg yolks, well beaten
Salt and pepper

Melt the butter, add the wine and cook for two minutes. Add the cream, add a small amount of this mixture to the egg yolks and after mixing thoroughly, stir the eggs into the rest of the sauce. Let cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Serve over lobster meat at once.

U. OF ILLINOIS COW SETS BROWN SWISS BUTTERFAT RECORD

Illini Nellie, a brown Swiss cow in the University of Illinois herd at Urbana, set a world's record for her breed this week when she had produced 1,159.56 pounds of butterfat. The mark was established two weeks before the end of a one year test. Prof. W. W. Yapp, who is in charge of the school's dairy cattle, announced the new record.

The previous record was held by Mary's Nell of the Foxwood farm herd at Wasco, Kane county. She produced 1,109 pounds of butterfat in a full year.

Up to last Monday night the record breaker had produced 28,587.5 pounds [13,093 quarts] of milk. Since she has two weeks more time on her year's test she may set a new world's milk production record for the breed, Prof. Yapp said.

Girl in Teens Should Have Dates Limited

And Having Steady Beau Is Poor Policy.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Youth speaking, 15 and 16:

"I am in love with a boy and I think he loves me. At least he says he does. We want to be together all of the time. Every night, anyway. But my parents forbid the 'every night dating.' My boy friend can't understand why we can't be together every evening. I can't either. He becomes angry toward me about it. I've done all I can with my parents. You will suggest, no doubt, that we get married. We have thought about it, but can't because the boy isn't making any money. What can we do about my parents? RITY."

You can't do much about your parents, Rity, for which we are thankful, for they sound like exactly the right kind of parents for you.

You're lucky, if you only knew it, in having parents that will let a boy come to the home a couple times a week. Many youngsters of your age aren't permitted this indulgence. We think your parents could be a great deal less indulgent and more within their parental rights, letting you have this boy visit you only one evening a week. And then, he should come with others. Not always, but often you should see to it that he is but one of several or more friends spending the evning with you.

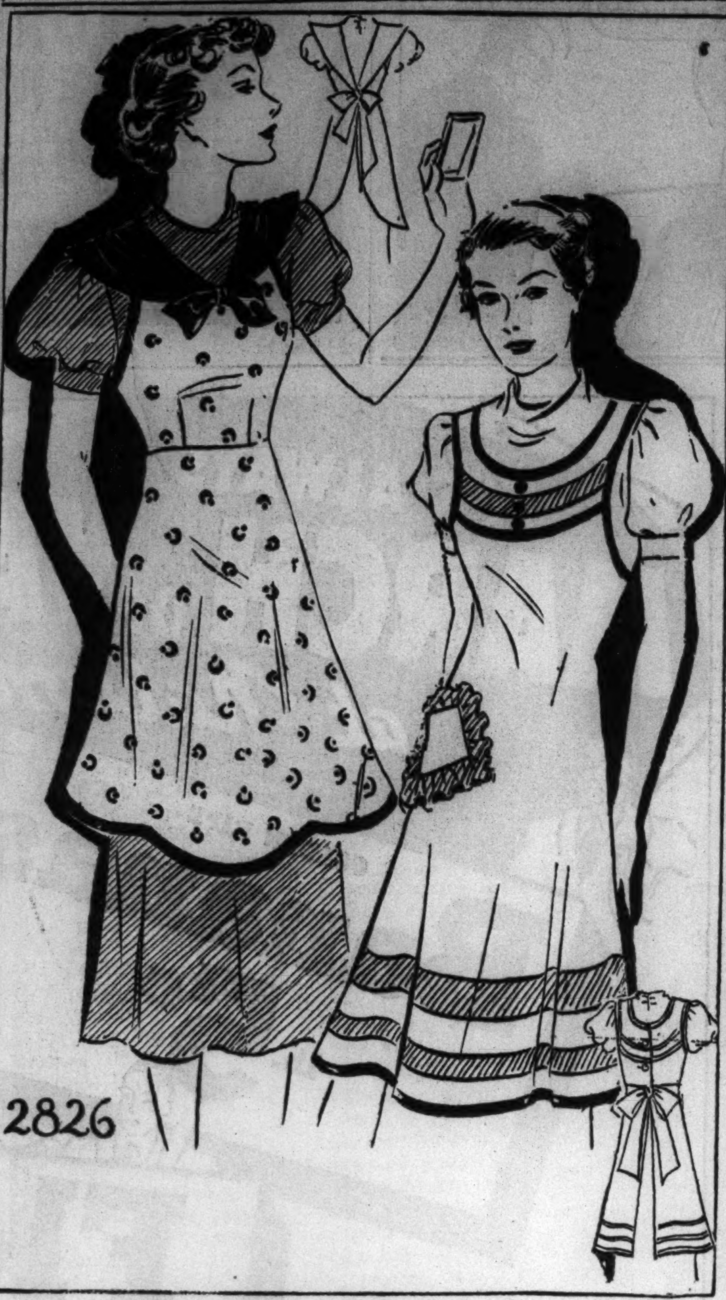
One Pattern for Two Aprons



WOMAN'S AND MISS' APRONS.

These two distinctly different aprons may be made with a single pattern. What housewife doesn't need at least a half dozen pretty models such as these? And if the gift problem is confronting you, you might bear in mind that any of the girls or women you know would love to receive an apron for a present, whether for immediate use or to be stowed away in a hope chest. Peasant styling is apparent in both these models, which are easy to make and also economical. Both have comfortable shoulders which will not slip just when one is in the midst of a task. The apron shown at the left has a basque waist, topped by a flattering flared collar. This gay apron combines peasant printed cotton with plain cotton trimmings. The deep armholes and the edge of the flared skirt are finished with bias binding of the plain cotton.

Style No. 2826 is designed for sizes small, medium and large. The medium size requires 1⅞ yards of 35 inch material, with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting and 2 yards of binding for the basque apron. The Tyrolean apron requires 2¼ yards of 35 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting and 5¾ yards of binding.

Common Sense Is Vital Factor in Child Rearing

Strict Adherence to Rules May Cause Friction.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It is easy to lay down rules about managing children. It is easy to read articles on them. But it is not so easy to put them into practice.

Just as it is comparatively easy to make laws, but not so easy to enforce them. Or, rather, it is not so easy to enforce them without working injustice. Sometimes the letter of the law is enforced and harm is done. It is the spirit of the law, after all, that is important, and preserving this involves the use of excellent judgment.

It is the same in applying rules for child management. It takes the constant exercise of judgment to carry out the fundamental principles of psychology which are the spirit underlying the rule. And besides, there always are exceptions.

"My daughter," said a grandmother, "read this many books on child training [here she indicated what would be a pile of books about 5 feet high] before her baby was born, and yet she can't do a thing with Willy. He runs over her and everybody else, and while he is handsome and 'cute' to people now, he is going to be an unbearable nuisance in a few years. He really is sweet underneath and could be so simply handled."

This young mother has all the rules down pat, but she hasn't the knack of applying them. Another mother has never read a book on child training, but she combines an intuitive understanding with a good intelligence, and is successful as a mother.

It takes the exercise of common sense to make good use of blanket rules laid down in the management of children.

"Let them express their individuality." Of course, but to what degree should you allow them to do this, so that it develops their personality without making them young outlaws?

"Children should be obedient." To be sure, but when they are tired or sick we usually make an exception and close our eyes to disobedience.

We have to use judgment. We have to make exceptions. We have to consider the child and the circumstances when we have in mind some rule of management that we believe in and want sincerely to apply.

"How to Gain Obedience" is the name of a fully written booklet which will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

Simple Mouthwashes Effective.

S. G.: Salt and water make a good mouthwash. Limewater is another good mouthwash and is a preventive of decay. It's easily made. You can make it at home, and it's most inexpensive. Have your teeth examined every six months for cavities and also for removal of tartar. You should include hard foods in your diet. They cleanse the teeth and, at the same time, exercise tissues surrounding the teeth.

How to Eradicate Blackheads.

D. D.: The popular areas for blackheads seem to be the nose and mouth corners, but it is not unusual for blackheads to form on the neck and shoulders. The same treatment is needed. Scrub neck and shoulders with soap, warm water, and a complexion brush. Rinse with clear warm water, then cold water. Cold water has tonic qualities and closes the pores.

The leaves, buds and flowers, forming a graceful wreath, make this block one which is ideally suited to the Sunday "best" group. Nail Polishes Important to Hand Effects

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Time was when a girl would ask for a bottle of bright polish and another of a soft shade and have to take what she could get. Now there are so many thoroughly intriguing shades that it's a good idea to try them out and see just which are the most flattering to your little pink ovals. You'll find there's a great difference in the way shades blend with your skin tones. The titian skin, for instance, that goes with the redhead, will look redder than ever when a rose colored polish is used. A rust shade, however, gives this type of skin a creamy quality. Blonde skins, also, look creamier against a soft rust polish.

Very dark hands are apt to look swarthy in any of the soft shades, although mauve may be used if the skin is not too olive. Deep polishes, of course, make the hands look whiter, due to contrast. A deep shade with just a touch of purple in it, such as the new burgundy, actually seems to drain the hand of color. If you've ever tried to wear a purple dress you probably have found that it made you look pretty pale and wan. Burgundy polish does just that to the hands, only you want your hands to look lily white!

The shape of the nail has a lot to do with whether or not a shade is becoming. If you have a tiny nail don't try to wear a color that is too much of a contrast to your skin. A soft shade, such as old rose for the brunette skin, and a light rust for the blonde, will give the nails a soft glow without making them loudly proclaim the fact that they are too small for the hand.

If the nails are too large you still can wear a deep shade by proper "making up" of the nail. Leave a fairly wide tip at the edge of the nail, and remove a narrow margin of polish at each side of the nail with your orange stick before polish dries. This will do a good deal of effective "slimming."

Don't be afraid that deep shades will make your hands look larger if they already are large. Remember what the makeup people did to long-faced girls in amateur theatricals at schools? They put a spot of rouge at the tip of the chin to make the face appear shorter. It works the same with your hands. A touch of bright polish concentrates the attention at the fingertips and away from the rest of the hand.

Expert Offers a Problem to Her Readers

Graphology Test Given in Sample Writing.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright, 1937: By Muriel Stafford]

Some readers of this column, especially those who have written to say that they are keeping scrapbooks of these articles, perhaps could answer the woman whose handwriting is below.

Her problem sounds complicated but the answer is simple. I'll show you the handwriting, tell you what she says, and see if you can use your graphological knowledge to reach the solution. Here is the handwriting.

of nothing

"When in a group I try to take an active part in the conversation," she says. "A certain person always interrupts after about three or four words have been uttered. Then she proceeds in choppy, dangling phrases to monopolize the entire conversation. She never finishes her sentences, yet we listen.

"After several hours of such monologs I am accused of offering nothing to the conversation. In reality I have been interrupted every time I attempt to speak. I should like to know if my writing shows any trait that might indicate the cause."

Perhaps many of you can sympathize. Those who know nothing about handwriting may think that she is shy or self-conscious. You may think she is weak-willed, timid, too reserved or nervous.

Consider this rhythmical, well-spaced writing with wide letters and calmly rounded m's and n's for the real answer. The lady is over-kind, over-patient, over-generous. She feels sympathetic and unwilling to impose herself upon others when they are so anxious to assert themselves.

This is one of the sweetest-tempered handwritings I have studied in a long time. I am sure her friends love her dearly for her consideration. Their "accusations" are really nothing but excuses for imposing upon her good-nature. I wish she would believe this, for she cannot understand this reaction of her friends. She is bewildered because she tries so hard to please.

This woman actually offers one of the best contributions to conversation that any one can make. She listens and does not interrupt.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The no trump take-out at all levels is controled by the stringent requirement that the opponents' suit must be stopped and any jump bid in no trump must show not one but two stoppers.

A one no trump response over an opponent's overcall varies in strength according to vulnerability. When vulnerable, responding hand must have at least two honor tricks, distributed in three suits, including the opponents' suit. Not vulnerable, he may reduce this to one and one-half plus honor tricks. He may bid one no trump with as little as Q x x or J x x x as his stopper in the opponents' suit, but should prefer another bid, if one is available, unless his stopper is as good as the king.

Opener having bid one heart and opponent having overcalled with one spade, bid one no trump, not vulnerable, with ♠A 10 2 ♥7 3 ♦K 8 6 4 ♣Q 10 5 3. Vulnerable, the hand should contain added strength such as a jack in any suit.

TODAY'S HAND.

♣A K Q 5

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
3 hearts	Pass	3 no trump	Double
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	6 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

West's opening three bid was definitly shaded, but, considering his distribution, his nonvulnerability and his defensive weakness, it really was not a bad bid at all. South obviously was aggressive in jumping to six spades, but it cannot be denied that he had a hard nut to crack against the opponent's preëmptive bidding.

West was acutely unhappy about selecting an opening lead, and finally hit on the ace of hearts. The moment dummy appeared with three hearts to the queen, declarer saw danger. Since West's heart suit could be no better than A J 10, he must have seven, and East therefore would be able to ruff a heart continuation. Something had to be done to stop this dire calamity, and declarer found the solution instantaneously in the discard of his own heart king. Had declarer pondered over this, West would have had no problem. He could have continued hearts on the certainty [unless South were unethical] that East now would be void of hearts. As it was, West could not be blamed for thinking that a heart continuation would afford declarer a discard on dummy's queen.

West shifted to the jack of clubs and, after declarer had won this and begun to reel off trumps, the wisdom of the first play took on greater significance than the mere guard against a ruff. With one trump left to play, this was the situation:

NORTH

EAST
♠None

SOUTH

♣K Q 5

The last trump put West on the spot. He could not let go a heart without making both of dummy's hearts good, and a club discard would solidify South's suit.

It is interesting to note that, had declarer failed to chuck his heart king on the ace, he could not have made the slam even if West had then failed to give his partner a ruff, because a club trick would have to be conceded later. The squeeze was entirely the result of the heart king unblock.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Partner having opened with one heart, what is the proper response with:

♠9 7 6 3 ♥A K ♦8 5 4 ♣9 6 5 3 7

Answer: One no trump.

New Symphony Starts City on SecondCentury orowski Given Ovation at Premiere.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Comes another of those happy ornings when this conscientious ardian of local musical standards n smile benignly through an en- e half column and assure a re- ved citizenry that nothing in last ght's Chicago Symphony orchestra ncert need be viewed otherwise an as a hopeful omen of what this cond century of our cityhood is to ing forth.

There were excellent performances an important new symphony by a sident composer and of two exact- g works of Johann Sebastian Bach. ie Mozart G Major concerto, with able young American pianist at e solo instrument, received what ems to have been its Chicago pre- ière. [We will get around to all the od things this second century, what ith the two big fires out of the way d street signs actually going up.]

Felix Borowski, distinguished Chi- go composer, teacher, and critic, joyed last night a sort of triumph hich comes all too seldom to the eative musician. He heard his Minor symphony played for the rst time in his own city and saw score an immense success. Enthu- astic applause brought the com- ser to the stage for bow after w.

And of the thousands of handclaps hich went to make the ovation, ery last one was well deserved. The mphony is bold and original, im- eccable as to form, extremely rich texture.

Arresting though its rhythms be, here is absolutely nothing to warant he suspicion that a mere desire to be fferent molded any of the lines. An r of authenticity—of direction and nfidence—pervades the work.

Mr. Borowski invents unusual and ifficult themes [difficult in the sense hat any logical development of them eems nearly hopeless], then mar- hals his great resources and proves the satisfaction of the listener that he original idea lends itself admira- ly to its position as keystone of an nposing musical structure. [This etaphor is getting too hot to hold.]

The person mysteriously referred to few paragraphs ago as an able oung American pianist is Dalies Frantz. That première of the Mozart oncerto, by the way, may not really e a première. Although it is not sted in the usually infallible year ook of the orchestra, one of its hemes is more familiar than "Home, Sweet Home." Has the work been neaking into our living rooms via adio and some other city [one guess s to which other city] gradually amiliarizing us with the work's con- iderable beauties?

Dalies Frantz is a good Mozart player. He does not try to push him- self into the picture and is content o use his resources to present effec- ively the remarkable ideas of the omposer. Speaking of his resources, one of them is a genuine pianissimo, not so common an endowment among young musicians that it can be al- owed to pass without notice.

Although Mr. Frantz dislikes being classified, one can safely stick to this statement that he is a good Mozart player [maybe a fine Rachmaninoff player, too]. He seems to evince a delight in the authentically classical loveliness of Mozart's structure—its delicate architectural perfection and the rare restraint of its matchless, inevitable themes.

Hans Lange conducted last night and will conduct again this afternoon. Mr. Stock is confined to his home with a cold.

The University of Illinois Concert band, here for the opening of Chicago's charter centennial jubilee, appeared in concert at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon. Albert Austin Harding directed. The glee club of the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois [located in Chicago] provided several numbers. Max Kaplan directed the latter organization.

WHEN Gypsy Rose Lee was unable to come to a cocktail party at which she was to have been a guest one of the guests, a fashionable young matron, decided the others should not be entirely disappointed. She put on artificial eyelashes, donned a dark wig—dressed like Miss Lee's off-the-ears, fringed coiffure, and a long black velvet zipper-front tea gown, over a sweater and a short black petticoat. Arrived at the party, before her friends were even sure of her identity, she zipped off the tea gown, bowed to the applause, and disappeared into the bedroom.

DRUNK story No. 99 [Fred Seaberg's]. Two Irishmen coming out of a bar encountered a third Irishman, who gave them the news that a friend, a certain O'Flaherty, had died.

"Well, we'll go right up to the wake and say a prayer for his soul," answered the one of the two who had been a friend of the late Mr. O'Flaherty. And then to the third man, who had not known him, "You come along with us, Mike." They reached the house, after several stops on the way, and, although they managed to offer condolences to the widow in good order they missed the coffin and knelt instead beside the grand piano to say their prayer. Safely out of the house afterward, the third man commented to his companions, "Well, I didn't know your friend O'Flaherty, but he sure had a magnificent set of teeth."

WHICH tale brings to mind the two elderly men, both slightly inebriated, who boarded a Madison street car. Despite the ordinance prohibiting smoking in street cars, one of them smoked a cigaret as he clutched at his strap. The ashes kept dropping in the lap of a seated passenger. After brushing them off his clothes a number of times he took a pipe from his pocket and suggested the older man put his ashes in the bowl. The inebriated one complied, and was still using the improvised ash tray when our informant, a Mr. Grigar, left the car.

RUGGIERO RICCI, the 15 year old violinist, has arrived in town for his concert tomorrow at Orchestra hall. The little boy with the thatch of bobbed hair, who gave his debut concert in Chicago in Orchestra hall eight years ago wearing a sailor suit, now is a young man, inconspicuously attired, with neatly cut hair and an unassuming manner. He prefers to be called Roger instead of Ruggiero. Perhaps an idea of his agreeable manners may be ascertained from an incident that occurred last week in Schenectady, N. Y. A music lover came backstage after the concert to congratulate him on his performance. After some words of praise, obviously at a loss for further words, the man told Ricci that he was so great an admirer of his playing that he had a complete library of his violin records. Ricci did not embarrass him by explaining that he had never made a recording.

Concert Manager Harry Zelzer, reminiscing about Ricci's appearance here in 1929, said that when the boy had finished playing a concerto an elderly man in the audience got up and said excitedly, "My God, I've been practicing that concerto for almost fifty years and I still can't play it like that."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

Not three days after we had explained to a male questioner that men were tops as hairdressers because it appeared that they just had better hands for the business of trimming and waving hair, all four prize winners at the recent beauty trade show coiffure contest made us eat our disloyal words.

The coiffures were as tasteful as any ever executed by a man—and as well executed. The result of the contest made hairdressing history—and women in the field can take a deep, flourishing bow!

The explanation of masculine supremacy, which existed up until this time, probably lay in the fact that for centuries hairdressers were men trained for the art. The women haven't been at it very long, but you'd better keep an eye out for their dust from now on.

It's almost a shame that the public doesn't get in on beauty trade hows. The avid interest of shop owners and operators in the newest developments in equipment, air conditioning, sterilizing agents, and make-up and hairdressing technique is an effective answer to the "it's-just-a-racket" argument.

An intelligent group and an earnest one, such as the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association, takes the client's rights to the best service with commendable seriousness. Owners and operators of the best beauty shops keep on their toes. It's a tremendous protection to patronize a good shop, where operators are well instructed, products are tested and equipment of the best. It is, as a matter of fact, the only protection the woman on the beauty hunt has.

Women are demanding hair treatments these days, as well as chic hair arrangements. It's only sensible. From the long point of view, it's better to sacrifice chic to good care, if necessary. It's care that defeats hair ailments, such as premature grayness and lack of luster.

Hollywood, Cal., March 4.—[Special.]—"Spot," wiry fox terrier of the films, killed under the wheels of an auto while working in a Republic Studio picture, was worth $61,500 to the dog's owners, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ullom, according to a damage suit filed today.

Good Morning!

The demon reporter with the bloodhound olfactory nerves, and the Philo Vance brain, who astutely outwits all those who would interfere with his—or her—"scoop," is a familiar character on our screens if not in our newspaper officers. Now meet one, thus equipped, who has the tables turned on him by his prey. It's a refreshing variation.

Boiled down, "Love Is News" is the story of American Tin Can Heiress Tony Gateson vs. Star Reporter Steve Leyton.

The lady, to her wrath, has been front page history for a long, long time. Most colorful of the chronicles of her hectic career to appear in New York papers have flowed from the pen of Steven, who, according to Tony, has not clung passionately to the truth in his revelations.

Having jilted a titled fortune hunter, Tony makes up her mind never, never to grant the press another interview.

Steve, posing as an airport official, outwits and pulls a fast one on her upon her return to the United States. . . . Whereupon Miss Gateson becomes immediately and mighty busy—with the result that Steve finds himself in the headlines of rival sheets, anathema to his bosses, and, finally, desperately in love with his persistent and beautiful tormentress. . . . I'll let the picture go into further details for your delectation. The action carries the principals through courts, jails, palaces, saloons, and newspapers offices, and—I can tell you this for you've guessed it already—lands them at last in each other's arms. . . .

Loretta Young, lovelier than ever, and Tyrone Power—a broth of a boy!—carry off their rôles in competent and engaging fashion. Don Ameche—mustached again and some prefer him so—plays a farcical city editor with elan [that good old cross word puzzle word!]. I can't be crazy about Mr. Ameche nor did I see the point in perfuming him, but the ways of directors like those of the heathen Chinee are often dark and devious and a critic's a ninny who racks her thought box too hard trying to understand 'em. Other parts are well taken care of.

Activities are speedy and amusing, dialog's on the up and up. Altogether I think you'll find "Love Is News" jovial and ingratiating relaxation.

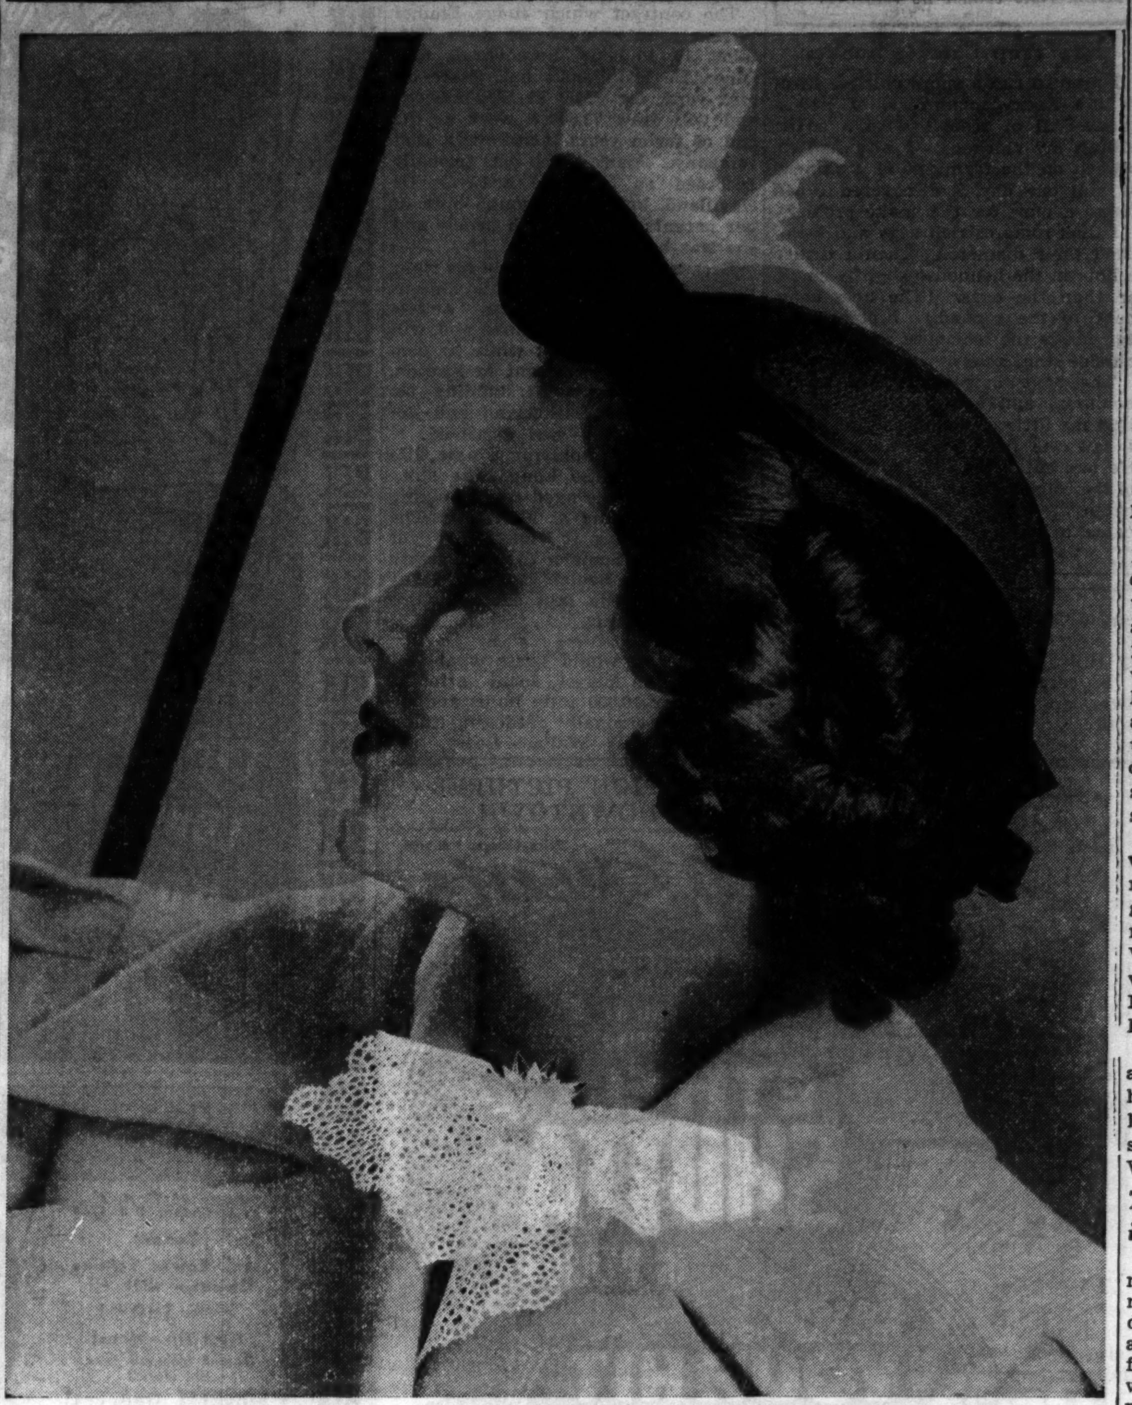
White Lace Trims Black Straw



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All kinds of people with spring fever are crowding the shops trying out the best cures for this annual ailment. They're buying suits by the dozens, with a preference for soft models, more feminine than last year, and for color combines, such as old gold jackets with black skirts, thistle with navy blue, red earth with elephant gray. If this last color combine stumps you, you've been missing around the new showings for the last few days.

Other big favorites are the dress and jacket duets, subtle combinations of a skinny Orphan Annie plain black dress [always with short sleeves] and a blazing colored coat. Jigger coats, the cute [and we simply have to use that adjective for this type of coat] little boxy affairs, are going out so fast with the younger set the supply is threatened daily. These come in all colors, from beige, gray, black, navy, to all the spectacular colors, copper, gold, red and bright blue.

For festive parties try the beflowered peasant challis prints. They fashion decorative dancing dresses for the very young. Short bolero jackets hug the ribline and startle every one with huge puffed short sleeves. Under the jacket, a full skirted dress, made with a very high waistline and tiny puffed sleeves. Rows of narrow velvet ribbon dash around the width of the skirt, accent the high bodice line, and tie quaintly around the cuffs.

The colors are knockouts—black with realistic red, red roses, white with tinier rosebuds, vivid blue with magenta flowers and a biting green with roses and yellow buds. Flippant and gay, they are grand buys for the in between spring party wardrobe.

Fashion photograph . . . Inventive hatters have contrived new hats with an extra. This black supple straw hat has a perky white fold of stiffened white lace for trim. At the throat a repeat of the same white accent, fastened to a clip arrangement, so that it can be worn either at the neckline or as the decoration in a suit lapel. Hat and matching clip of lace will be found in a showing of new spring millinery in a Chicago store.

Mild Weather Great Boon to Home Builders

Many Houses Ready for Spring Occupancy.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE mild winter we have had may have disappointed winter sports fans—and resorts—but it has been a boon to home builders. One might say almost truthfully that new houses are springing up like mushrooms, their construction has been so fast through the temperate weather.

Many couples whom their friends have looked upon as confirmed city dwellers are building country or suburban homes, although some of these are to be just week-end retreats, not year round dwellings. If every one who has a new house out of the city has a house-warming when daffodils are in bloom and trees are in leaf, there will be many parties on Saturdays and Sundays during the late spring to tempt urban folk to their suburban friends' new homes.

Cousins will become neighbors when the Robert Taylor Porters move into their new house which is going up in the district west of Winnetka where Mrs. Porter's cousin, Willett N. Gorham, and Mrs. Gorham were pioneers. Betty Wales and Mr. Porter were married two years ago last June.

New Winnetka residents are Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Jeffris whose new house in Locust road is very near the home of Mrs. Jeffris' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Willis, in Woodley road.

Talcott Griswolds in New Home.

The Talcott Griswolds are in their new home in Thorntree lane in Winnetka but they are waiting for the decorators to be out of the house and all the new furniture in it before they set a date for their house-warming. They hope to have it this month, however. Mr. Griswold's mother, Mrs. Howard C. Phillips, and Mr. Phillips, who also live in Winnetka, are leaving next week for a trip to California via the Panama canal. They will return about May 1.

The junior John R. Montgomerys and the junior Gair Tourtellots are building new houses in Glencoe's woodsy ravine district. Mrs. Tourtellot's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. Clyde Jones Jr., are not building a new house but they are in the throes of doing over their old one in Glencoe.

Three new houses soon will be admired by travelers on Half Day and Ridge roads, just south of Lake For-

You Pay to Act in Tiny Theaters of Hollywood

Young Players Hope Scouts Will Notice Them.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 4.—[Special.]—One of Hollywood's distinctive exploitation features is the combination neighborhood theater and dramatic training school. Ambitious extras use their $7.50 and $10 a day salary checks to pay for the privilege of leading rôles in these theaters.

John Miljan relates the story of a young friend who stopped him on the street and asked, "Which job do you think I ought to take, a lead in a modern melodrama at the Bungalow theater at $60 a week, or play the villain in a war picture with Louisa Bernhardt's neighborhood players at $50 a week?"

"I'd take the $60 job, I believe," Miljan advised. "It seems more in your line and of course it's more money."

"That's just it," the youth replied. "I've borrowed all I can get from my aunt and I can't afford to take a $60 rôle."

"What's that?" Miljan blurted, amazed. "You mean you pay to play the part?"

"Sure," replied the young fellow, "everybody pays our stage director; he gets a producer in to see nearly every other show we give." The theaters which put on these shows manage to get audiences by charging only 15 and 20 cents.

One reason why Clark Gable cut his Utah hunting holiday short came to light today. Gable was closeted at Metro studio with Director Jack Conway who will handle "Saratoga," the actor's next film. It will be about horse racing. When the conference ended Gable had a deal with Conway to have the Gable race horse, Beverly Hills, act in the picture.

To date Beverly Hills has been a two-year drain on the Gable resources. The horse won one race, that being at Tanforan track near San Francisco last season. The victory was so unexpected that his owner didn't have a nickel on him.

The servants have been moving the possessions and furnishings belonging to Myrna Loy and Arthur Hornblow all this week. Next Sunday the actress and her husband will move into the new home in Coldwater Canyon which has been building since before they were married.

The contract which Judge Emmet Wilson countersigned for Joan Fontaine, 19, in court here shows that Olivia De Havilland's half sister begins work for RKO at $300 a week and will draw $2,500 a week at the end of seven years if still with that company. Joan's name was formally recorded as Joan De Beauvoir De Havilland, but oddly enough both of her parents were English people and she was born in Japan.

Because of blood poison in his right index finger Director Eddie Sutherland has withdrawn from "Artists and Models" at Paramount and will take an extended rest while he continues medical treatment in Florida. The engagement understanding between Director Sutherland and Loretta Young has been dissolved.

Paramount is applying a new title to "Years Are So Long," the story about the middle aged couple taking a last great fling at high life. The studio is calling it "Make Way for Tomorrow." Some of the scenes with Victor Moore, Beulah Bondi, and Fay Bainter are the best shots at this studio this year.

You never would guess what Hollywood film player spent a lot of money for 10,000 tulip bulbs and delights in personally gardening them. The answer is—Wallace Beery.

Egg Trap Catches Snake.

I used to run a small chicken farm in the Rocky mountains. I had a great deal of trouble with a snake killing my chickens. I also had an ostrich on the farm and as I glanced at him one day, I discovered I had found a cure for the snake problem.

I took some ostrich eggs and measured their diameter. Then I drilled a hole in the henhouse slightly smaller than the eggs. [The hole being next to the ground.] I placed one egg inside the henhouse and one just outside the hole.

The next morning I went to the henhouse and was overjoyed to see that my little plan had worked. There I saw the bandit snake stuck fast. He had eaten the egg on the outside of the coop, crawled partially through, eaten the egg on the inside, and became lodged fast.

Mild Weather Great Boon to Home Builders

est, for the Richard Hill Flemings, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Beuttas, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brown are building there. Mr. and Mrs. Beuttas will be leaving their Walton place apartment early in June to occupy their country home, and Mrs. Beuttas is determined to spend at least one winter in the house to see if she really will like the country the year 'round.

The Browns, whose city home is at 900 North Michigan avenue, are building their house with plans to spend only the summers in it. Mr. and Mrs. Fleming have not started to build yet, but their home is certain to be an attractive one, for her father, Benjamin H. Marshall, is drawing the plans.

Charles R. Lindsays Will Build in Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III. will start soon to build a house in Wayne, not far from where the J. McWilliams Stones' new house is receiving its finishing touches. The Stones, who live in Geneva, and their two boys expect to move into their new house this month.

The Bruce Thornes hope to occupy their new Lake Forest home this summer. The Philip B. Mahers will build a house in the Shoreacres district in Lake Forest, to be used as a summer residence. It will be constructed, however, so that the main part of the building may be shut off from the wings and heated in the winter time to provide a week-end retreat.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris will build at long distance, for they plan to erect a guest house on their new farm near Leesburg, Va. The property that now belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Harris is rich historically, for on it is an old fort that dates back to revolutionary days. Mrs. Harris first saw the farm when she and Miss Valeria Harris went south this winter to join Mr. Harris in Punta Gorda, Fla.

The Walter P. Paepckes, who recently became the owners of the junior Robert P. Lamonts' cattle ranch near Denver, have no plans for building there since they will spend only a few weeks each summer on the property. Mr. Paepcke, who is cruising around South America with his wife, plans to continue with the raising of blooded cattle that Mr. Lamont began.

Their friends still are surprised when they hear casually that the junior Robert M. Hoffmans have become suburbanites, for the Hoffmans seemed to be such enthusiastic city dwellers. They have leased a house in Barrington, in Hillside road, on the outskirts of the town.

Mrs. Armour's New Home Is Completed.

No story about new houses would be complete without mention of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour's new Lake Forest residence. It was started in September, 1934, or at least the building permit for a $190,000 house was issued then. After various delays it is completed and ready for occupancy although its owner does not plan to move into it until late spring.

Mrs. Armour will have more than one moving day in the late spring for that is the time when she expects to move from her Lake Shore drive apartment to the one at 2430 Lake View avenue that she bought from Noble B. Judah. It is being remodeled.

The John Peale Bents [Mary Reed] are altering the house in Lake Forest which they purchased last year from Miss Jessie and Miss Catherine Colvin and so do not plan to move into it until late spring.

Virginia Beaupre Miller Engaged to E. L. Read.

Mrs. Olive Beaupré Miller of 229 Lake Shore drive announces the engagement of her daughter, Virginia Beaupré Miller, to Edwin L. Read Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Read of Barrington. Miss Miller, whose father is Harry E. Miller of Santa Barbara, was educated at Dana Hall and Smith college. Mr. Read is a graduate of Brown university. No date for the wedding is set.

Assisting Mrs. James Ward Thorne, chairman of the reception committee, at the Arts club tea this afternoon will be Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs Huntington B. Henry, Miss Jean Adams, Mrs. Henry Gale, Mrs. William A. Nitze, Mrs. Franz Alexander Mrs. Edmund Andrews, Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Mrs. Gabriel Slaughter, Mrs. Herbert E Bradley, and Mrs. Ralph T. Winston. The tea will open an exhibition of modern paintings and sculpture.

Pons to Open Weekly Radio Series in April

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Lily Pons.

Lily Pons is to return to radio on April 14 for a series of weekly appearances over WBBM-CBS with Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra. Miss Pons will replace Nino Martini, operatic tenor, who is to leave for Hollywood and picture making. The noted coloratura has been absent from the airlanes for almost a year while making her newest movie, "That Girl from Paris," doing a concert tour and singing with the Metropolitan Opera.

Her association with Kostelanetz is one of long standing. They performed together in a previous CBS series running almost a year. Last summer Kostelanetz instituted a series of thirteen week-end transcontinental flying trips, during which he conducted two radio programs each week in New York and the music for her picture in California. On Nov. 17 they returned to New York together by air and on landing Mr. Kostelanetz announced that he had proposed each week-end in Hollywood and that the thirteenth time Miss Pons had accepted.

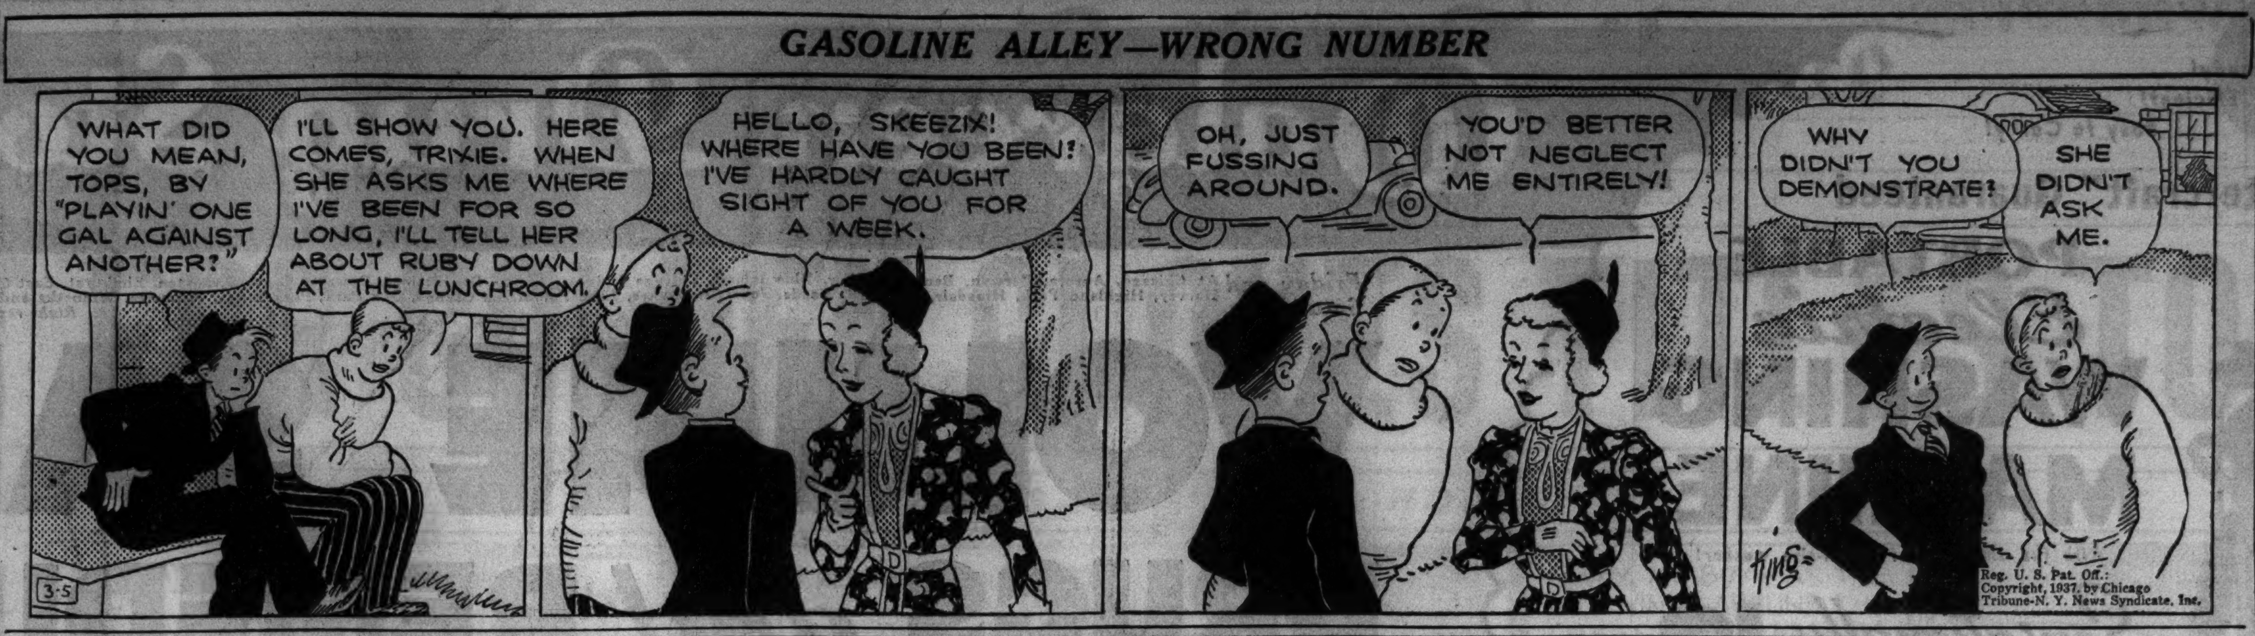
"We are not married," the soprano added, "but shall be before Christmas." Since then, however, there has been no confirmation by either of them of marriage.

Their new program will be heard at 8 p. m. Wednesdays, the same hour Fred Allen is on NBC.

A battle for spelling supremacy between the young men of Harvard university and the girls of Radcliffe college is to be broadcast on the Spelling Bee program over WENR-NBC at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow. Gratifying, isn't it, to learn that our collegians are not spending all their time wrestling with problems on cosmic [or atomic] planes?

And, in order that our children may keep up with the tempo of our times Josef Cherniavsky, formerly of the Chicago theater pit, will play a group of nursery songs in swing time at 3:30 p. m. Sunday on WMAQ-NBC. The Cherniavsky crew expects to get in the groove on "Three Blind Mice," "Row, Row, Row Your Boat," and "Scotland's Burning." What, no "London Bridge Is Falling Down"?

The first large scale use of television in connection with a public event is scheduled for the British coronation May 12. Engineers are now at work along the entire route of the procession laying special cables that will connect the machines on the spot with BBC's studios. The venture will be a costly one, it is said. Wires alone cost more than $5 a yard.



GASOLINE ALLEY—WRONG NUMBER

WHAT DID YOU MEAN, TOPS, BY "PLAYIN' ONE GAL AGAINST ANOTHER?"
I'LL SHOW YOU. HERE COMES, TRIXIE. WHEN SHE ASKS ME WHERE I'VE BEEN FOR SO LONG, I'LL TELL HER ABOUT RUBY DOWN AT THE LUNCHROOM.
HELLO, SKEEZIX! WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN! I'VE HARDLY CAUGHT SIGHT OF YOU FOR A WEEK.
OH, JUST FUSSING AROUND.
YOU'D BETTER NOT NEGLECT ME ENTIRELY!
WHY DIDN'T YOU DEMONSTRATE?
SHE DIDN'T ASK ME.

MONTREAL, Que., March 4.—(AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks, keeping alive the faintest of hopes for a National Hockey league playoff berth, defeated the sectional leading Montreal Canadiens, 5 to 3, tonight for their third victory in five days. They played more like champions than a team on the verge of elimination.

Before 5,000 fans, Johnny Gottselig ran up a two goal first period lead and the cellar dwellers of the United States section never were headed. The teams split four goals in the second period and two in the third, when the Hawks should have had a dozen, so often did they break two and three abreast on the unprotected Wilf Cude.

Larochelle, Thompson Score.

The Hawks skated the Canadiens ragged most of the way. George Mantha, with the first of two goals, cut their lead once in the second period and Paul Haynes did it again eight minutes later after Wilder Larochelle and Paul Thompson had fired past Cude. Pep Kelly and Mantha split the last pair.

Only Cude's brilliant work during the last half of the third period, when his defense left him alone almost all the time, prevented the Hawks from running up a wider margin.

The Canadiens bombarded Karakas for the first three minutes, but after a change of lines the Hawks went in front on Johnny Gottselig's goal. Working with Mush March and Louis Trudell, the Hawk winger slipped past the Frenchmen's defense when Buswell fell and blasted a stinging 15 footer through Cude's leg pads.

Karakas Stops Mantha.

Lorrain set up Mantha with a close in drive, but Karakas got an elbow on it. Then Thompson forced Cude to hop for a low, hard shot from 15 feet. The teams were playing wide open hocky, easy to watch as play sped from end to end with few whistle interruptions.

Playing like champions instead of cellar dwellers, the Hawks matched the Canadiens at their own game—speed—and scored the second goal at 17:07. Gottselig again was the scorer, catching the corner with a backhand shot along the ice after taking Trudell's pass at the defense. They almost had another a second later, Cude diving to take the puck from Thompson.

Gagnon Is Penalized.

Four and five abreast, the Canadiens assailed Karakas for five minutes and still couldn't beat him. The move almost proved disastrous, for three Hawks broke away with none but Cude to beat.

The Canadiens finally scored at 8:57 on a brilliant effort by Mantha. Taking the puck from McKenzie at his blue line, Mantha raced down right wing, faked a shot and went around the cage beating Karakas on the other side.

Gottselig almost got his third goal shortly after, lashing at Cude with a backhander that the goalie barely deflected. Cude, however, didn't even see a shot from Wilder Larochelle at 14:25.

Both Get a Goal.

Each team scored near the end of the period. Thompson scored for the Hawks, backhanding home Buswell's attempt to clear, and then Haynes shot a goalmouth pass from Joliat past Karakas.

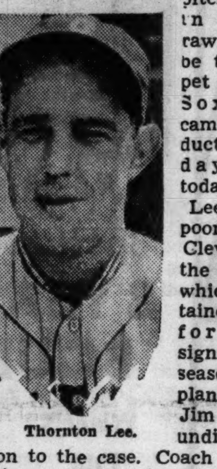
A penalty to March after a few minutes' play gave Canadiens the first player advantage of the game but Hawks, and not Canadiens, had the best chances while March was off. Kelly punched home another Hawk goal after 11 minutes, robbing Miller of the puck to coast in on Cude. In another 45 seconds Mantha had it back.

Gottselig and Blake went off for a brief show of fighting and with the teams cut down, Canadiens stormed on top of Karakas. They couldn't beat him, however.

'MY LEFTY LEE' IS PROF. DYKES' LATEST SOX HIT

Sees Big Pitcher as Real Asset.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Thornton Lee.

Pasadena, Cal., March 4.—Thornton K. Lee, 205 pounds of left handed pitching prowess in a supposedly raw state, is to be the teacher's pet of the White Sox training camp, which conducted its second day of business today.

Lee, despite his poor record as a Cleveland Indian, the club from which he was obtained, is ticketed for regular assignments this season, hence the plan of Manager Jim Dykes to give undivided attention to the case. Coach Muddy Ruel, being a pretty wise bird about pitchers, will assist in the possible development.

Dykes Thinks It's a Bargain.

It isn't exactly new to mention that Dykes believes he struck a bargain when he captured the big southpaw by giving away Jack Salveson. The Sox manager kept an eye on Lee for a couple of years and despite the frequent difficulties into which the southpaw tumbled, Dykes continued to think it was entirely a matter of proper and patient tutoring. He has a great curve ball, a fast ball that has some sort of a freakish break, and the strength of a draught horse.

Should Lee prove that Dykes is a fairly slick judge of pitching men, and that Ruel is up to a similar standard as a schoolmaster, the Sox should have a high class flinging corps for the impending campaign. Lee can make it just that much better than it was last season and it was above average at that time.

Along with Lee the team has Kennedy, Lyons, Whitehead, Stratton, Brown, Cain, Dietrich, and another possibility in Vernon Wilshere, also a southpaw. That's nine men and might be the same nine which will survive after Dykes has completed his whittling on May 15.

Report Wilshere O. K.

The staf present in the current training class totals 13 students, so four of these are privileged to suspect the unlucky number might eventually prove their undoing. The retention of Italo Lefty Celini depends entirely on how much Lee and Wilshere can show between now and the time the squad must be reduced to 23 players. Wilshere, who was a phenom for a time after Connie Mack snared him at Indiana university, and then developed a sore arm which precipitated his outright release, is supposed to have shaken off the muscular ailment.

There doesn't seem to be much reason to worry about the condition of Kennedy's left knee. The man who won 21 games last season, although injured before the race was half gone, reported that the leg troubled him after his first drill yesterday, but that the soreness had vanished today.

Whitehead Gets Workout.

John Whitehead, who showed up too late for yesterday's inaugural, made his bow today and received enough attention to make up for the exercise he dodged. He's not overweight as the result of a winter on home victuals, but Dykes refused to be influenced by appearances. He put John Henderson in the outfield and had him chase flies which were purposely aimed far away.

Another who made his debut today was Tom McBride, a kid outfielder from the Long View club of the East Texas league. He undoubtedly has a year or two to go before reaching his peak, but nevertheless is considered a swell prospect. He played the infield at Austin college, Sherman, Tex., and did the same at Long View before being turned into the outfield, so Dykes is going to try him out in both departments. His infield specialties are shortstop and second base,

Mme. Henrotin Wins to Reach Net Semi-final

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Madame Sylvia Henrotin of France, the only foreigner in the national indoor tennis tourney, completed the semi-final bracket in the women's division today by defeating Helen Bernhard of New York, 6-1, 6-1, in the day's only singles match.

Frank Parker of Milwaukee and Gregory Mangin of New York, men's doubles favorites, advanced on a default early in the day and defeated Frank J. Bowden of New York, and Gilbert A. Hunt of Washington, 6-4, 6-4, to reach the semi-finals.

Parker to Meet Jones.

Tomorrow Parker meets David Jones of New York, in the singles semi-finals. Bowden will play Walter Senior of San Francisco, in the upper half of the bracket.

The women's semi-final singles which open tomorrow's program pit Norma Taubele of New York, the top ranking player, against Millicent Hirsh, another New Yorker, seeded third, and Mme. Henrotin against Charlotte C. McNeill of Bound Brook, N. J. Miss McNeill turned in the only upset in the women's division when she defeated second ranking Florence Leboutellier of Westbury, N. Y., yesterday.

Champions in Finals.

Miss Taubele and Miss Leboutellier defeated Mrs. H. C. Brunie and Mrs. George Cabot of New York, 6-2, 6-4, in their semi-final women's doubles match today. They meet the defending champions, Mme. Henrotin and Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of New York, Saturday night. Mme. Henrotin and Mrs. Andrus won the title in 1935 and successfully defended it last year.

GARDEN WILL ASK COURT'S HELP TO HOLD BRADDOCK

Would Force Champion to Meet Schmeling.

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Madison Square Garden will press its claim on Heavyweight Boxing Champion Jim Braddock for a title bout against Max Schmeling by charging him with "anticipatory breach of contract," it was learned today.

Federal court action, seeking to enjoin the champion from ignoring his June 3 date with Schmeling and meeting Joe Louis in Chicago on June 22, will be instituted next week, according to Leonard Moore of the Garden's law firm.

At the same time, Schmeling's exhibition tour, which was scheduled to open next Monday night in Newark, N. J., has been postponed for ten days or two weeks.

May Act Against Gould, Foley.

"We've gotta be around until they get the court action underway," said Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager.

"But we're not calling the tour off," added Jacobs, declaring that the delay was not occasioned by boycott and picket threats by the Nonsectarian Anti-Nazi league.

The litigation against the champion will be launched "next Tuesday or Wednesday," said Moore, adding it is undetermined whether subsequent action will be started against Braddock's manager, Joe Gould, and the promoter of the Chicago fight, Joe Foley.

"We're interested in instituting suit against the principal, and he is Braddock," said Moore. "We are basing the action on statements by Braddock and his manager that they have no intention of going through with the New York fight."

Aim to Halt Chicago Bout.

"Naturally we can't sue Braddock for breach of contract, not yet, anyway, but certainly there has been threatened breach of contract and our ultimate aim will be to enjoin Braddock from going through with the Chicago fight."

When Gould accepted the Louis fight he was quoted as saying, "We'll worry later about the Garden contract" and any suit that might develop after Braddock signed to meet the Brown Bomber.

In the presence of New York state's athletic commissioners, Braddock signed on Dec. 11 to defend the title against Schmeling on June 3 under the Garden's promotion. The fighters agreed to two stipulations: [1] That the winner of the bout post $25,000 guaranteeing defense of the title in New York in six months; [2] That Braddock be barred from meeting Louis before June 3.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Once again to a capacity crowd—all seats have been sold for more than a week—the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will present the finals in the tenth annual Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions at the Stadium tonight.

On the program which starts at 8 o'clock there will be 24 rousing battles in which 32 boys will take part. Eight will remain unbeaten when the firing ends. These eight will be acclaimed by the 21,000 spectators, for they will be the Golden Gloves champions of 1937.

Thus will end at about 11 o'clock the largest and most spectacular boxing show in the world.

Nearly three months ago 21,000 boys in 17 states, hopeful of winning a Golden Glove, started fighting in this great competition which reaches its climax tonight.

And Charity Benefits.

Forty-five cities sent teams into this year's tournament. Counting their sectional crowds, the throng at the Stadium tonight and the one which will gather there on the night of March 24 when Chicago's champions meet New York, a fair estimate of Golden Gloves attendance this year is 1,000,000.

And at least half a million dollars has been raised in these 17 states which will go to charity.

If you haven't a ticket for tonight's show there's still one chance for you. At 8 o'clock at gates 1 and 3 on Madison street and at gate 6 on Warren venue, 3,000 general admission tickets at 50 cents, including tax, will go on sale.

Now back to tonight's battles.

Here's List of Fighters.

DEMPSEY WORKS OUT IN COURT—UNDER ORDERS

Bootblack Charges Jack Hit Him.

Jack Dempsey.

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—A little colored bootblack bossed Jack Dempsey around in City court today and stenographers who had deserted their typewriters to see the former heavyweight champion strained their eyes to see the sight.

The bootblack, Charles McFarland, 5 feet 8, gave orders to the Manassa Mauler in showing how Dempsey allegedly gave him $3,000 worth of playful jabs in the stomach in January, 1935.

"Stand Over Here!"

"No," said the bootblack roughly. "Stand just the way you was when you hit me."

"I don't remember hitting you," grinned the heavyweight, but he bent slightly forward the way McFarland asked.

Taking the stand himself later, Dempsey fingered the creases in his carefully tailored gray suit and firmly denied that he hit the bootblack, playfully or otherwise.

"He was helping me on with my coat," Dempsey said, "and suddenly he stepped back and said, 'You hit me.'

"I said, 'Aw, you can't take it.'

"I hadn't touched him. I never had had any trouble with him and I had thought of giving him a job in my restaurant across the street."

He related that police had called to notify him that the bootblack was seeking a warant for his arrest on a charge of criminal assault. "The police laughed about it," he said.

They're All with Jack.

Asked what he meant by telling the Negro, "Aw, you can't take it, Dempsey reiterated, "I never touched him."

Police, physicians, and barbers have sided with Dempsey in the controversy, it appeared. Patrolman Frank D. Byrne said on the stand that McFarland first told him Dempsey had struck him with his clenched fist, and later changed his story to say he was injured by Dempsey's elbow.

Barbers in the shop are to be called as witnesses for Dempsey. McFarland asserted also that after physicians heard Dempsey was involved, 'they wouldn't have anything to do with the case."

Justice Vincent S. Lippe, who is hearing the case before a jury, indicated earlier that he might throw the case out because no intent to commit assault had been shown.

Stepping down from the bench, the justice said:

"If in getting down from my bench I jostle my attendant, that wouldn't be assault."

PATTY BERG WINS; WILL MEET JANE COTHRAN TODAY

St. Augustine, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—The breaks helped Patty Berg today and the Minneapolis girl advanced to the semi-finals of the Florida East Coast Women's Golf tournament. Patty won on the last green from Helen Detweiler of Washington after being two down at the turn.

Patty's opponent tomorrow, Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., came through with an upset victory over Jean Bauer of Providence, D. I., 5 and 4.

Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, the other semi-finalist, came from behind to win, 2 to 1, over Mrs. William Hockinjos Jr. of Lake Hopatcong, N. J.

Wings Defeat Rangers, 2-1, in Last Period

Detroit, Mich., March 4.—(AP)—Detroit's champion Red Wings won a 2 to 1 decision from the New York Rangers before 11,753 tonight to come within two points of clinching the leadership of the National Hocky league's American division.

Pete Kelly's third period goal at 5:16 was Detroit's winning tally, climaxing a play in which Wally Kilrea passed to Goodfellow at left wing and Goodfellow fed the puck to Kelly in front of the nets. Lineups:

MARQUETTE FAILS TO NAME COACH FOR MURRAY JOB

Milwaukee, Wis., March 4.—[Special.]—Marquette university has not yet selected its new football coach. Dean J. L. O'Sullivan, faculty member of the Hilltop athletic board, today said the board met last night, but failed to name a successor to Frank Murray, who recently resigned to accept the coaching position at the University of Virginia. Paddy Driscoll, athletic director at St. Mel High school, Chicago, is among the leading candidates for the job.

The athletic board convened again tonight to consider applications for the position. Chairman William Coffey said no decision would be reached.

Athletic Director Conrad Jennings said, "We have positively not made a choice and will not make one until next week. Paddy Driscoll is being considered, as well as others, but we have not gone further than informal discussions of any of the candidates."

De Paul Plays Last Game for Kelly Tonight

James D. Kelly, De Paul's athletic director and coach, will sit on the De Paul bench for the last time tonight when his basketball charges conclude their season against North Central college of Naperville. The game will be played in De Paul's gymnasium.

De Paul football and basketball teams, under Kelly's direction, gained nation-wide prominence. In the last eight years Kelly coached basketball teams won 126 games while losing 22, for an .823 percentage.

Against Big Ten competition De Paul's record is impressive. During the 1933-'34 season the Demons went undefeated, winning 17 contests. The only loss the next year was a defeat at the hands of Purdue's championship squad. Kelly soon will leave for his new post at Minnesota.

From this year's team, also outstanding, the first five regulars, Ed Campion, Fred Knez, Nick Yost, Willie Phillips, and Bill Wendt will be playing their last game tonight. Probable lineups:

SOUTHPAW GOLF MEET GIVEN TO OLYMPIA FIELDS

Samuel G. Alpert, Illinois chairman of the National Association of Left Handed Golfers, announced yesterday that organization's second annual tournament will be held at the Olympia Fields Country club during the week of Aug. 16. One hundred and eighty southpaws from 25 states participated in the 1936 meet at St. Louis, championship victory in which went to Howard Creel of Pueblo, Colo.

There will be two competitions conducted simultaneously. The championship division will be a serious affair, played strictly in accord with rules of the United States Golf association. The schedule will call for 36 holes daily.

For those who take their golf less seriously, there will be a vacation division, the entrants in which will be required to play 18 holes each day.

FOXX AGREES ON 1937 CONTRACT WITH RED SOX

Mize Quits Card Holdouts; Dean Last Recalcitrant.

Jimmy Foxx.

"Jimmy said he was satisfied with the arrangement," Collins said.

Foxx refused to sign a contract following reports that he was offered $5,000 less than he received last year.

GIANTS BEAT AMATEURS, 7-2.

HAVANA, March 4.—(AP)—The New York Giants won their first training camp exhibition in four starts today, by defeating the Fortuna Amateur Champions, 7 to 2, before 3,000 in Tropical stadium.

Tom Ferrick, Bill Yarewick, and John Hubbell, brother of Carl, split the Giants' pitching assignment, each hurling three innings, and held Fortuna scoreless until Hubbell weakened in the ninth.

VINCE DI MAGGIO REPORTS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Vince Di Maggio, elder brother of the New York Yankees' sophomore star Joe, appeared unexpectedly in the Boston Bees' camp today and almost disrupted the workout with his long distance hitting. Manager Bill McKechnie, who is counting on Di Maggio for one of his regular outfield positions, refused to become excited as Vince rapped one drive to the left field scoreboard and put another over the right field wall.

FELLER APT PUPIL.

New Orleans, La., March 4.—(AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill termed Bob Feller, Cleveland's youthful strikeout artist, the best pupil in the Tribe's training camp today. O'Neill said Feller digests coaching quickly and shows "willingness and ability to learn." The manager indicated he expects Willis Hudlin, Cleveland 1936 one victory hurler, to stage a comeback.

YANKEES FACE CURVES.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Continued hot weather in the New York Yankees' training camp had the pitchers so thawed out today that they threw the first curves of the spring season at unsuspecting batsmen.

Bump Hadley, right hander, who is losing pounds daily under the broiling sun, was the first to curve the ball. The result was he nearly beaned Infielder Don Heffner.

MIZE REPORTS TODAY.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 4.—[Special.]—Johnny Mize, the St. Louis Cardinals' slugging first baseman, came to terms today and will report tomorrow at the Cards' training camp here. Secretary Clarence Lloyd refused to reveal the amount the rookie infielder will receive for the 1937 season. The signing of Mize leaves Dizzy Dean as the Cardinals' only holdout.

DODGERS BEGIN HITTING.

Clearwater, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Manager Burleigh Grimes lifted the ban on batting in the Brooklyn Dodgers' training camp today and gave sluggers such as Catcher Babe Phelps their first pleasant workout of the conditioning campaign. In his only time at the plate, Phelps banged a single and scored the first run.

ATHLETICS WIN, 7-3.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, March 4.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics regulars enjoyed a batfest at the expense of three Mexican pitchers today, collected 18 hits and trounced the Comintra club in an exhibition game, 12 to 3. Finney, Yount, Peters, and Hayes smashed home runs for the American league team.

MYERS BEGINS HITTING.

Orlando, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Second Baseman Buddy Myers gave the Senators evidence today he has recovered the batting eye that failed him last year.

In the first batting practice he sent base hits into the outfield in a manner reminiscent of 1935, when he won the batting championship of the American league.

Dick Metz's 63 Takes Lead in Florida Golf

Dick Metz.

His card was seven strokes under par and one under the course record set last year by Tony Penna of Chicago. With an initial 69, it gave Metz 132 for the halfway mark in the 72 hole event which ends tomorrow.

Ky Laffoon of Chicago tied the old mark with a 64. His outward 35 was one under par and he came back with an amazing 29.

Ky Ties for Second.

That gave him a 36 hole total of 136 and a tie for second place with Johnny Farrell and Jimmy Hines of New York. Farrell, former national open champion and home club pro, added a 69 today to his opening 67. Hines hung up a 65, third lowest score of the day, to go with a 71. One stroke behind them at 137 was Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., who shot a 66.

Johnny Revolta of Chicago, the opening round leader with 66, slipped to 72 today and tied, at 138, with Walter Scheiber of New York, who had 71 and 67.

Metz Never Over Par.

Metz, who won the recent Thomasville, Ga., open, never was over par and marked up seven birdies. He used only 27 putts. So accurate were his approaches that few of the putts were long, five of the birdies dropping on putts under eight feet.

HOLD MASS FOR ROCKNE, KILLED SIX YEARS AGO

Cottonwood Falls, Kas., March 4.—(AP)—Nearly 100 persons motored here today to attend a mass meeting for Knute Rockne, who was killed in an airplane crash near Cottonwood Falls, almost six years ago.

After the mass, the caravan from Kansas City, Emporia, Strong City, and Cottonwood Falls went to the pasture south of Bazaar where a monument marks the site of the crash.

Brubaker Made Manager of Team at Vicksburg

Alameda, Cal., March 4.—(AP)—Ray Brubaker, former player, manager and umpire in the Pacific Coast league, said today he had been named manager of the Vicksburg club in the Cotton States league. Vicksburg is a Chicago White Sox farm. Its players are recruited mostly from the Dallas Texas league club, main link in the White Sox chain.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

HERE AND THERE.

MIAMI, Fla., March 4.—Arlington Park is well represented at the present Hialeah meeting, ending Saturday with running of the Widener $50,000 handicap, by officers and directors, Otto W. Lehmann, John D. Hertz, C. A. McCulloch, Leonard S. Florsheim, Warren Wright.

Rumor bruits about that Arlington Park soon may make an important announcement to horsemen concerning value of its daily purses with a view to giving Chicago higher class sport than ever before.

Increase in attendance and speculation at both Hialeah and Santa Anita, conforming to general business conditions, augurs a successful turf season nationally. Speculation, from which most tracks derive bulk of their revenue through the mutuel "take," is especially important to a track like Arlington Park in Chicago.

Since Arlington Park never has and never purposes to pay dividends to its stockholders, added revenues go toward improvements and conveniences for its patrons and to more liberal purse and stake offerings to horsemen, naturally attracting higher class contention. That is why The Wake so often may seem almost unduly interested in the volume of play.

* *

From what we can learn there is not great apprehension that the bill introduced in congress to impose a federal tax of 5 per cent on all racing wagers will become law. Senators and representatives from states now deriving revenue from legalized betting are expected to oppose. Turfmen recognize that the take or "kitty" on race bets is just about as heavy as the trafic will bear without materially lowering the revenues received.

Baseball teams already are trekking into these parts for training preliminary to the major league races of 1937. Just think, in about six weeks more homers will be whistling over the fences of Wrigley field and Comiskey park.

Considering the number of visitors from the middlewest in this section, perhaps it's not surprising how many have closely followed the Big Ten thrilling basketball race. One short-time vacationist from Ann Arbor comes to our cottage every day to borrow final editions of THE TRIBUNE, seeking latest gossip on the title fight. He's all a-dither over the Wolverines.

The Final Voyage.

When I embark upon the final voyage,
I ask not grief nor promises that bind,
I wish no eulogies of flowery phrasing
From those remaining on the shores behind.

One day when they tune in on memory's dial,
Shall say, "She had an understanding heart"—

21,000 to See Golden Gloves Finals Tonight

port at the Stadium between 1 and 2 o'clock this afternoon to be weighed in and to undergo final physical examinations. At 2 o'clock the drawings will be made. The winners of the first sixteen bouts will come together again in the eight championship battles immediately after the semi-final scraps end.

Those who have followed the Tournament of Champions bouts since they started on the night of Feb. 22 believe the greatest fireworks will come in the welterweight, middleweight and heavy divisions.

The four heavyweight survivors shape up as the strongest ever to fight for a Golden Glove in one tournament. The four include last year's champion, Paul Hartnek of Omaha; Lem Franklin, the powerful puncher from Cleveland who has won his last nine fights on knockouts, seven of them in the first round; Elza Thompson, 225 pound colored boy from Indianapolis, and Bob Dennis of Detroit.

The welterweight and middleweight division fights also promise to be hard punching affairs.

From South Bend will come a big crowd to cheer for Tommy Pallatin, youthful automobile factory worker of that city who last year was the National A. A. U. lightweight champion.

Other big out of town delegations are coming from Gary, which has two boxers left; from Detroit, which is making a strong bid for the out of town team trophy with three qualifiers, and from Kansas City, Cleveland, St. Louis, Oklahoma City, Davenport, and almost every city that has become a part of the Golden Gloves organization.

N. U. TO INVADE MIDWAY TONIGHT FOR TRACK DUEL

Purple Squad Is Favored Over Maroons.

Tuning up for the Western conference indoor track and field championships next week, Northwestern and Chicago will engage in a dual meet at the University of Chicago fieldhouse tonight at 8 o'clock.

Northwestern is favored to defeat the Maroons on basis of its victory in the three-way meet with Chicago and Purdue last week. The Purple squad is expected to score heavily in the dashes and longer runs.

Chief source of Maroon points probably will be Capt. John Beal and Nat Newman in the hurdles, and George Halcrow in the quarter mile.

PITT INVADES MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 4.—[Special.]—University of Michigan's track and field team, headed for another Big Ten indoor championship, will engage University of Pittsburgh representatives in an intersectional meet tomorrow night in Yost field house.

The Wolverines, with overwhelming victories over Michigan State and Ohio State, are favored to win, but the Panthers have several outstanding performers, among them Johnny Woodruff, Olympic 800 meter champion.

ILLINI MEET NOTRE DAME

Champaign, Ill., March 4.—[Special.]—Notre Dame and Illinois track teams will meet in their 22d annual track meet here tomorrow night. A banner event will probably be the race between Francis of Notre Dame and Gaines in the half mile. Francis defeated the Illinois runner at Notre Dame last year in 1:57.3 for a new meet record.

Another good match is predicted between Mahoney of the Irish and Robinson in the hurdles. Capt. Duane Cullinan, hurdler, and Lowell Spurgeon, high jumper, will be unable to compete for Illinois on account of injuries. Illinois has won 18 and Notre Dame 3 of the previous indoor meets.

HUGUELET WINS CASTING EVENT AT SPORTS SHOW

Glenn Huguelet, the eldest of three brothers who are competing in this year's Tribune casting tournament, last night won the fishermen's event at the boat and sport show at Navy pier. He scored a 96 to win the title for the second time in three years. In 1935 he won the fishermen's event and last year he finished second.

His two brothers, Milton and George, will compete in the novice event to be held Saturday afternoon at the pier.

Second place last night went to G. F. Didier, who scored a 93. H. L. Walther and C. A. Garnsey tied for third with scores of 92. Garnsey won the castoff, 92 to 82, to win the right to compete in the final event Saturday night.

Women casters will compete in the tournament at 7:30 tonight. The novice event, for boys and girls under 16, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, followed by the finals at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Gov. Elmer A. Benson of Minnesota is scheduled to attend the boat and sport show today and make an appearance at the Minnesota booth.

Tomorrow is Aviation day, and Sunday has been set aside as Yachtsmen's day. The show will close Sunday night after an eight day run.

Six Quintets Win Way to Finals of C. Y. O. Tourney

Close games marked the semi-finals in the Catholic Youth organization basketball tournament last night as six teams qualified for the championship matches. St. Elizabeth defeated the St. George heavies, 30 to 29, at St. Bernard's gym. St. Anthony, defending its heavyweight title, beat Mary of the Lake, 22 to 17.

The St. Laurence and St. Angela lights won their way to the finals after close battles. St. Angela beat St. Valentine at Queen of Angels gym, 20 to 19, after an overtime period in which Collins of St. Angela sank a basket in the last five seconds. St. Laurence beat St. Dorothy, 21 to 20, at St. Bernard's gym.

In the girls' division St. Ignatius, defending champion, and St. Philip Neri will meet in the finals after victories last night. St. Philip Neri defeated Resurrection, 18 to 11, and St. Ignatius beat Immaculate Conception, 10 to 7.

Finals will be held Sunday at the 132d Infantry armory, 2656 Madison street, for C. Y. O. basketball championships in the girls', lightweight, and heavyweight divisions.

INJURY FORCES GIRL RACER OUT OF ROLLER DERBY

Jerry Luther, who was teamed with Jay Levy in the roller Derby at the Coliseum, was forced to withdraw last night when her knee was injured in a spill. Levy will continue in the race, but has no chance of winning unless he finds a girl skater who also lost a partner. Gene Vizena and Fuzzy Pierz continued to lead the Derby by a slight margin over Ivy King and Wes Aronson and Louise Thomas and Joe Kleats.

Tomorrow night the time limit on jams will be removed and the skaters will jam continuously. The Derby ends Sunday night.

6 Prep Teams Will Run in Chicago Relays

Six high school relay teams from the Chicago district will share the spotlight with national and Olympic champions tomorrow night at International Amphitheater in the Chicago relays. Three public school relay teams, from Englewood, Lake View, and Schurz, and three Catholic high school quartets, representing De Paul academy, Loyola, and St. Ignatius, will clash in special match events.

Six Big Ten relay teams, as well as mile relay combinations from Marquette and Notre Dame, are to be seen in tomorrow's track carnival. Northwestern, Illinois, and Chicago are matched in the one mile relay. In the other all Big Ten conference relay test, teams from Ohio State, Purdue, and Indiana will compete.

The feature event, the revival of the Banker's mile, will see Glenn Cunningham, representing the New York Curb exchange, meeting such outstanding rivals as Archie San Romani and Gene Venzke.

Joie Ray, five time winner of the Banker's mile, will be an honored guest when the race is revived. The former mile champion, who ran for the I. A. C. for more than a decade, is coming from East Gary, Ind., to attend the relays. Ray, having won more than 800 trophies and medals, now at 42 years of age is employed on the midnight shift in a steel mill.

by RICHARD SEIBOLD, Brewmaster

MANY folks think I take too much trouble in making MEISTER BRÄU. That the public today doesn't know the difference. But our sales records show most people love old-time beer made the old-time way.

I'll admit our methods are slow. We had MEISTER BRÄU in cans for eight months before releasing it to the public. We took all this time to satisfy ourselves we could satisfy you.

Then we're just as slow in our method of brewing. We use no sugars or syrups in brewing. They would save us time and money, but would give the beer a sweetish taste. We won't use ordinary Malt and Hops. We pay a premium for the finest—for low-grade ingredients make a beer bitter. We could save time in cleaning the Malt and Hops by boiling extra long to boil away the chaff. But that boils the life out of the beer.

Thus I get the full high foam and sparkle with natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself. That's why I don't need to use artificial gas in bottling or canning.

I know you'll find a real difference in MEISTER BRÄU Beer . . . made the old slow way. It's now obtainable in cans or bottles. But to be sure of getting beer made this way ask for MEISTER BRÄU. You'll be thankful for a bottled or canned beer made like draft beer.

TEXAS SENATE READY TO INTER HORSE RACING

Death Blow to Betting Is Expected Wednesday.

Austin, Tex., March 4.—(AP)—Legal- ed betting on horse races in Texas uffered a major blow in the legisla- ure today, and both friends and op- onents said it apparently was headed r the discard.

In a surprising coup, advocates of epealing the state law which legal- zed pari-mutuel wagering in 1933 rought up the issue in the senate y attaching a repeal amendment to noncontroversial measure and en- rossed the bill, 20 to 8. Engrossment the last step before a bill comes p for final passage.

A four-fifths vote necessary for nal passage was lacking, but the easure probably will come up next eek, possibly Wednesday, and should e senate pass it, concurrence by e house of representatives in the mendment would be final except for gnature by Gov. James V. Allred.

Governor Urges Repeal.

The house recently voted, 107 to 24, r repeal on another measure, and ov. Allred has urged it.

In committee hearings testimony as given that repeal would result closing tracks, of which Texas has everal large ones, valued at millions dollars. Tax revenue amounting approximately $500,000 annually so would be lost.

If the senate mustered one more ote on final passage, the house also oncurred by a two-thirds majority nd the governor signed, the bill ould be effective June 1.

Offered as Amendment.

The fireworks broke after the sen- e began consideration of a house ll requiring that a percentage of ce track employés be native Texans, d Senator G. H. Nelson offered the mendment to outlaw horse race tting.

ARKANSAS PASSES BILL.

Little Rock, Ark., March 4.—[Spe- al.]—By a vote of 25 to 7 the Arkan- s senate today passed a bill already pproved by the house of representa- ves which permits pari-mutuel bet- ng at all county fair race meets in e state. After the senate's favor- le action, the bill was sent to the overnor for his signature.

ZOIC, showing a world of speed, outran his field from the start, opened a good gap entering the stretch and stood long drive gamely. FRAIDY CAT, on the outside, was bothered several times by LADY HIGLOSS but closed gamely and was wearing the winner down. LADY HIGLOSS broke good, was taken a bit wide on the turn, but tired. SIR QUEST ran a good race.

HUNTERDON trailed far back for the first six furlongs, circled field and, closing with a rush, won going away. PRINCE DEAN also came around field and finished fast. DESERTER got to the front on turn and then hung. BLIND BROOK ran a good race. PAY RACK tired badly.

STRATEGIST II. slipped through on inside entering stretch and just got up to win. MANNERLY ran into lead in stretch and held on well under a weak ride. SAINTLITE best of the others. EMVEE had plenty of speed, but tired.

Leonard and Graves Head Fronton Card

Kid Leonard, East Moline, Ill., middleweight, a winning performer two years ago, and Keith Graves, 1934 Peoria Golden Gloves sectional champion, tonight will meet in a return bout at eight rounds at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Graves won the decision in their first meeting a few weeks ago. Tommy Howell, a former sectional champion from Danville, Ill., and Harry Booker, south side junior welterweight, will be opponents in the five round secondary feature. Matches at four rounds will involve Jack Fargo and Paul Williams, Billy Gladstone and Johnny Terry, and Johnny Pekovitch and Joey Richards.

Paul Frazier, last year's intercity Golden Gloves middleweight winner, will meet Frank McBride in the windup bout on the amateur card to be presented tonight at Johnny Coulon's club, 1154 East 63d street. . . . Another show tonight at the Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street, will be headed by a five round contest between Whitey Looser, Aurora 160 pounder, and Sherman Edwards. . . . Max Zona, Chicago Heights heavyweight, has accepted a bout with Buddy Knox at Dayton, O., March 15. He is demanding a $300 guarantee to fight Jimmy Adamick at Detroit next Wednesday. . . .

Danny Farrar, 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight king, paused in the loop yesterday en route from Durham, N. C., to Madison, Wis., where boxers representing Duke university engage Wisconsin's team in a series of contests tonight.

All Baba, erstwhile heavyweight wrestling titleholder, has been matched with George Mansor in a supplementary encounter to the title engagement concerning Champion Everett Marshall and Oki Shikina at the Coliseum Monday. Other bouts will bring together Ray Steele and Hans Schnabel, Chief Sanooke and Sun Jennings, and Jack Conley and Jack Curtis. The headliner is listed for 90 minutes and the supporting clashes for 30 minutes each except the Conley-Curtis clash which is booked for 20 minutes.

Johnny Cellura, Detroit junior lightweight, yesterday agreed to box Young Mickey Walker of Sioux City, Ia., for five rounds at Marigold Gardens Monday. Pat Robertson and Paul Lee will be principals in the eight round main event. A match at four rounds will involve Ray Baker, promising lightweight from Grand Forks, N. D., and Johnny Campbell of Lethbridge, Alta. . . .

Izzy Kline, Golden Gloves trainer, will depart Monday for New York where he will leave on the Queen Mary for London to join Max Baer's party there. Izzy will direct the ex-heavyweight champion's training routine for two contests in London, the first against Tommy Farr or Ben Foord on April 19 and the other against an opponent to be selected for a contest during coronation week in May.

Joe Louis yesterday came in from his retreat at Stevensville, Mich., and opened preparations for an exhibition tour which will open in Des Moines, Ia., next Tuesday. The Brown Bomber, who won the light heavyweight Golden Gloves crown at the Stadium three years ago, will begin sparing sessions this afternoon at Trafton's gymnasium and continue until Sunday when he heads west.

COTTON, SILVER LEAD TRADE IN COMMODITIES

India Purchases Metal on War Outlook.

Advances in cotton and silver prices marked trading in the commodity markets yesterday. The New York price of imported silver reached 45½ cents an ounce, the highest figure quoted since Jan. 7, and three-quarters of a cent above Wednesday's level. Yesterday's rise in price was the first change in the market in six weeks.

The London silver market has been climbing for several days, reputedly on buying from India. The demand is said to have resulted from the recent increase in war risk insurance premiums which led Indian buyers to believe that the chances of a conflict were increasing.

ILL. NORTHERN PROFIT SHADE HIGHER IN 1936

Sales of Electric Power Best on Record.

Net income of the Illinois Northern Utilities company in 1936 amounted to $621,310, or $11.37 per share on preferred stocks, largest since 1932, according to the anual report issued yesterday by George R. Jones, president. In 1935 $620,250, or $11.35 a share on the preferred was earned.

Plan Exchange of Stock.

Under a proposed exchange offer preferred stockholders of Illinois Northern Utilities would be given Commonwealth Edison common shares for present holdings.

Illinois Northern's operating revenues for 1936 amounted to $3,734,291, an increase of 15.7 per cent over the $3,228,580 for 1935. Of the total, electric business accounted for $3,227,736, which was 18.7 per cent above the electric revenues for 1935.

Gas Revenues Rise 2 Pct.

Operating expenses and taxes amounted to $2,614,049, an increase of 24.4 per cent over the $2,100,906 for the preceding year. Taxes amounted to $480,267, including surtax of $12,000 on undistributed earnings, an increase of 31.5 per cent over the 1935 tax bill of $365,173.

Sales of electric energy last year were the largest in the company's history totaling 113,280,074 kilowatt hours, an increase of 51,553,808, or 83.5 per cent over 1935.

BOOST IN BANK RESERVES CUTS SURPLUS FUNDS

The increase in bank reserves which went into effect March 1 reduced surplus funds of the member banks of the federal reserve system by 800 million dollars, according to the weekly statement of the system released last night. Another increase in the required reserve of the same amount will become effective May 1, which is expected to cut the surplus to about a half billion dollars.

The reserve board estimated in its report that the present reserves of the member banks are 1 billion 310 million in excess of requirements. The all-time high figure reached last year was above 3 billions.

Commercial bank loans expanded last week in both New York and Chicago. Commercial loans of the New York banks rose 16 millions over the preceding week, and their loans to brokers and dealers gained 7 millions. Commercial loans of Chicago banks increased 9 millions.

Predicts Milwaukee Line Earnings Will Improve

Washington, D. C., March 4.—(AP)—T. A. Hamilton, examiner for the Reconstruction Finance corporation, reported today the future of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad appeared bright in view of its past showing in converting increased gross revenues into increased net returns. Equipment condition is good and transportation efficiency conducted, he said, although there is "much more to be done" in abandoning mileage of the road. Such studies, he added, are being made.

Everyday Economics

In response to requests from readers for simple explanations of financial terms and brief analyses of factors affecting business and finance The Tribune presents "Everyday Economics." Letters addressed to "Editor, Everyday Economics," telling him what you would like to see discussed here are welcomed. Clippings of this daily feature pasted in your scrapbook make a handy reference volume, useful in following current financial news developments.

"-Or" and "-Ee."

"I never can remember whether the lessee or the lessor rents property; whether the grantor or the grantee is the seller; and when it comes to 'mortgagor and mortgagee' I haven't the faintest idea which is on top," writes a reader. "Maybe your new department could tell me."

You needn't be bothered because you can't tell these much used words apart. A congressman at Washington recently in a burst of oratory aimed at the HOLC got himself so tangled up that he made this startling statement, according to press dispatches:

"I don't know whether it's being done in other states, but in Maine the HOLC has not only foreclosed mortgages, but started court proceedings almost immediately thereafter to oust the mortgagee in the middle of a Maine winter."

This down east statesman was tossing the holder of the mortgage, the man who loaned cash to the home owner, out into the snow.

Here's a simple rule to keep in the back of your mind when any of these six words come into the conversation. The "or" is always the owner of the property. In a residential sale the "grantor" is the seller of a house he owns; in a mortgage deal, the "mortgagor" owns the house and puts it up as security on a mortgage, or money which he borrows; in renting, the man who owns the house and leases it to some one is the "lessor."

Conversely, the words ending with "ee" refer to the person who has to pay out the cash: the "grantee" is the buyer; the "mortgagee" advances cash to the home owner, and the "lessee" has to pay rent.

Tomorrow: "Why Companies Refund."

SURFACE LINES' TRAFIC, REVENUE BEST SINCE 1931

Passengers Are Equal to 80% of 1929 Peak.

Passenger trafic and gross earnings of the Chicago Surface Lines in 1936 rose to the highest level since 1931, according to the annual report of the system released yesterday. The number of passengers carried on the lines last year was equal to 80 per cent of the all-time peak reached in 1929.

Guy A. Richardson, president, reported that the business of the lines has shown a greater recovery than that of either the Chicago Rapid Transit company [the elevated lines] or the Chicago Motor Coach company, which operates the bus system. The elevated's business, he said, is now 66 per cent of its peak in 1926 and the bus company's business is 72 per cent of its 1929 high record.

Auto Competition Grows.

While the street car system is not losing business to other local transportation agencies, it is meeting increasing competition from private automobiles, Richardson said.

"Automobile competition became more serious with an increase of 54,504 in the number of passenger cars licensed by the city of Chicago," he said, "making the total 461,527—the largest in history. There were also 61,727 licensed commercial vehicles which added to street congestion."

The street car lines carried 720,301,899 revenue passengers last year, an increase of 48,154,848, or 7.16 per cent, over the preceding year. Total earnings were $49,777,686, against $45,821,002 in 1935. The system's fiscal year ends Jan. 31 and figures for both years are for that period.

Record Set in 1929.

In the 1929 fiscal year [which ended Jan. 31, 1930], the system did the largest business in its history, carrying a total of 897,564,354 revenue passengers and collecting gross earnings of $62,717,868.

The net residue receipts of the system after providing for operating expenses, but before bond interest, amounted to $7,938,892, compared with $6,418,200 in 1935. The net receipts are divided among the constituent companies on a pro rata basis.

The surface lines have been operating on temporary extensions of the old 1907 ordinance since 1927. Forty-four temporary permits have been granted by the city during the period pending a permanent traction settlement.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Wentworth Manufacturing.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly give me what information you have on Wentworth Manufacturing company?—E. C. G.

Answer: The Wentworth Manufacturing company makes women's cotton dresses and novelties selling in a low price range, bulk of business being in dresses retailing at $1. Most of output is sold to national chain and department stores — including W. T. Grant, S. S. Kresge, J. J. Newberry, G. C. Murphy, McLellan Stores, R. H. Macy, Montgomery Ward, and Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Plants, with a capacity of 16,000 dozen garments a week, are located in Chicago and Fall River, Mass.

Operations remained in the black throughout the depression and business has expanded sharply in the last four years. The results by fiscal years ended Oct. 31:

	Sales.	Net income.	Income per share.
1936	$4,711,000	$349,000	$3.41
1935	3,241,000	235,000	2.29
1934	2,242,000	99,000	.97
1933	1,922,000	117,000	1.14
1932	*	5,000	.04

*Not reported.

Plants have been reported operating at capacity in recent months, and 40,000 shares of $1 dividend no par preferred stock was sold in December, 1936, to provide additional working capital to handle increased volume of business. There are 102,474 shares of $5 par common stock. There is no funded debt.

The common stock now pays dividends of 30 cents a quarter. Payments in recent years: 90 cents in 1936, 65 cents in 1935, 62½ cents in 1934, nothing in 1933, 35 cents in 1932, 50 cents in 1931, and $1.50 in 1930.

The common is medium grade.

Bonds Exchanged for Stock.

Investors' Guide: Please explain something about these bonds that we turn in to the receivers and in return are told that we have so many shares of stock coming. What do these shares mean to me? Will I ever realize anything out of my bonds?—Mrs. E. C.

Answer: When companies get into financial difficulties and go through the process of reorganization, a new company is formed. It issues new securities in exchange for securities in the old company. If a bondholder receives stock in the new company in exchange for his bonds, he no longer has rights prior to the stockholders. He becomes a stockholder, and the value of his stock will depend on how well the new company prospers.

INT. HARVESTER HAS ITS 2D BEST YEAR ON RECORD

Profits for Period Near 30 Million.

In an annual report noteworthy for its completeness and clarity, Sydney G. McAllister, president, yesterday told stockholders of the International Harvester company that net profit for the year ended Oct. 31, 1936, was $29,760,372, the second largest in the history of the company, and exceeded only by the $36,779,998 reported for 1929. Profit for the year ended March 31, 1935, was $19,618,238.

Sydney G. McAllister.

McAllister explained that last year the company changed its fiscal year to end on Oct. 31 because it represented a more seasonable date for most of the company's manufacturing plants and sales branches.

Per Share Profit Larger.

Sales last year totaled $254,934,000, an increase of 17 per cent over the $217,583,000 for 1935, but 24 per cent under the peak year 1929. The report disclosed how sales were divided in 1936 and 1935, as follows:

	Fiscal period, 1936.	Year 1935.
In the U. S.—
Tractors [including parts]	$ 63,235,000	$ ½1,293,000
Farm implements [includ. parts]	53,195,000	50,062,000
Motor trucks [including parts]	61,305,000	48,291,000
Steel, binder twine, etc.	18,417,000	19,082,000
Total	$196,152,000	$168,728,000
In foreign countries, all products	$ 58,782,000	$ 48,855,000
Grand total	$254,934,000	$217,583,000

"This increase in sales can be attributed to the further improvement of farm income, the continuing need for replacement of farm implements, the introduction of new and improved machines, and the increasing demand for our motor trucks and other products designed particularly for industrial uses," McAllister said.

World Business Better.

Business throughout the world, he said, was generally good during the year, except in the drouth areas of the United States and Canada and in some foreign countries which were affected by political and economic uncertainties.

McAllister pointed out the changing nature of the company's business by comparing sales of the various products in 1910 with sales in 1936. In 1910 farm implement sales accounted for 61.6 per cent of the company's business, against 27.1 per cent in 1936; tractors 8.4 per cent, against 32.2 per cent; motor trucks 2.9 per cent, against 31.3 per cent; twine 11.5 per cent, against 1.9 per cent, and steel and fiber, etc., 15.6 per cent, against 7.5 per cent. The comparisons covered only products manufactured in the United States.

Explains Reason for Change.

Explaining the changes, he said that in 1910 the company's business was the manufacture of harvesting machines of which about 400,000 were sold. In 1936 about 100,000 were sold in the United States. The decline, he said, is due to the improved quality of the machines, the larger amount of work performed in a given time by machines operated with tractors instead of horses, the substitution of harvester-threshers for binders, and increased competition. The shrinking business in old harvesting machine lines was about balanced by the expansion of business in other lines.

NATION'S TRADE BALANCE AGAIN IS UNFAVORABLE

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Trade balance of the United States again turned unfavorable in January as heavy purchases of commodities in foreign markets by American interests caused January imports to exceed exports by $18,846,000, the commerce department reported today. January imports totaled $240,396,000, compared with exports of $221,550,000. In January a year ago exports exceeded imports by $11,082,000.

During spring and summer months of 1936, imports ran consistently above exports. In October, November, and December, however, the trade balance turned favorable and export totals for the entire year exceeded imports by $34,258,000, the smallest balance since 1893.

DECREES NOTES SOLD FOR REORGANIZATION OUTRANK OLD LIENS

In a 2 to 1 opinion yesterday the United States Circuit Court of Appeals established precedent in modern reorganization proceedings by allowing the trustee of Prima company to issue trustee's certificates having a lien prior to other obligations.

Heretofore the rights of trustees to issue and sell certificates superior to previous first liens were restricted to railroads and public utilities in reorganization proceedings.

The opinion, handed down by Presiding Judge Evan A. Evans with the concurrence of District Court Judge Walter C. Lindley, but with Judge Will M. Sparks of the Circuit court dissenting, upheld the order of Federal Judge John P. Barnes authorizing the trustee of the company, Chicago brewing concern under 77B reorganization, to issue $20,000 of the certificates, which will constitute a first lien on the property.

Attorneys for the First National Bank of Chicago, trustee under the mortgage deed, objected to the order on the ground that even a court of bankruptcy has no power to order the issuance of securities ahead of the first mortgage over the objection of the trustee.

In the opinion the bank's rights as trustee were described as "naked legal rights devoid of equity." It said further that operating funds were necessary to prevent losses that would be incurred if the plant closed.

Hold Bankers Got Alleghany Shares 'Cheap'

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—The senate committee on interstate commerce, continuing its investigation of the financing of the vast system of railways and other properties included in the so-called Van Sweringen empire, charged today that prior to the negotiation by the Van Sweringens of a $39,500,000 loan in 1930, officers and directors of banks participating in the loan had been privileged by J. P. Morgan & Co. to purchase at $20 per share common stock of the Alleghany corporation which at the time was quoted on the open market at $34.

The total price the bankers paid for the shares was $3,924,000, according to the committee, although at the time of sale the stock had a total market value of $6,884,000. The stock climbed above $50 before it began to sag to depression levels. Alleghany corporation, organized in 1929, was the top holding unit of the Van Sweringen system.

Officials of Banks Named.

Officers and directors named on the committee list, which was made a part of the investigation record, included Thomas Cochran of the Bankers' Trust, who received for $340,000 stock of a market value of $595,000; Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the board of the National City, $200,000, market value $350,000; William C. Potter, chairman of the board of the Guaranty Trust, $800,000, market value $1,400,000; Seward Prosser, chairman of the board of the Bankers' Trust, $240,000, market value $420,000; Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors, $200,000, market value $350,000; Albert H. Wiggin, former chairman of the board of the Chase National, $200,000, market value $350,000; Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., $360,000, market value $630,000, and George Whitney of J. P. Morgan & Co., $280,000, market value $490,000.

Prominent Men Get Stock.

Others on the list whose allocations were in smaller amounts included John W. Davis, Sosthenes Behn, M. N. Buckner, P. A. S. Franklin, Frank L. Polk, Thomas N. McCarter, R. B. Mellon, Clarence H. Mackay, Harvey D. Gibson, F. H. Ecker, Cornelius N. Bliss, Eugene G. Grace, John J. Raskob, A. G. Milbank, and John D. Ryan.

Senator Wheeler [D., Mont.], chairman of the committee, attempted to prove that J. P. Morgan & Co. had "turned over" to the underwriting of a $30,000,000 note issue to another firm because it feared the securities "might turn sour." Wheeler asserted that investors eventually lost more than $15,000,000 on the notes, which were issued by the Guaranty company in 1930.

TREASURY WILL OFFER BONDS IN EXCHANGE FOR NOTES MONDAY

Washington, D. C., March 4.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today announced that bonds will be offered Monday in exchange for $502,000,000 of notes maturing April 15. Terms of the exchange, and maturity and interest of the new bonds will be announced at that time.

A report emanating from London that half of purchases of American stocks in the market there are for American accounts was met with a statement by Morgenthau that "we have no facts showing that Americans have been dealing in American stocks through foreign markets to escape jurisdiction of the Securities and Exchange commission."

He did not discuss directly the report that such trading is being done through syndicates, some with capital of $50,000,000 or more, to escape margin requirements and capital profits taxes.

"We are aware of the rumor, but as yet it has not been substantiated," he continued. "It is one of those things we are studying."

EXPECT FRANC TO BE PEGGED AT PRESENT RATE

French Seek Bolster to Confidence.

PARIS, March 4.—(AP)—Stabilization of the franc at its present parity with the dollar and the British pound is expected to be announced by the cabinet tomorrow, sources close to the ministry of finance said tonight. The government, having sounded out the United States and British governments, will fix the rate at about 21.50 francs to the dollar and 105.15 francs to the pound.

It was also reported the cabinet is expected to announce the constitution of a technical committee under the chairmanship of Prof. Charles Rist, economist and former vice governor of the Bank of France, to work with the ministry of finance in coping with the economic and financial situation.

Auriol Confers on Plan.

Vincent Auriol, minister of finance, conferred with the chairman of the finance committees of the senate and chamber of deputies on the decrees to be approved at tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

The government was not expected to call a special session of parliament to ratify the stabilization action, it was said, although such action possibly may be taken later.

Earlier, informed financiers said stabilization at about 22 francs to the dollar and removal of restrictions on gold movements were to be the most important points in the government program.

Government Bonds Climb.

Government securities advanced on reports of new measures about to be taken and it was stated officially that Finance Minister Auriol will make a "financial statement" before the council of ministers at Elysee palace tomorrow. Ministry of finance officials stated "the cabinet tomorrow will consider the financial situation and take measures which may be judged necessary."

The statement denied "any exceptional measures were envisaged." "No credit should be attached" to reports concerning possible resignation of the governor of the Bank of France, the statement said.

Franc and Pound Slump.

New York, March 4.—[Special.]—French francs and the British pound sterling dropped sharply here today. Francs lost .007-16 cent, to 4.64⅝ cents, and the pound touched its lowest level since last Nov. 17 at $4.88¼, Morgenthau Perturbed.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—The wiliness of French financiers and the exactness of diplomatic courtesy gave Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau some uncomfortable moments today. When the secretary got down to his desk he found a memorandum from Paris stating that government bonds, which the French call "rentes," had advanced two points on reports that he had assured Georges Bonnet, new French ambassador, that the United States will help France out of its present financial difficulties.

The secretary was dismayed because he had given no such assurances, but he could not say so boldly because the reports might have been inspired by the ambassador himself. Discreet inquiries revealed the report was the work of a French newspaper correspondent here. The secretary breathed a sigh of relief but was cautioned against a vigorous denial because it might send the French market hurtling downward and precipitate a cabinet crisis.

Baltimore & Ohio Invites Bids on Equipment Notes

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad will receive bids on March 23 for $7,500,000 of series "I" 2½ per cent equipment trust certificates.

Firms to Spend Many Millions for Expansion

The Cities Service company, oil and public utility company, this year will spend 42 million dollars on new construction and improvements, the company announced last night. Three other concerns also announced large construction programs.

The Cities Service appropriation compares with $29,600,000 in 1936, $18,200,000 in 1935, $14,500,000 in 1934, and $7,500,000 in 1933 for the same purposes. Of the 1937 expenditures, 24 millions will be spent for petroleum subsidiaries and 18 millions for public utility subsidiaries.

Will Buy New Outlets.

Oil division expenditures of $16,000,000 will include acquisition of new retail outlets. In the public utility division, $11,000,000 is expected to be spent on rural electric lines. The company also has allotted $7,000,000 to the natural gas subsidiaries for improvements and expansion. These companies together form one of the largest natural gas groups in the world.

Other construction programs for 1937 were announced by the Ohio Bell Telephone company, Pure Oil company, and Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company.

Other Expansion Programs.

Ohio Bell expects to spend $14,300,000 on construction and with $8,800,000 in plant to be removed the net estimated addition to property will be $5,500,000. In 1936 expenditures amounted to $11,835,797 and plant valued at $6,656,072 was removed.

Pure Oil announced a $2,000,000 expansion of its Toledo refinery. The still capacity will be doubled and large additions to the tank storage capacity and warehousing will be made.

A. S. Middleton, manager of the Libbey-Owens-Ford plant at Ottawa, Ill., announced that $1,600,000 will be spent on expansion of that plant.

SEVERAL FIRMS LIFT DIVIDENDS OR PAY EXTRAS

Several companies yesterday announced increases in dividend rates or special payments, while a few reduced their rates. Bliss & Laughlin, Inc., declared 50 cents on the common stock, and the regular quarterly dividend of 27½ cents on the 5 per cent preferred, $30 par. The company previously paid 37½ cents a share on the common.

Pacific Tin company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the common stock. General Time Instruments corporation declared a special dividend of 25 cents and the regular payment of 25 cents on the common shares. Mead Johnson and company declared 75 cents extra and a regular dividend of 75 cents on the common stock. The U. S. Trust company of New York declared an extra of $10 and the regular quarterly dividend of $15.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass company declared a dividend of $1, against the last previous payment of $2. The Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation declared a dividend of 50 cents. The last two preceding payments were $1 each.

BANK PETITIONS TO FORECLOSE ON WABASH RAILWAY

Detroit, Mich., March 4.—[Special.]—Charging $60,000,000 worth of the company's bonds, secured by a mortgage held by the bank are in default, the Chase National bank, New York, today petitioned the federal court to foreclose on the Wabash Railroad company.

The petition filed here is an ancillary action to a similar petition filed in the federal courts of Missouri on March 1. The receivers for the road are Frank C. Necodemus and Norman B. Pitcairn. As a matter of formality the bank asked the court that receivers for the road be appointed with notice that the two present receivers were named by the court in Missouri.

PRICES RAISED BY U. S. STEEL TO MEET WAGES

Shorter Hours Also Add to Pay Rolls.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Price increases of $3 to $8 a ton for semi-finished and finished steel products will be announced this morning by subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation, including the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, William A. Irvin, president of the parent company, announced yesterday. This follows a boost of $2 to $4 a ton announced on Nov. 23, 1936.

W. A. Irwin.

Irvin said the increase is the result of steadily increasing cost of production, including the recent raise in wages, adoption of the forty hour week to meet government requirements under the Walsh-Healey act, and the sharp price rises in supplies and raw materials. It has been estimated that the wage increases and shorter hours will add more than $100,000,000 annually to the pay roll of the steel industry as a whole.

New Schedule of Prices.

The new schedule of prices to be announced to the trade will become effective immediately on sales for shipment on or before June 30, 1937. The new schedule on leading items:

Rerolling billets, blooms, and slabs, Chicago or Gary, $37.60 per gross ton; rerolling billets only, Duluth, $39.50; sheet bars, Chicago, $37.60; forging blooms, billets, and slabs, Chicago or Gary, $43.60; hot rolled carbon steel bars and small shapes, Chicago or Gary, $2.53 per 100 pounds; hot rolled alloy steel bars, Chicago, $3.03; hot rolled alloy steel billets, blooms, and slabs, Chicago, $60.60 per gross ton; hot rolled steel strip, Chicago or Gary, $2.53 per 100 pounds; hot rolled carbon steel structural shapes, Chicago, $2.33.

Cold rolled sheets, Chicago or Gary, $3.23 to $3.68 per 100 pounds; vitrenamel, Chicago or Gary, $3.03 to $3.63; galvanized sheets, Chicago or Gary, 20 gauge base, $3.93. Tin mill black plate, hot rolled, Chicago or Gary, 28 gauge base, $3.43.

Price on Standard Rails.

Standard rails over 60 pounds per yard, $42.50 per gross ton. Tie plates, Chicago, $46.60 per net ton. Forged steel axles for cars and locomotives, Chicago, base $3.38 per 100 pounds.

At the offices of the Inland Steel company it was stated that announcements regarding price increases would be made late today or tomorrow after study of the United States Steel figures.

Carnegie-Illinois said that while the announced increases in prices are effective at once, all steel companies have commitments on their books at first quarter prices which cannot be completed until the latter part of March. This means that the steel companies will not receive much benefit from the price changes until after April 1.

Explaining the reasons for the advances, Irvin said quotations on scrap iron, which constitutes 40 per cent of the makeup of steel, have risen from $14.96 per ton to $19.88 since Feb. 1, 1936. This 32 per cent rise has been followed by increases of over 60 per cent in the cost of copper, 50 per cent for lead and zinc, 20 per cent for refractories, and cor-limestone, and lubricants.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 4.—A wave of profit taking during the fourth hour of trading halted the upturn on the stock exchange today and sent prices to an irregular close. Utility issues alone continued to advance in face of the general sell-off. Trading was moderately heavy at 2,721,730 shares.

Despite optimistic reports from the steel industry, steel shares suffered most. Pivotal issues in other groups also lagged. Losses in leading steel shares ran to 2 points or more, U. S. Steel common closing 3⅛ points lower, Crucible down 3¾, and Schloss-Sheffield 4⅛ points lower. Youngstown Sheet and Tube rose 2⅝ to 97½.

View on Labor Situation.

Although observers wished to interpret today's decline to a technical adjustment after rapid rise of the last two days, prospects of an internal labor fight, indicated by reports that William Green, American Federation of Labor president, has widened the ban on John L. Lewis' C. I. O., did much to counteract the expected peace between industry and labor.

Merchandising and farm equipment shares also attracted more attention than recently, although in the former group Allied Mills and Gimbels, after touching new highs, sold off fractions on the day. Farm equipment shares were higher. Case advanced a point and Deere and International Harvester gained over 2 points each.

Chrysler and General Motors suffered pressure and both issues lost more than a point. Aviation shares also were weak, Douglas, Boeing, and Wright losing from 1⅛ to 2 points.

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Trading and investment circles dickered cautiously today and prices in the bond market fluctuated unevenly in a narrow range. Sentiment in money circles is split so finely, traders said, that most operators are "tightrope-walking" pending the treasury department's announcement of details of mid-March refunding.

The small fluctuations noted today were the more unusual because of the relatively heavy volume of business done. Turnover in all bonds totaled $17,120,000 par value.

United States government loans accounted for a very small amount of the total as interest continued to center in the domestic corporate list. At the close gains and losses ranged to 3-32 of a point.

Swings were more pronounced in the railroad list with the more actively traded liens tending to ease. Allegheny stamped 5s lost 1¾ to 66¾, St. Paul 5s dropped 1⅛ to 33⅛ and Norfolk and Southern 5s dipped ½ to 30⅜.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks traded on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday were irregular in a volume of 89,000 shares. Of the 165 issues traded, 51 closed higher, 60 lower, and 34 unchanged. There were 17 new highs.

Commodities

Grain.

Yesterday's closing prices on Chicago grain for delivery in May, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Week ago.	Month ago.
Wheat	$1.33⅜	$1.33	$1.30¼	$1.30⅝
Corn	1.06⅝	1.06⅝	1.05⅝	1.06¼
Oats	.45⅝	.45⅝	.46	.49⅝
Soy beans.	1.53½	1.53	1.52	1.57

Grain markets fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday. Wheat held within a range of a cent a bushel and closed unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, the latter on the May delivery. Price changes in other grains were confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel.

Wheat futures showed stubborn resistance to pressure and ran into good commission house buying on the dips. Reports of rains in northern Kansas and southern Nebraska, and estimates by Chicago statisticians indicating that the winter wheat crop this season might aggregate around 630,000,000 bushels, the largest since 1931, failed to bring in any selling of consequence. Last year's winter wheat crop was 519,000,000 bushels.

Wheat Export Demand Slow.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the buying of wheat futures yesterday. Export demand was reported to be slow, with only small quantities of Canadian and southern hemisphere grain said to have been taken by Europe. Liverpool futures closed a cent a bushel lower. Winnipeg, however, showed relative strength and finished fractionally higher except on the May delivery.

Corn futures drifted slowly within narrow limits. An early decline on bearish reports regarding the prospective movement of Argentine grain into the southwest was followed by a fair rally. The Buenos Aires, Argentina, representative of the department of agriculture estimated the new corn crop of that country at 362,000,000, or 30,000,000 bushels less than the official estimate on the 1936 harvest.

Live Stock.

The lamb market took the spotlight in yesterday's live stock trade, rising 15 cents to new seven year highs for March. The top for wool lambs reached $11.60, with the bulk selling at $11.10 to $11.50. Cattle were generally stronger, but hogs sagged 5 to 10 cents.

Advances in the lamb trade during the last three weeks have elevated the value of full 25,000 pound carloads of stock to $2,900, an increase of $300 per car, which is $1,700 more than full carloads brought at the low time of the depression in 1932. Cattle advances in this time raised the value of full carloads of top steers to $3,750, which is $125 more than three weeks ago and $2,163 over the depression low.

Quality of cattle was below normal. The scant supply of good to choice steers, which are becoming acutely scarce, cleared quickly at stronger rates, but nothing in the receipts was good enough to sell above $14.40.

Both the top and average prices of hogs fell 5 cents at $10.40 and $10.20, respectively, in yesterday's slow trade. Off quality lights and underweights were steady to 25 cents lower.

Cotton.

Cotton futures advanced a fraction of a cent a pound at the opening yesterday to a new high level for the season, but free selling of old crop deliveries disclosed a lack of demand and prices at the low time showed a decline of over $1 a bale from the close of the previous day. Trade and foreign buying developed on the recession and a strong rally followed. Closing trades on futures in Chicago were .06 cent lower to .13 cent higher. Other American markets closed .05 cent lower to .09 cent a pound higher.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .05 cents lower with New Orleans, 13.55 cents; New York, 13.85 cents and Houston and Galveston at 13.40 cents a pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

Lard.

Concentrated buying of July lard by houses with eastern connections caused an advance of 10 cents in prices at the opening yesterday. Profit taking by commission houses, hedging pressure, and the development of a weaker undertone in cottonseed oil caused a reaction and closing trades on lard futures were 2½ cents lower to 2½ cents higher. Aggregate trade was not large.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally unchanged. Cash lard was quoted at $12.45, loose $11.87½, leaf $12.25 and clear bellies at $16.25 per 100 pounds. Prices per 100 lbs. follow:

AUTO SALES SET COUNTY RECORD FOR FEBRUARY

Total Is 8,733 in Spite of Recent Strikes.

Retail sales of automobiles in Cook county in February set an all-time record for the month with a total of 8,733, according to figures made public yesterday. In February, 1936, sales totaled 5,353. The previous high for the month was in 1929, when sales totaled 6,356, while the low mark for the month was set in 1933, when sales totaled 2,217.

Sales in January, 1937, also set a record for that month, with a total of 13,017. Consequently sales for the first two months of 1937 at 21,750 set a record for the first two months' period.

The February record was notable because General Motors' sales were adversely affected by the strikes in that company's plants.

Show Impetus Lacking.

Sales in February in former years were stimulated by the annual automobile shows, which were held in February. The shows now take place in the autumn.

Ford held first place in total sales in February, as the company did in January, with a total of 2,067. Plymouth continued in second place with a total of 1,696. Dodge advanced from fourth place in January to third place in February with a total of 1,264.

Chevrolet dropped from third place in January to fourth place in February, with a sales total of 678. Chevrolet production was crippled by strikes. Pontiac continued in fifth place with a total of 520.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

The Lamb Symphony.

NOW that the wobbly legged spring lambs are staging their annual symphony we do not have to look at the calendar to realize that it is early March. The bleating lambs, their numbers increased each day by new arrivals, are lifting their voices on the Yorkville farm as well as at Wheaton.

The arrival of the spring lambs is an old story on the farm. But it always is a new and interesting one to us because the little fellows are so much fun to watch. When one strays a few feet from its mother there is excitement at once because both the lamb and the mother ewe become somewhat panicky. Then there is always the lamb that has to have help because its mother won't take care of it.

Robins Join Chorus.

To have a lamb chorus in the sheepfold without robins in the fields would not seem like the first week in March to us. Running true to form, the robins did come to Chicagoland this week with the mild, rainy weather. We saw not one but a pair of male birds grubbing around on the soft ground while a starling followed the red breasted arrivals, also looking for something to eat. And to make this hint of spring complete the cardinals started to whistle this week. They, too, know that a mild day in March is a hint of warmer days ahead.

One Lamb Orphaned.

Lambing time at the Yorkville farm has provided the son of Louis Thurow with a new job. A ewe on the farm had twins. But she wouldn't take care of both of her little ones. One of the lambs was treated like a stranger. In fact, the boys had to rescue this mistreated lamb before it was trampled on and killed.

So the little fellow was taken from the barn and turned over to young Thurow. He was appointed head nurse for the little fellow and given instructions on how to bottle feed it. Every day now the orphan lamb gets its milk ration via the bottle.

Puppies Adopt Pal.

This particular lamb should not be lonesome for company, because a pair of smooth fox terrier puppies, Mickey and Sparky, have sort of adopted the animal as a pal. [One of the dogs is about 5 months old and the other 4 months old.] They were very much intrigued by the lamb when they first saw it. When introduced there was much inquisitive sniffing of this addition to the family circle. After one of the pups had shyly stuck out its head and then licked the nose of the lamb all was well.

Pups Give Alarm.

The two puppies more than earned their keep this week when they performed like real watch dogs in an emergency. Four or five Hereford steers escaped from their quarters to go exploring. Then the pups got busy. They were on the back porch of the farmhouse nearby. When they saw the steers coming out they knew that all was not well. Those animals had no business outside. So the pups started to bark. They barked a regular riot call until some of the boys hustled up to see what the excitement was all about. They came just in time, because the white faces were on their way. When these had been rounded up, the terrier pups relaxed, apparently well satisfied with their guard work.

WHY RENTS ARE GOING UP!

Increasing rents are now reflecting the acute disparity between the number of marriages and the number of new dwellings made available for residential purposes in Chicago in recent years.

From 1929 to 1936, inclusive, 296,764 couples were wed in Chicago. In the same period only 24,385 new homes and apartments were erected.

HOW YOU CAN BORROW.

1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.

HOW YOU CAN REPAY.

1. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum—on loans over $100.
